Shoppers given 'a little bit of country'

LANCASTER — "A little bit of country" was on display at Park City Mall this week, including live animals from local farms.

Monday was the grand opening of the agricultural show with exhibits of all types featuring activities in rural Lancaster County.

Present for the opening were, Secretary Kent Shelhamer, Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture; U.S. Congressman Robert Walker; Raymond Herr, Lancaster County Commissioner; Max Smith, Earl Newcomer, president of the Lancaster County Farmers Association; Richard Scott, Lancaster mayor, and Mr. and Mrs. Elvin Brenneman, co-chairmen of the week-long event.

President Newcomer said the purpose behind the Park City exhibition "is to give our city 'cousins' a little taste of country life and the business of farming."

Special events were scheduled for the entire week including a special visit by Betty Groff, author of "Good Earth and Country Cooking," on Friday.

Mayor Scott, speaking on behalf of the citizens of Lancaster, commented that the city folks were the farmers' biggest supporters.

Commissioner Herr remarked about how important farming is to the Garden Spot and that land-use planning is vital for agriculture's future. He asked the assembled farmers for advice and opinions on the matter.

Walker said government policies are often well-intentioned but derived from faulty information. He praised the Lancaster County Farmers Association for doing their part in promoting understanding. He said: "People often have the best of intentions but the very worst ideas of what farming is and how it should be regulated."

Speaking about farm productivity and problems, Shelhamer gave praise for efforts taking place both in the field and at promotional events such as was witnessed at Park City this week.

The corn harvest is progressing favorably in most areas, but there are a few problems. Many are waiting for the crop to dry in the field to avoid costly drying.

Moisture delaying promise of good corn harvest

By DIETER KRIEG

LANCASTER — The corn harvest is progressing slowly but surely. Reports from various portions of southeastern Pennsylvania indicate that the crop looks excellent and yields are living up to expectations in most cases. Prices, however, aren't where farmers with corn to sell would like to see them. Several dealers in the Lancaster County area quoted prices ranging from $2.20 to $2.35 per bushel, delivered to the mill. The Pennsylvania grain summary for southeastern Pennsylvania shows a range of $2.07 to $2.30 per bushel, with an average of $2.20.

The major concern of the harvest in most areas is moisture. Much of the corn is still wet, and farmers who store their crop in shelled form are delaying the harvest in hopes of saving drying costs.

In York County, however, the moisture concern may not be as significant as stalk rot and corn borers, according to County Agent John Smith. He notes that stalk rot is as bad as he has ever seen it, and the corn borer is the worst it has been in several years. He urges

Poultrymen alerted to potential LT outbreak

HARRISBURG — With the arrival of cooler weather and a very recent history of disease outbreaks in southeastern Pennsylvania, the Bureau of Animal Industry in Harrisburg is issuing advice and caution notices concerning laringotracheitis. They're aimed at everyone involved in the poultry business, and backyard flock owners in particular.

Dr. E.T. Mallinson, chief of the avian health division in the Bureau of Animal Industries, says that his department has compiled information regarding the disease and urges everyone to do his part in preventing outbreaks this year. Cases of laringotracheitis caused alarm in Lancaster County last year, where the disease affected an estimated

Pumpkin, squash harvest excellent

By KENDACE BORRY

LITITZ — "It's just a good year for pumpkins and squash" is the way one grower put it. And other farmers echoed his thoughts.

Franklin Kreider, Lancaster, will start harvesting his Hubbard squash nest week, and he said the fields "look good."

"We had a lot of rain at the right times this season," he noted. "There were no real problems, even the weeds were kept under control."

He stated that he expects to harvest for about three weeks, and his main concern will be possible frost damage.

"If the temperature gets down to 25 or 26 degrees, the

At Pennfield, we formulate feeds and feeding programs with your profit in mind.

"All feed companies are alike."

If you believe that statement, you could be missing an opportunity to increase your output of eggs, pork or milk—without increasing your costs.

At Pennfield, our basic goal is to help our customers make more money. We believe we can accomplish this for you, too. For these reasons:

• Customized feeding programs. We specifically tailor a program to your operation, not to an "operation like yours."

• Nutritionally-superior feeds. We go a step beyond many conventional feeds. Our feeds have Optimum Nutrient Density (most profitable nutrient level per pound of feed) and contain high-quality protein for balanced amino acid nutrition.

• Quality in, quality out. We chemically analyze all incoming feed grains for pesticide residues and toxins... and all finished feeds for overall quality and nutrient content.

• Technical service. We're responsive to your needs—by phone or on your farm.

• A local company. We buy our feed grains locally; shipping savings are passed on to customers. Our feeding programs are developed based on local conditions. We do test work and field trials based on local conditions.

These and other Pennfield advantages are helping hundreds of new customers increase their profits. We can do the same for you. But you must take the first step by phoning or writing us. Do it today.

THE OLD FARMER'S ALMANAC

OCT. 23-29, 1978

Daylight Saving Time Ends.

We return to Standard time Oct 29 Set your clock back one hour before retiring Last quarter of the moon Oct 23 Average length of days for the week, 10 hours, 34 minutes Statue of Liberty unveiled Oct 29, 1886 The stock market crashed Oct 29, 1929 There is no cure for birth or death save to enjoy the interval

Ask the Old Farmer: I don't know why I thought about it now, but can you tell me how the old noisy Fourth of July, with fireworks and all the commotion, was invented? SJ, Milwaukee

Our colonial forefathers started it They dragged cannon around and discharged them, imported Chinese fireworks, and invented others

Home Hints: Club soda that has gone flat is good for watering plants, the remaining chemicals add vigor and color

OLD FARMER'S WEATHER FORECASTS

New England: Sunny and warm with light showers to start, then rainy and mild

Greater New York-New Jersey: Mostly sunny and warmer through midweek, then showers and warm

Middle Atlantic Coastal: Sunny and very warm first part of week, then showers and turning cool

EDITORIAL COMMENTS

By DIETER KRIEG, EDITOR

Help keep the poultry industry healthy

In March of this year, Lancaster County Extension agent and poultry specialist Jay Irwin said: "We hope people take it seriously and not think the disease can't happen to them."

Those same words still hold true today.

Despite warnings and preventive efforts by countless individuals and several large organizations, a notorious disease known as laryngotracheitis - "LT"- spread through poultry flocks in Lancaster County last Fall, Winter and Spring.

Nobody knows for sure what the exact poultry death toll or dollar loss was during the Oct. 1977 to May 1978 period that the disease repeatedly surfaced in Lancaster County. It is known that more than a half million birds were affected. It is also known that the incidents became so alarming that the Lancaster County Poultry Association formed a special LT Task Force to contain the disease. Joining the effort were the Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture, Penn State University, and PennAg Industries Association, to name a few.

The above statistics should speak for themselves regarding the weight of the problem. What's more, the potential for more LT outbreaks is very real.

LT does not occur during warm weather, say poultry health specialists. But it can hit hard during cool weather, which is what we're heading into now. The blunt reality of the matter is that due to the outbreaks that took place earlier this year, the dreaded disease can return at even greater strength this Fall and Winter and into Spring.

But there is hope that it won't happen. And there is a relatively simple solution to prevent further outbreaks.

The solution is a combination of first of all being aware of the problem and, secondly, good security measures coupled with immunization of flocks.

According to avian health authorities at the Bureau of Animal Industry in Harrisburg, one of the primary thrusts for containing the disease must be aimed at backyard poultry flock owners. They are known to be a chief source of the disease. To get the words of advice and preventive medicine to them, all persons who are somehow related to Lancaster County's $87 million per year poultry industry are asked to help.

Chicken farmers and poultry servicemen are being urged to follow the strictest precautions in their own work, while persuading others to do likewise. One of the biggest aims of the campaign is to encourage the immunization of backyard poultry flocks.

While immunization is regarded to be extremely important, security procedures for flocks and those who work with them are also essential for control of the disease. Last Spring, for example, Lancaster County poultrymen were encouraged to keep their hen houses locked and to not allow anyone into them without special permission. The disease - caused by a virus and carrying an up to 17 per cent mortality rate - can be transmitted from one place to another through clothing, wild birds, pets, rodents, and even tools. That's why everyone connected with or even just visiting poultry farms is warned to take note of the warnings.

It's a control effort which can't be handled by just one person or even 100 individuals. It requires the cooperation of as many people as possible if it is to be effective in protecting the Garden Spot's egg, broiler, and hatchery farms.

If something isn't done now to prevent the outbreak of LT, the slim profits experienced by many could turn into heavy losses. It's time that poultry flock owners - large and small - as well as servicemen, take their responsibilities and call for help seriously. A lot of grief can be avoided if the LT matter receives prompt and effective attention.

One little mistake, no matter how innocent, is all it takes to cause a disaster for yourself or your neighbor. We hope you will do your part to keep a lid on LT this year and we hope we won't have to write a single story about its occurrence.

For more information about laryngotracheitis (LT), including symptoms, and precautionary and security measures, please see the article beginning on page 1.

TO CONTINUE GRAZING CAUTIOUSLY

Several phone calls to our Extension office recently referred to the dangers of pasturing forage crops after being frosted. All of the permanent grasses such as bluegrass, orchard grass, or brome grass, can be safely grazed at any time of the year; this is also true of any of the small grain cover crops such as rye, wheat, or barley. All of these are not toxic when frozen and usually do not present any bloating problem.

However, the legumes such as clover and alfalfa should be grazed very carefully; they are not toxic, after being frosted, but will cause severe bloating if consumed while the frost is on the leaves. Allow the frost to thaw, and the plants to become dry, before turning in the herd or flock.

Also, any of the sudan grasses or sorghum hybrids should not be grazed for at least a week after being frozen. Neither should the new growth, after being frozen, be consumed.

TO DEHORN DAIRY CALVES

This is a good practice at any time of the year. Horns on dairy cows are about as useless as teats on a bull; at one time in our civilization they were needed for protection from other animals. This is no longer needed; in fact, horns in a herd of modern dairy cows can do far more harm than good. They can be termed as possible hazards to other cattle and to human beings.

The best way to prevent horn growth is to dehorn the small calves when two to six weeks of age. The electric dehorner is very popular at this time and results in less discomfort to the calf than other methods. This piece of equipment should be in every dairyman's equipment chest.

TO TREAT FOR STOMACH WORMS

Before animals are moved into their Winter quarters, it might be well to check for stomach worm infestation. In this part of the country, with the high livestock population, internal parasites are very common. These blood-sucking worms reduce the health of the animals and result in poor growth and development. Samples of the manure can be taken to the local veterinarian for exact worm infection.

Research work shows that for each dollar spent for worm treatment, followed by good sanitary practices, livestock producers can expect ten dollars in return. Worm treatment can be given by paste, drench, wormer feed, or by injection. The important thing is to check for infestation and then treat for eradication of the parasites.

TO BUYCAREFULLY, THEN SEGREGATE

The buying and selling of all species of livestock is very common in this part of the country. The traffic in livestock is terrific. All producers should use extreme care in buying only healthy animals; be sure the health papers are official and that you are not buying trouble.

Also, the keeping of these new animals separate from the herd or flock for at least 30 days is an excellent practice.

BASEMENT WINDOW

Lesson for October 22, 1978

Background Scripture:
Exodus 20:14
Matthew 5:27-30;
Galatians 5:16-24;
John 8:1-11.

Devotional Reading:
Romans 2:17-24.

There's an old Arab story about a desert chieftan who was awakened in his tent in the middle of the night by a strange noise. "Who's there?" he called. "It's only me," replied his camel, "It's so cold outside that I just stuck my nose inside the tent to keep it warm." Anxious to get back to sleep, the Arab grumbled. "Oh, all right, but you come in no further."

After a while, the Arab awoke again and this time his camel explained that it had gotten so cold that he had stuck his head in to keep it warm. "All right," growled the chieftan, "but that's as far as you come." The tent was getting crowded and the Arab was beginning to be cramped for space.

As the first rays of sunlight came flooding over the desert, the Arab awoke shivering outside his tent while the camel slept peacefully and snugly inside!

The Power Of Looking

The moral of this shaggy camel story is obviously that if you give some people or things a small part of your life, they may end up taking over everything. If you want to keep the camel out, you don't allow even his nose inside your tent.

This is what Jesus is saying when he interprets the commandment, "You shall not commit adultery." Many of his contemporaries were smug in their belief that this commandment would never stand as a judgement upon them: they had no intention to commit adultery.

Jesus punctured their smugness when he said, "But I say to you that everyone who looks at a woman lustfully has already committed adultery with her in his heart" (Matthew 5:28). But who can escape such a judgement? The answer: very few. And the meaning is that one does not escape sin by stopping short of the act of adultery. It is the lustful thought that eventually produces the lustful act.

Lock All Windows

Jesus is also saying that, if we want to keep from committing adultery, the best place to set up our defences is with our thoughts and feelings. This is where adultery first takes place — just as murder first becomes possible in hateful thoughts — and it is here that we must begin our resistance to temptation. If we entertain what seem to be "harmless" thoughts, we are likely to find that we will be more and more engrossed in them, until at last the final step into action is easy and uninhibited.

Someone has rightly observed that, if you want to keep thieves out of your house it is not enough simply to lock the front and back doors and perhaps the first floor windows. The whole house must be secured. Many a presumably secure house has been violated through an unlocked basement window. And so it is with all the temptations of life. If we would keep them out of our lives, we must deny them every entrance.

You keep milk production up and feed costs down with our dairy pre-mixes.

Wouldn't you like to put some of that money you spend on commercial protein supplements in your own pocket?

That's the goal behind an alfalfa, grain and Vigortone Dairy Pre-Mix feeding program. It helps you take maximum advantage of the protein and energy already in your home-grown feedstuffs.

And legume roughage is a good source of protein; but it's low in phosphorus and other nutrients so important to the needs of all dairy cows.

That's where Vigortone Dairy Pre-Mixes help. These potent pre-mixes are specially formulated for the feeds grown on your farm and contain the proper amount of phosphorus to balance the calcium content of your legume roughages.

Vigortone Dairy Pre-Mixes also furnish the minerals, vitamins and other nutrients so important to good nutrition and better milk production. Special ingredients promote proper digestion and assimilation of rations, so your cows benefit more from less feed.

Your Vigortone Dealer can help you figure the energy and protein supplied by your own grain and roughage. You'll know from the start how much, if any, additional protein you'll need.

Now is the time to compare.
See your Vigortone Dealer soon. He's ready to compare the performance of Vigortone's cost-saving dairy feeding programs with any other you name.

Omaha Cattle

Thursday, October 19, 1978

Compared with the previous week's close: closing prices on slaughter steers and heifers were steady to weak although trading was often a selective affair. Cows closed weak to .50 lower and bulls were .50-1.00 higher.

Four day receipts to 10,700 as compared to 13,500 previous week and 15,500 a year ago. The fed cattle trade again followed an irregular course. Despite a modest Monday supply, prices were forced downward in reflection of a sharply declining carcass trade late the previous week. However, most of the early downturn was regained on later sessions in rather forced trading as marketings continued below normal and most buying interests were in need of cattle for immediate requirements. Trading was usually characterized by an air of caution and selectivity with best demand for choice and prime 1050-1300 lb. steers and same grade 925-1050 lb. heifers with a minimal number of yield grade 4 animals. Harvest operations were in full swing throughout the area and often claimed first priority over cattle marketing. Slaughter steers made up approximately 32 per cent, heifers 23 per cent, cows 7 per cent, and feeders 36 per cent.

STEERS: At midweek, three loads choice and prime 3-4 1201-1325 lbs. 56.50-56.75, load 1288 lbs. with sizable percentage 4 56.00. Four loads choice 2-3 1225-1335 lbs. 56.60-56.75, bulk choice 2-4 975-1325 lbs. 55.00-56.25. Mixed good and choice 2-3 950-1250 lbs. 54.50-55.25. Good 2-3 49.00-54.50, Holsteins 49.00-50.00. Few standard and good 2-3 48.00-49.00.

Average of LS-214, detailed quotations, for choice 900-1100 lb. steers this week 55.38; choice 1100-1300 lbs. 55.68. Average weight steers first three days 1153 lbs. as compared 1140 lbs. previous week. Average weight heifers first three days 995 lbs. as compared 988 lbs. previous week.

HEIFERS: Load choice and prime 3-4 1041 lbs. 54.50. Moderate volume same grade 3-4 925-1100 lbs. 53.75-54.25. Choice 2-4 875-1100 lbs. 52.75-53.75. Mixed good and choice 2-3 850-1050 lbs. 51.00-52.75. Good 2-3 48.00-51.00.

COWS: Utility and commercial 2-4 39.00-41.00, few 41.50-42.00. Cutter 37.50-39.50. Canner and low-cutter 35.00-37.50.

BULLS: 1-2 1400-2100 lbs. 45.00-49.00, individual 1 50.00-52.00.

- Wraps each bale automatically
- Fast! You get up to 18 extra bales a day
- Steel chains, not belts, get you off to a fast, sure start on bale after bale
- Makes the "little" round bales weighing up to 850 pounds

See the 845 AUTO-WRAP

Bale your corn fodder! Sperry New Holland balers have a reputation of being able to bale tough crops.

Sperry New Holland Model 850 Round Baler.

You get off to a good fast start on bale after bale in a wide variety of crops even straw when these exclusive features work for you

- Steel apron chains, not belts, produce a good, strong rolling action
- Super-Sweep pickup gets hay ordinary pickups miss
- Wedge-shaped core formation chamber starts hay rolling immediately for each new bale
- Tapered sides at entrance to bale chamber help fill in the ends of each bale for better bale shape

See how easy it is . . . ask for a demonstration

Here's advice from your nearby Sperry New Holland Dealer on how to improve the operation of your round baler when you bale corn fodder:

Preparation: The material should be as long as possible, and not over-conditioned. For good bale-core formation, the material should have a tendency to cling together, or have sufficient length to help hold itself together. If a flail cutter or chopper is used, it is very important to rake two or three windrows together.

Driving Technique: During core formation, reduce the PTO speed to approximately 300 RPM, maintaining the same ground speed or slightly higher, if tractor and ground conditions permit. Once the core formation is completed, the PTO speed can be increased back up to 540 RPM. If the material is extremely short, dry, and brittle, operate early in the morning or late evening when there is some dew or dampness. This will help the material to stick together.

The easy way to move big round bales!

Sperry New Holland Model 80 Bale Mover With Push-Off Bar.

Moves one bale (up to 1500 lbs.) at a time! Unloads at heights up to five feet, depending on tractor model

Experimental corn plots harvested, evaluated

By NEWTON BAIR
Lebanon County Agent

LEBANON - Good weather favored the job of harvesting the commercial corn hybrid variety plots in southeastern Pennsylvania this week. This year's official test plots in Lancaster, Lebanon, York and Dauphin Counties were among the first of the many plantings throughout the state to be garnered for the annual yield checks.

Dr. Joseph McGahen, Penn State Extension agronomist and corn specialist, says that the long season, Zone III and IV, hybrids which are grown in this part of the state may produce some record yields this year. Growing conditions were nearly ideal this past Summer and there were no major storms to cause excessive lodging of the stalks.

Some insect damage is evident in most of the corn harvested. European corn borer and corn stalk borers are present in all varieties, but breakage and lodging is noticeably variable, depending upon the resistance or tolerance of individual varieties to the borers. Each variety was evaluated for resistance to breakage before harvest. Some damage was noted also from Japanese Beetles and the adult corn rootworms. These insects chew the silks on the corn ear at pollination and can prevent some ears from developing grain at the ends of the cob.

The corn variety trials in Lebanon and surrounding counties are conducted on the standards of actual research plots. Each variety is replicated three times, at random through the plots. Thus, a 42 variety test will contain 126 separate plots of corn, 30 feet in length, each to be evaluated throughout the season, and checked for yields at harvest time. Replication of each variety in the plantings reduces the possibility of error due to chance in a single plot.

After all the plots through the state are harvested, the yields, moisture at harvest time, barren and broken stalks and other pertinent information is tabulated and published for use by commercial corn breeders and corn growers. The Pennsylvania State University Extension Service performs an unbiased screening and evaluation of all promising experimental and commercial hybrids used in Pennsylvania. The results of the 1978 tests will be available to farmers in time for the mid-winter corn and agronomy meetings. Local farmers in the various counties cooperate with the Extension Service in providing the land, preparing the soil and applying the fertilizer for the research plots. This year's Lebanon County tests were on the farm of Mr. Elam Zimmerman, Lebanon R7 on Duffield-Hagerstown soil.

Spattered paint removed easily

NEWARK, Del. – If paint has spattered on wooden furniture, try to get it off before it dries. If a wood finish has been protected by a good paste wax, the paint color may not have been absorbed by the clear finish. To remove paint spatters before they harden, dip fine steel wool into a liquid wax, says Maryetta Duffner, Delaware County Extension Home Economist. For dried paint stains, apply linseed oil, let it stand until the paint softens then wipe with a cloth saturated with the oil. If any paint remains, use a treatment that combines rottenstone and oil. Get an ounce of rottenstone from a paint or hardware store and keep it in an old salt shaker. Place a few drops of lubricating or salad oil on the paint and shake on enough rottenstone to make a paste. Rub with the grain of the wood using a soft, clean cloth. As a final step, polish with a quality wax.

New name given to 4-H club

FLEMINGTON, N.J. - Udder-Joy Kids is the name of the dairy goat club led by Mrs. Joan Dinkelo, Stockton, and Mrs. Thelma Kostak, Flemington. The new officers are, Alan Dinkelo, president; Mike Kostak, vice president; Donald Moody, treasurer; Renee Kostak, secretary; and Steven Dinkelo, corresponding secretary.

Club members voted to enter three games for 4-H Carnival Night, at the Hunterdon County Extension Center. They entered an exhibit and had a bake sale at the Clinton Museum.

At the next meeting, club members will discuss fund-raising, selling candles, and calendars.

4-H'ers give presentation

FLEMINGTON, N.J. - Members of the Hunterdon County 4-H Seeing Eye Club gave a presentation on September 20 to the Delaware Valley Weimaraner Club.

Gloria Jakubco, 13, Flemington, Barbara Hartsell, 13, Race Street, Pittstown, spoke about the Seeing Eye Dog program, starting from the history of the program to what happens when 4-H Club members give the Seeing Eye dogs to professional dog trainers in Morristown. The discussion included what the club members have to teach the pups. Mrs. Elaine Jakubco, the leader of the club, took these girls to the Weimaraner Club meeting.

Lancaster County's beef 4-H queens, Michelle Dean, Strasburg R1, on the left, and Judy Zimmerman, Ephrata R1, center, pose with Kim Weaver and her steer Ace. All were present at Park City Mall this week as part of the festivities of the Lancaster County Farmers' Association week.

Kim and her Ace will compete and try to have a winning hand in 4-H competition later this year. Aiming for a chance to go to Harrisburg and the Pa. State Farm Show, Kim has already seen her steer named the grand champion steer at the Solanco Fair earlier this Fall.

BIG FARM POWER AND EQUIPMENT

HORSEPOWER IS TOO EXPENSIVE TO WASTE

STEIGER PUTS MORE HORSEPOWER TO WORK THAN ANY OTHER 4WD TRACTOR.*

In big tractors, horsepower is only half the story. The other half is weight.

If a tractor doesn't have enough weight to hold the power to the ground, then a lot of those horses will go to waste. It's called traction — and if your big tractor doesn't have it, wheel spin will keep you from using all the horses you paid for.

In recent independent tests, Steiger 4WD tractors demonstrated the highest percentage of engine horsepower delivered to the drawbar pin. Steigers delivered an average 84.08% of the engine horsepower to the drawbar pin.

The competition averaged 75.81%. That's driveline efficiency.

Other categories dominated by these big, beautiful Steigers included fuel efficiency and cab quietness. So if you're looking at 4WD tractors, take a look at Steiger and compare.

*According to official observed independent tests.

It didn't take long for a crowd to gather when Barbara Herr, Narvon, started shearing a sheep at the Park City Mall. While still in her teens, the young lady is a veteran sheep shearer and didn't even nick the animal while working in front of her 100 or so observers.

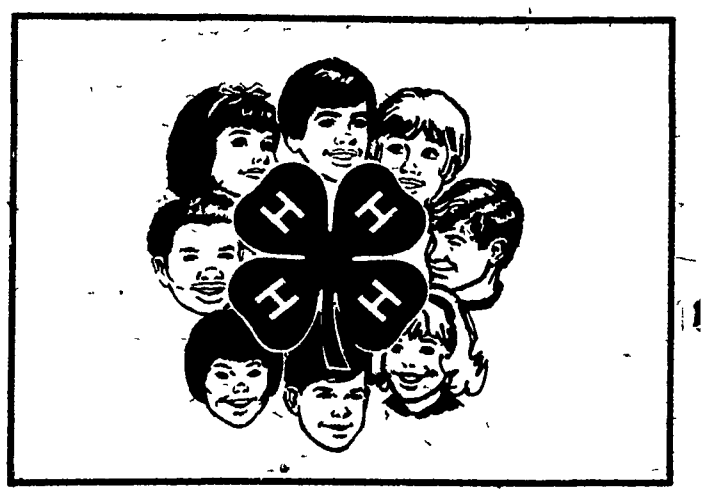
Grange women to be honored

DENVER, Colo. - The 250,000 women across the country who belong to the Grange are involved in a variety of educational, social, national and international projects and contests. The results of their efforts during 1978 will be highlighted during the 112th annual session of the National Grange, Nov. 13 to 20 in Denver, Colorado.

The National Grange sponsors the nation's largest needlework contest. First place winners at the state level will be judged at the national convention and presented cash awards. The Grange also sponsors the largest general sewing contest. First place winners in each division, who were selected earlier this year, will model their prize winning outfits. A Best of Show will be selected and awarded many cash and merchandise awards.

First place winners in the 1978 Stuffed Toy Contest will be judged at the convention and awarded national prizes. All of the stuffed toys entered in the contest are given to local children's hospitals. Both the needlework and stuffed toys will be on display at the Regency Hotel and open to the public. All three contests are also open to non-members.

Each year the women's activities department participates in an international project with CARE, Inc. Local Granges raise funds to support the project. The results of their efforts will be reported during a women's activities banquet, November 16 at the Regency Hotel. Mrs. Jenny Grobusky, Director of Women's Activities, will also outline efforts during the past year regarding their national health project to aid the deaf and hearing impaired. She will announce the winner of the Director of the Year competition and present additional awards to other women selected for national recognition as a result of their outstanding work during 1978.



Preventive guidelines issued to contain LT disease

GUIDELINES AND RECOMMENDATIONS FOR THE PREVENTION OF FURTHER SPREAD OF LARYNGOTRACHEITIS
(clip and save)

The purposes, as outlined by the Lancaster County Poultry Association, are to prevent the spread immediately, and to make poultrymen aware of good procedures to be taken to prevent future outbreaks of any poultry disease.

The following guidelines, although aimed primarily at poultrymen themselves, should also be followed by anyone doing business with poultrymen, such as servicemen, processors, feed deliverymen, egg haulers, exterminators, poultry moving crews and so on.

SECURITY

Locks and signs should be placed on doors. It's also recommended that poultrymen don't take their Sunday afternoon dinner guests through the poultry facilities. Limit entries into the building as much as possible, and enter only with the strictest of precautions.

Insist that salesmen, feed deliverymen, egg customers and pick-up men absolutely stay out of poultry houses.

Use all-in, all-out operations where possible. Houses which aren't completely emptied of birds periodically will stand much greater chances of harboring diseases and infecting incoming flocks.

Provide obvious outside receptacle for feed slips, invoices and messages.

Known your pullet source and insist on vaccination programs.

Do not allow other poultrymen in your chicken house and do not visit other facilities.

EQUIPMENT NEEDED TO CONTROL POULTRY DISEASES

Locks, signs, disinfectant, boot brushes, a galvanized No. 2 laundry tub or foot tub, coveralls, rubber boots, are all needed for good sanitation and health safety of the flock. Keep the above materials handy for authorized visitors only; others have no business going into the house.

DO'S AND DON'TS

Enforce all of the procedures given. No body is to be excepted. Include servicemen, vaccination crews, exterminators, electricians, moving crews, feed and egg deliverers, repairmen, plumbers, utilitymen, salesmen and others entering your farm.

Provide the equipment listed above.

Grange talent featured

DENVER, Colo. – Variety acts, singers, dancers and musicians, representing State Granges from all across the country, will compete in the 112th annual session of the National Grange being held Nov. 13-20 in Denver, Colorado.

The entertainers who have already won first place honors in their respective states will perform in either the family musical contest or talent finals. Both are open to the public and will be held Nov. 17 at the Regency Hotel. National winners will receive cash awards.

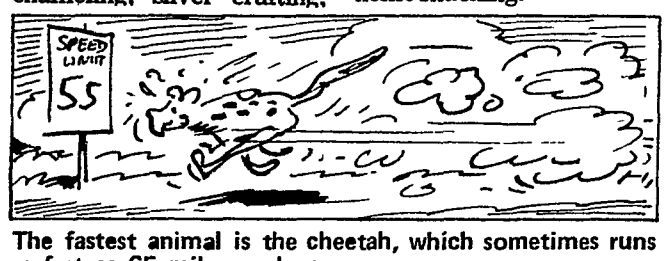
Holiday Fair to be held at York Mall

YORK - The holiday spirit will brighten the York Mall, October 26 through 28, when the Yorktowne Chapter of the Pennsylvania Craftsmen's Guild will sponsor their "Holiday Fair."

Geared toward inspiring Mall shoppers to begin planning for dressing up their homes for the gala season soon to come, crafts specialists will be on hand to display their varied talents.

A special feature will be original, handmade ornaments for giving that special personal touch to the traditional tree.

Skills to be demonstrated during the three-day event will include weaving, copper enameling, silver crafting, reverse painting on glass, pottery, clockmaking, braided rugs, stained glass and band box designing. Baked goods will also be available for on-spot or take-home snacking.



The fastest animal is the cheetah, which sometimes runs as fast as 65 miles an hour.

Seeding rye by helicopter is on in the increase in some areas of Pennsylvania. The method saves time and allows farmers to seed fields which haven't been harvested yet, such as standing corn. This scene was in Lebanon County. District Conservationist Karl Hellerick, Room 209, Post Office Building, 8th and Chestnut Streets, Lebanon, phone 717-272-6621, has more information for anyone interested in learning more about this novel method of seeding.

Messeth

the Original Piston Pump for Controlled Manure Storage.

Whether you choose to handle manure as a semi-solid or liquid, Nesseth has the pump and the experience to design a manure management system best suited to your requirements. More farmers have installed the Nesseth system than any other — and for good reasons. The Piston Pump was originated and developed by Nesseth. We have three models available to meet different needs and it's easy to install in new or existing setups. The Nesseth Piston Pump is built for dependability and trouble-free service, and best of all, is far more economical than hydraulic systems or air tanks. Remember — no one has more experience or more installations than Nesseth, the originators of the Piston Pump.

State Grange talent finalists named

HARRISBURG - Among the many events planned for the 106th annual State Grange Session in Butler October 23-26 will be the finals for the State Grange Talent Contest.

This contest is regarded by many as one of the highlights of the convention.

The contest is to be held in Butler Area High School auditorium Monday and Tuesday evenings, October 23 and 24, at 7 p.m. The public is invited to attend.

The contest began with the county eliminations in September. The entrants compete in eight classes: Vocal, Instrumental, Other Acts, Family Vocal, Family Instrumental, Quartets, Square Dance, Pomona Chorus.

Winners from the county eliminations went on to compete in the regional eliminations held on the first Saturday in October. Winners of this contest went on to compete in the district competition held on the second Saturday in October.

Winners of this event are coming to the State Grange Convention to compete in the finals in Butler.

The State Winners of the Family Vocal, Family Instrumental and The Best of Show of all the other contestants will compete at the National Competition in Denver, Colo. in November.

Other attractions open to the public include an arts and crafts display in the convention headquarters at the Holiday Inn, Butler.

The display will include photography, painting, needlework, embroidery, crocheting, flower arrangements, and baked goods. It will be open to the public Wednesday and Thursday, October 25 and 26.

Keystone livestock show opens Nov. 4

HARRISBURG – The 1978 Keystone International Livestock Exposition, will be featuring a few changes and additions as the Exposition doors open Saturday, November 4, at the Harrisburg Farm Show Building.

For the first time, separate junior breeding sheep classes will be offered, open to junior breeders any breed supporting the show.

Another new attraction will be the Keystone Junior Livestock Meats Judging contest. This is a youth activity open to all 4-H and FFA members. The contest will provide an opportunity for youth to see and judge top quality animals from across the nation, while learning about retail cuts of meat.

The very successful "Special Breeds Division" will be held for the second time this year. It is open to all breeds who maintain a national association and issue "percentage papers."

For the third straight year, the Eastern Limousin Breeders Association will hold their sale of breeding stock on Saturday, November 4. In addition, sales will be held for yearling bred ewes on Saturday evening and for feeder calves on Monday night.

Again, this year, there will be no swine breeding classes at the Keysone International.

On Saturday, November 4, sheep competition will begin at 8:30 a.m. with H.M. Briggs of Brookings, S.D., and Bud Westlake from Marysville, Ohio doing the officiating. The first breeds to be judged will be the Hampshire and Shropshire followed by Suffolk breeding classes, the truckload of 15 market lambs and finally the open market lambs.

On Sunday November 5, Briggs judges the carcass wethers on foot, the junior market lambs, and the junior breeding sheep.

Carl Bradford of Wooster, Ohio will judge the Oxford and Dorset breeding classes on Monday while Briggs judges the Cheviot and Southdown breeding classes.

On Tuesday, November 7, Bradford will judge the Columbia, Corriedale, Merino, and Rambouillet breeding classes.

The open horse show competition begins at 12 p.m. on Saturday, November 4, with the Paint Horse Show. Judge Timothy R. Beesley from Kernersville, N.C. will begin with the breeding division and continue on with performance division.

On Sunday, November 5, Beesley will begin with the Quarter horse breeding division followed by the Quarter horse performance division.

John L. McCauley from Philadelphia will judge the Arabian show on Monday, November 6, at 8:30 a.m.

On Tuesday November 7, James Keiser of Ames, Iowa will make the placing for the Arabian show.

The junior beef breeding show leads off the beef competition on Sunday November 5 starting at 12 p.m. This will be followed by the junior steer show. Herman Purdy of Alexandria will do the judging.

On Monday, November 6, Purdy will judge the feeder calves at 8:30 a.m. and open class steers at 10 a.m. Gail Long of Ada, Ohio will judge the Polled Hereford breeding cattle at 9 a.m. and at 12:30 p.m. A.L. Eller, Jr. will judge the Hereford breeding cattle.

Tuesday, November 7, will find Long judging the Charolais breeding cattle at 8:30 a.m. At the same time, Dave Steck from Wataga, Ill. will be placing the Shorthorn breeding cattle. At 11 a.m., Purdy will handle the special breeds heifer show. At 12:30 p.m. Mark Richardson of Phelps, N.Y. will place the Angus breeding cattle.

Barrow competion will begin at 11 a.m., Sunday, November 5, with Dean Eddie, Storm Lake, Iowa, as judge. John Parker of Richmond, Va. will do the on foot scoring for soundness and freshness. The junior barrows, crossbreds and purebreds of other breeds and the truckloads of six market hogs will also be judged on Sunday.

At 5 p.m. the barrows will be loaded out and taken to A & B Packing where carcass information will be obtained later in the week.

Some of the other special events to be held at this year's show consists of the National 4-H and Northeast Regional Intercollegiate Horse Judging Contests and the National 4-H Horse Bowl. These contests will be held on Saturday, November 4 starting at 8 a.m.

The live hog evaluation contest will be at 12:30 p.m., Sunday, November 5.

The Ladies Lead class will be held in the sheep arena at 5:30 p.m. on Sunday, November 5. Following the Lead will be the Pennsylvania Junior sheep Shearing contest at 7 p.m. in the beef cattle arena.

The Intercollegiate and Junior Livestock Judging Contest will be held on Wednesday, November 8, starting at 8 a.m.

Various meetings and banquets will be held during Keystone International.

The Pennsylvania Livestock Association will hold its annual meeting and awards banquet on Saturday, November 4, 7 p.m.,-p.m., at the Crossgates Inn. Tickets at are available for $10 each from Herbert Schick, Kutztown R2, or any other Association director.

HIGH DENSITY . . . LOW PROFILE

Northco's Slant-Back System is the simple way to increase profits by cutting building costs and increasing bird densities.

HIGH DENSITY - Using Northco's 18-inch (45.7 cm.) deep cages, forty thousand birds easily fit into a 40-foot (12.2 m.) wide house with a 420-foot (123 m.) long cage row. Systems with 16-inch (40.6 cm.) deep cages are even more compact. Either way the total height of the cage row is only 75-inches (191 cm.).

NO DROPPING BOARDS OR DROPPING BOARD SCRAPERS - Vinyl dropping shields on the slanted cage backs deflect manure into the pit. Manure on the shields dries and flakes off into the pit without build-up.

WELL VENTILATED - Northco's Roof Exhaust Ventilation System provides every bird on every deck the fresh air needed to minimize stress and increase production.

Lisa Ternovan, 7, is a picture of sheer delight as she holds a small chick in her hands. It was one of scores of agricultural displays at Lancaster's Park City Shopping Mall which received praise from young and old alike. Lisa is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Ternovan, Lancaster.

Farmers get excellent rating for displays

By DIETER KRIEG

LANCASTER — Shoppers at Lancaster's Park City shopping complex gave the Lancaster County Farmers Association high marks this week for the agricultural displays they brought to their attention.

"I find it very interesting," said a housewife from Bowmansville who came to shop but found herself studying exhibits. "It's attracting a lot of attention. The kids love it, and I think that's good because so many children today aren't close to agriculture," she continued. As for her own background and interests, the lady explained she had lived on a farm at one time and that she and her husband once intended to go into farming. "But then we decided that maybe there was a little too much work involved."

By Kintzer, promotional director for Park City, has considerable praise for the farm show. "It was very, very tastefully done - they have done an outstanding job," he began. Not counting Easter and Christmas, the agricultural displays at the Mall rate as one of the top five attractions, he added.

"It's very educational; some of the schools have brought their students in; we've noticed as much as a 25 per cent increase in traffic.

In concluding his remarks, Kintzer said Park City is among the 15 largest shopping malls in the United States, and that it boasts the largest shopping complex farm show in the nation.

"I'm not really learning anything," commented one man who along with his wife was admiring two white turkeys on display at the Mall. He noted that he had raised turkeys at one time, and even though the exhibits weren't too educational for him, he found them to be very interesting. He and his wife both had farm backgrounds and he was a graduate of vocational agriculture courses in high school.

One of the constant biggest attractions throughout the week was one which featured chicks hatching out of their eggs. Many of the shoppers volunteered to comment on how interesting it was for both themselves and their children. Statements such as "We enjoy it," and "It's interesting" were heard frequently.

A retired lancaster County farmer commented simply: "It's worthwh who don't k about it."

"I'm surpri expect to see young woma Despite her Lancaster an background, s knew "pretty farming but displays hel ıtured chicks hatching out their eggs. Many of the ›ppers volunteered to nment on how interesting was for both themselves d their children. ıtements such as "We joy it," and "It's in-'esting" were heard quently.

A retired lancaster County mer commented simply: "It's worthwhile for people who don't know anything about it."

"I'm surprised - I didn't expect to see a cow," said a young woman excitedly. Despite her residency in Lancaster and a non-farm background, she claimed she knew "pretty much" about farming but added the displays helped her understanding of agriculture substantially.

Lisa Ternovan, 7-year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Ternovan, was found at the hatched chick display admiring the fuzzy little creatures. Her eyes sparkled with delight and interest. There was no need to ask her how she liked what she saw.

A Manheim area resident who works in data processing claimed genuine appreciation for the displays and agriculture when he was asked to comment about the activities.

Noting that he and his family make it a point to go to most every fair in Lancaster County, he explained that he believed the Park

The Eastern Seaboard Sheep Council will meet at 7:30 p.m., Sunday, November 5, at the Capitol Motel Resturant. The dinner and meeting is open to any interested person.

The Pennsylvania Cattlemen's Association meeting will be held at 3 p.m. Saturday, November 4, at the Crossgates Inn.

The Keystone International Livestock Exposition is sponsored by the Pennsylvania Livestock Association in cooperation with the Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture and the Pennsylvania Farm Products Show Commission.

Broilers up ten per cent

HARRISBURG -- Placements of broiler chicks in the Commonwealth during the week ending October 7 were ten per cent above the corresponding week a year ago, according to the Pennsylvania Crop Reporting Service.

The placements were 1,998,000, about the same as the previous week. Average placements during the past nine weeks were 19 per cent above a year earlier.

Placements of broiler chicks in the key 21 poultry-producing states were 62,410,000, about the same week a year earlier. Average placements in the 21 states during the past nine weeks were seven per cent above a year ago.

The number of broiler-fryers slaughtered in Pennsylvania under federal inspection in the week ending September 27 were 2,009,000 with an average weight of 4.05 pounds.

Moisture

farmers to get on with harvest if at all possible before conditions get worse. He warns that it would take just one storm to make an entangled mess out of presently erect stalks.

Most of the moisture reports range between 24 and 30 per cent. One Lancaster County grain handler reports corn coming in at between 24 and 27 per cent moisture. "It's very good all around," he said.

Corn in the Elizabethtown area of Lancaster County is reported to be of excellent quality, but the harvest isn't coming in quite as fast as expected. The problem is moisture.

An Elizabethtown area grain handler said: "We've had our share of loads which were on the borderline, and have turned some away because of moisture." The firm has no drying facilities.

In Berks County, there is noticeable difference between corn that was planted early and that which went in late. The earlier plantings reportedly suffered somewhat from drought and pollination problems. Later plantings are reported to have more consistent and better yields, early yield checks show.

According to Berks County Extension Agent Clyde Myers, the crop throughout the county looks very good from the roadside, but a closer check indicates that some ears are not filled out properly.

While the harvest throughout the area is still in its initial stages, and a total picture on yields and quality can't be compiled, it is known that some areas are faring better than others. Lancaster County is showing the most promising signs of a good harvest. Some indications from neighboring counties are not as good. Some of the yields in Lebanon County, for example, are reported to be disappointing.

Wool contest to be held

LANCASTER — The make-it-yourself-with-wool competition for Lancaster, Lebanon, Dauphin, Juniata, Adams, and Frankin Counties will be held October 28, beginning at 9 a.m. in the Farm and Home Center, Lancaster. Competition is open to non-professional seamstresses, aged 10 to 24.

Garments entered in competition must have a fabric content of not less than 60 per cent wool.

People interested in participating and getting more information about the event can contact Mrs. Mary Alice Gregory, 721 East 28th Division Highway, Lititz, Pa. 17543.

This district competition is cosponsored by the Lancaster County Farm Women Society and the Pennsylvania Sheep and Wool Growers Association.

Pumpkin

tops of the squash will freeze and deteriorate, and then spoil, he continued. But that will take a really hard freeze."

A grower of Butternut squash also reported a nice-looking crop. he said that the size and quality are better than normal, and only because the crop was late getting planted, the tonnage per acre might be slightly lower.

He noted that earlier in the season he had some trouble with cucumber beetles bothering his squash crop but he was able to keep them under control. He expected to be finished harvesting by the end of this week, and was unaffected by frost.

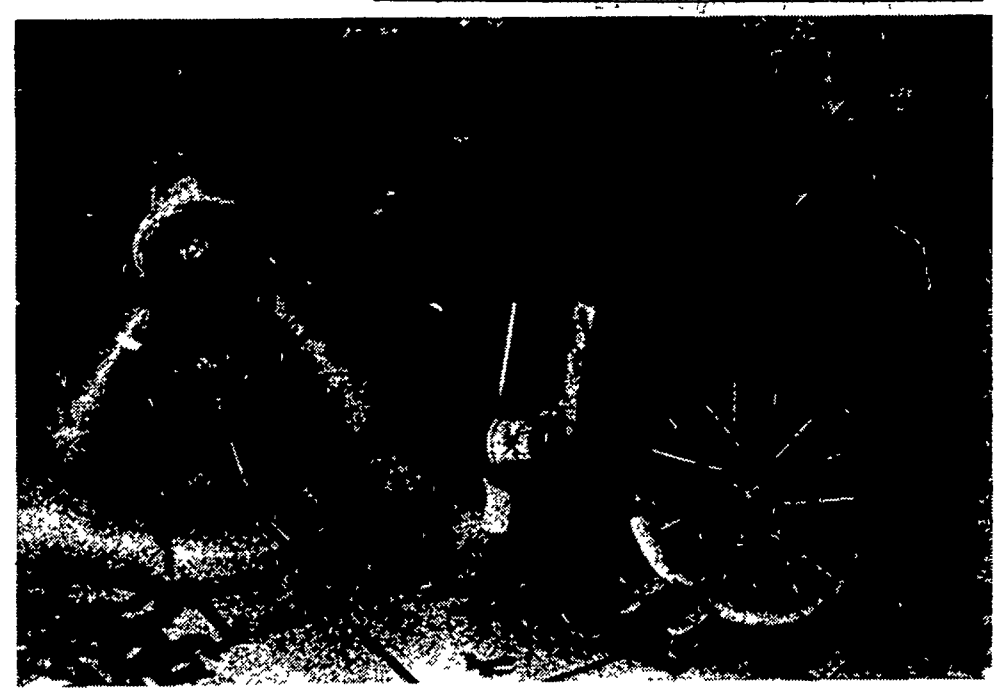
Glenn Thomas, of Thomas Farm Market, Lititz, reports exceptional yields of both pumpkins and squash. He, too, related that the good growing season, with rain at all the right times, helped make such a good crop.

He told that the pumpkins seemed nicely shaped, with their quality above average. And the dry month of October helped in holding the pumpkns, keeping them nice.

Rudy Grob, representing the Amos H. Funk Farm Market, Millersville R1, told that all six varieties of pumpkins which they feature did very well this year, with just about the last of the crop picked. He stated that the pumpkins were very smooth appearing, and available in all sizes this year.

He, too, told that the frost had not hurt the pumpkin this year, and that they were keeping well.

One problem that was brought out in the survey was that a few farmers were having slight problems earlier this year with mold, due to the wet weather but the condition was nothing to worry about. They stated that they just had to use a slightly higher spraying program during the last part of August, and the problem was kept under control, although the field loss of pumpkins might have been slightly higher due to this condition.



There's nothing to cry about with the pumpkin harvest this year, growers report. The crop is excellent, both in quanity and quality, with good growing conditions credited with the exceptional yield.

Bob Bowman, representing Consumers Packing Service, Lancaster, who use Hubbard and Butternut squash, related that they too considered it an excellent year, the best in five years as far as yield is concerned.

He thought that the yield could be 20 to 25 per cent higher than normal. He told that he thought this year would be a good year for corn too, and stated that usually a good year for corn is a good year for squash and pumpkins.

Madeira's Guernseys cited for production

PETERBOROUGH, N.H. - Kelsos Falcons Glen a senior 6 year old, registered Guernsey cow, owned by Eugenia C. Madeira, Berwyn, has completed an official DHIR actual production record of 18010 pounds of milk and 845 pounds of butterfat, in 305 days two times a day milking, according to The American Guernsey Cattle Club.

The testing was supervised by Pennsylvania State University, University Park.

Three registered Guernsey cows in the Madeira dairy herd have produced over 100,000 pounds of milk each in their lifetime in DHIR.

The following is a list of the most outstanding cows in their production: Kelsos Rulers Annora, Kelsos Imperial Rene, and Friendship Nugget Bon Verbena.

VM Diesel

"THE DIESEL WITH A DIFFERENCE"

Cuts your power costs because it's way ahead of its time on all points.

AVCO-VM diesel engines are world-proven money-savers. They deliver maximum power efficiency immediately, under any sudden load or climate variation. Their higher power to weight ratios mean NO REDUCTION IN HORSEPOWER to qualify for pollution standards.

They're stingy on fuel, too. Many users report fuel consumption CUT IN HALF — and more — compared with gasoline engines. In some installations, our diesels are delivering more than TWICE the hours of operation per gallon of fuel.

Faultless performance is the norm, rather than the exception. A choice of 27 premium quality air-cooled Avco-VM's (5 to 670-hp) means there's one that's right for your application.

Modular, unitized construction means fewer specialized parts, lower weight per hp, lower maintenance costs, 70% parts interchangeability — and they'll fit the tightest space.

There weren't any chickens to be seen at Park City, but dozens of eggs as well as some grading equipment.

Farmers

City displays filled the bill for those residents in the community who did not attend the fairs.

At the time his visit was interrupted, the Manheim man, who owns 13 acres and does a little bit of farming on the side, was studying information about antique and modern tractors. "I'm amazed at the prices of the new tractors," he volunteered.

A number of displays, particularly those from FFA chapters at Park City were recognized as being the same ones as were on display at area fairs. "But that's okay," the part-time farmer added, "there are a lot of people who haven't seen them before."

Further down the machinery display, a middle-aged man was found sitting on a bench, doing nothing in particular. He said he had been through the mall, but hadn't taken time to look at any of the displays.

"The show is smaller than what it was in other years," observed a city man who showed considerable interest in an International tractor furnished for display purposes by R.S. Hollinger, and Son, Inc. of Mountville. He said he had a friend in Mississippi who has been in the implement business for 35 years.

Bees and weeds were the big attraction for some visitors, including a Lancaster man who claimed no farm background at all. "I find this very interesting," he commented as he and his son were inspecting the potted weeds.

4-H club elects officers

FLEMINGTON, N.J. - Easy Riders 4-H Horse Club members elected new officers and discussed upcoming events recently, while meeting at the home of Judy and Gerry Stoner of Frenchtown, N.J.

Donna Homulak, 15, Pittstown, was named president; Heather Sewell, 13, Pittstown, vice president; Ann Hellyer, 16, Pittstown, secretary; Pam Fulcher, 16, Lebanon, treasurer; and Lisa Hurst, 13, Milford, corresponding secretary. They discussed the Hunterdon County 4-H Horse Council sponsored show to be held at Round Valley Youth Center on October 22. The 4-H Horse Council is sponsoring this show for the benefit of the Round Valley Youth Center where they have two show rings. The Hunterdon County horse clubs use the show rings a great deal and the proceeds from this show will be used to benefit the show rings and the riding program at Round Valley.

The Easy Riders are looking for new members in their club. Persons who are interested in joining this club can contact the leaders, Judy and Gerry Stoner, by calling 609-996-6640.

SOIL SEMINARS AND PRODUCE MARKETING SESSION

ANTI-POLLUTION, BACK TO NATURE

There is much to learn from nature - her generosity and rewards, if not polluted. Why the continual increase in plant and animal disease and pests? Where will it end if we don't change our course? Think of future farmers of America! Come to the seminars to learn the answers that multitudes of farmers all over the country are already benefiting by.

OCT. 24 - 3:00 P.M. and again at 7:15, Pole Tavern Circle, Intersection of Rts. 77 and 40 in N.J., in the Upper Pittsgrove Township Hall.

OCT. 25 - 1:30 P.M. and again at 7:15. Quakertown, Pa. Fire Hall No. 1 - 5th and Broad St. (south of Allentown).

OCT. 26 - 1:00 P.M. and again at 7:15. New Holland, Pa. Liberty Fire Hall, 339 E. Main St.

OCT. 30 - 7:15 P.M. Naples, NY Fire Hall (Western Finger Lakes region) sponsored by Glenside Organic Vineyards which proved the value of organic products and are anxious to help others. Their results are wonderful in yields, healthy vines and flavor.

SPEAKERS: - Dr. D. L. Skow from Minnesota. He is a good speaker on the relation of animal health to soil nutrition. There is a big correlation. Many are proving it. He also a feed nutritionist and will speak on preventative management. He was a featured speaker at Acres U.S.A. Conference this year. He will introduce one of the fastest growing and best soil testing programs in the U.S. for bumper crops with a minimum or no pests. Dr. Skow will only be present at the Quakertown and New Holland Seminars. He'll have the first lecture both afternoon and evening.

Ad Hefner, the President of Yolo Microbion Co., Woodland, Calif. He is working with Vaclav Petrick, a genius in microbe and bacteria culture who spent years in isolating and assembling from all over the world the right combination of more than 30 organisms, some of them drawing much nitrogen out of the air, called nitrogen fixation. He now lives with Mr. Hefner to produce the well proven BX culture which is increasing yields at less cost, and much better nutrition and quality in the crops, better soil tilth, much better disease resistance and flavor and earlier maturity. RPA, a root protecting agent is mixed in with BX that does wonders for sick asparagus and root crops and corn root worms. Otherwise hopeless asparagus is being saved in Calif., now producing jumbo size at a premium price to a certain chain store. They also have products that work excellently in liquid manure for improved fertility, and in dry manure to control odor, and flies, and for fast decomposition of manure and cover crops which means better fertility.

Dick Wion, president of Aerobic Research and Marketing Inc. at Ind. There are thousands of farmers proving that his method of soil treatment really changes the soils structure quickly, does a better job than chiseling at less cost.

There will be various other speakers on natural soil fertility and question and answer periods. A predicted leap in oil prices again will make fertilizer too high. Come and learn how to farm with nature and save a lot of money without a decrease in production, but rather increase.

About 4 o'clock in the New Holland seminar a local distributor will demonstrate a new simple magnetic device to clamp to water pipes that eliminates calcium deposits, makes it more like soft water, takes less soap, is healthier for greenhouse plants and requires no upkeep like salt. Well proven locally. He may go to NJ and Quakertown also.

DOUBLE YOUR GAS MILEAGE

Also a gas saving device for carburetors that actually doubles gas mileage, sometimes much better. By a reputable company, it minimizes pollution Dealers Wanted.

PRODUCE BUYERS MEET

At 4:30 several big buyers want to be present who need more of the following wholesale for processing or wholesale markets - various kinds of squash, green beans, turnips and maybe kale and other vegetables. A meeting of organic vegetable buyers and growers after the 4:30 session

Mushroom imports to be investigated

WASHINGTON, D.C. - Senator John Heinz (R-Pa) recently announced that Special Trade Representative Robert Strauss has ordered an investigation into the illegal diversion of mushrooms into the United States.

Heinz said that the Republic of China (Taiwan) has attempted to exceed U.S. limits on Taiwanese mushrooms by shipping part of their crop to Hong Kong where they are mixed with mushrooms from the People's Republic of China, repackaged and then shipped to the U.S.

Heinz raised these charges in a June 6 letter to Strauss. The Special Trade Representative's reply, dated October 6, enclosed a copy of Strauss' letter to Customs Commissioner Robert Chasen requesting the investigation. In his letter to Chasen, Strauss said:

"Our negotiators have been informed by officials of the ROC that Taiwan ships mushrooms to Hong Kong, packed in brine for sale in Asian markets. However, we understand that Hong Kong mushroom packers have been desalting the Taiwanese mushrooms, mixing them with mushrooms from the People's Republic of China, and labeling them as Taiwan-origin mushrooms to be shipped to, among other places, the United States. This raises a number of problems regarding possible violations of Customs laws and also possible circumvention of our March 1977 understanding with Taiwan regarding the level of mushroom shipments to the U.S.

Thus, we request that Customs investigate and inform us at the earliest possible date of: (a) the true source of the canned mushrooms shipped to the U.S. from Hong Kong; (b) whether the processing of Taiwanese mushrooms in Hong Kong results in a "substantially transformed" product that should be marked as originating in Hong Kong; and (c) whether there is commingling of these mushrooms with PRC mushrooms, such that mushrooms imported into the U.S. are not being properly marked and, therefore, dutiable as products of the PRC."

"I am glad to see that the Administration has at least taken this first step to help protect American mushroom growers who have been battered year after year by foreign imports," Heinz said. "I can only hope that this investigation will be followed by concrete steps to halt the illegal shipment of mushrooms."

Pa. 4-H dairy judges score second place at World Dairy Expo

UNIVERSITY PARK — Pennsylvania's 4-H dairy judging team came home from the World Dairy Exposition with a second placing in the National 4-H Dairy Judging Contest, it was announced recently by Paul Anderson, Extension dairy specialist at Penn State University.

Members were Douglas Hershberger, Quarryville; John Frey, Willow Street; Todd Grice, Washington; and Jeff Harding, Brookville. Anderson coached the team.

Aside from the team's second place in overall competition, they also scored a second place in reasoning for the entire contest, were first in Holstein judging, second with Ayrshires and Guernseys, and third in Jerseys.

Harding was the second-high individual in the contest and also second in overall reasoning. He was third highest individual in judging Guernseys.

Frey was seventh in individual judging, Hershberger placed 16th. He was second high man in Holstein judging.

Grice was the team alternate.

Ralston Purina makes movie at Umberger's

RICHLAND - Umbergers Inc., Richland, was busy with activity last week as a movie crew from New York City, N.Y., completely transformed the store overnight to show Ralston-Purina dealers, through a thirty minute movie, how to improve their in-store merchandising.

Clarence Kreider, manager of the store said the basic theme of the movie was to show dealers they can clean up their own store, using their own people and $100 or less in paint and supplies. Kreider said they put eye catching signs up along with more attractive displays for better merchandising. Seven thousand dealers across the country will have the opportunity to view this film, he said.

This was the first film Ralston Purina did on actual location for merchandising. Up until now they have only used film strips.

Kreider said his new store looked "terrific, looks like a new show room. It's a remarkable transformation. It should have a good impact on dealers that see it." Kreider said our customers have been complementing us on the stores new appearance."

Quick-squirt sheriff bags milking trophy

Spectators at Lancaster's Park City Shopping Mall found the milking contest amusing. Robert Montgomery is on his way to winning the championship.

Robert Montgomery, known to thousands as 'The Old Sheriff," was quick on the udder on Tuesday evening during a milking contest at Park City. He grabbed the leather faucet and squeezed his way to the championship with rapid-fire shots into the stainless steel pail.

By DIETER KRIEG

LANCASTER — They stood five and six deep, shoulder to shoulder and with necks stretched high. Some spectators stood on benches, a few stepped on toes, and all had inquisitive expressions on their faces.

The Second Annual Cow Milking Contest at Lancaster's Park City Mall was about to begin. Four well-known Lancaster Countians would compete against each other. The large crowd was there to witness the fun. The fact that it was fun was evident as the inquisitive looks turned to sheer delight. The shoppers were being entertained and they loved it.

"We have four contestants because a cow has four spigots," former Lancaster County Extension Agent Alan Bair explained before the squrting contest began. "Each contestant gets one of the spigots." Lots were drawn to see who would milk which quarter and in what order.

Radio personality Robert Montgomery, known to thousands as "The Old Sheriff," was the first to go try his hands at the udder. Wasting no time to plant the milking stool in the bedding, and himself on the stool, the veteran of several milking contests proceeded to squeeze and pull.

Each contestant had a minute and a half to try his best at the leather faucet. Montgomery pulled and squeezed.

"Fifteen seconds left," Alan Bair announced.
"Ten seconds."
"Five seconds."
"Time's up."

Montgomery got up and handed his bucket to the "official weigher," Lancaster County DHIA supervisor Jay Mylin of Willow Street. A hush fell over the crowd as everyone awaited the report.

"One pound and five ounces," Mylin announced.

The next contestant to go down was Lancaster Newspapers' first lady of agricultural journalism, Debbie Dunlap. She is farm editor for the Intelligencer Journal. The witty young lady, who hails from a 400-acre Virginia cattle farm, faced her challenge without the aid of a milking stool and got right down to business.

She pulled and squeezed.

But despite a few practice sessions, the milk didn't come.

"Are sure you got the right one (teat)?" one of the fun-loving promoters of the event called out to her.

"It better be the right one, because if it isn't I'm not changing now," replied Miss Dunlap who delighted the Television's Roxanne Stein of Lancaster needed no directions for her performance. She handled her part (quarter) skillfully even after the cow put her foot down — into the bucket. Miss Stein came within an ounce of winning the championship.

after udderly narrow squeeze past Stein crowd with her own brand of comedy throuhgout her ordeal. Talking nearly the entire time and drawing approval from onlookers, the first-time competitor perfected her act when a faint squirt of milk tingled into the stainless steel pail.

The squirts kept coming. Debbie kept on smiling. Shouts of encouragement and funny remarks continued to be heard.

Lancaster County Commissioner Raymond Herr demonstrated just how much pull he had when he had his turn at the Guernsey cow's special plumbing. His efforts turned out to be good for a pound of milk and lots of good public relations in more ways than one.

Debbie Dunlap, farm editor for the Intelligencer Journal, Lancaster, helped make the milking contest a success by providing onlookers with good-natured entertainment at the organ - known as the udder.

But time was running out.

When the minute and a half was up, the farm editor's efforts weighed in at nine ounces.

Lancaster County Commissioner Raymond Herr got the third "spigot" - the left front quarter.

"Now we'll see how much pull the Commissioner really has," quipped Bair, who recently took a position with Atlantic Breeders Cooperative as director of member relations.

While Herr milked the cow, Bair offered the crowd a few of the more realistic facts about the dairy business. This event, after all, was to be an educational as well as entertaining affair. It was sponsored by the Lancaster County Farmers' Association and was a part of their week-long promotional activities designed to bring the farm story closer to city dwellers.

Commissioner Herr netted an even pound during his efforts to deflate at least one quarter of the udder.

The fourth contestant was television personality Roxanne Stein. She is employed by WGAL-TV, Channel 8, of Lancaster.

No sooner had she sat down, before someone loudly observed: "She has done this before!"

The solid squirts of milk rang into the bottom of the bucket. Alan Bair noted she was even using plenty of body english, for whatever good that might do her.

But as someone had said earlier in the contest, "It's all in the hands."

The milk continued to rise in the pail and there was some speculation that she might be the champion. Jay Mylin would soon tell.

"One pound and five ounces," he announced.

It was identical to the amount squirted into the pail by "The Old Sheriff."

"Looks like we'll have to have a pull-off here," declared Alan Bair.

Miss Stein and "The Old Sheriff" were each given an additional minute at their respective quarters. Montgomery was up (or is it down?) first.

That second sitting at the bag yielded 13 ounces and no problems for the radio man.

Miss Stein got off to a good start and was offering a good challenge. Then, just as time was up, the 6-year old Guernsey cow, which had stood and behaved so well during the entire length of the contest, decided to put her foot in the pail.

Perhaps the cow was only trying to help Roxanne.

Alan Bair had commented: "Throw a few shavings into the bucket - they'll add to the weight."

While Roxanne didn't take the idea seriously, the cow did. And, with Montgomery's consent, the milk plus shavings and hay was allowed to be weighed as is.

"Twelve ounces," declared official weighmaster Mylin.

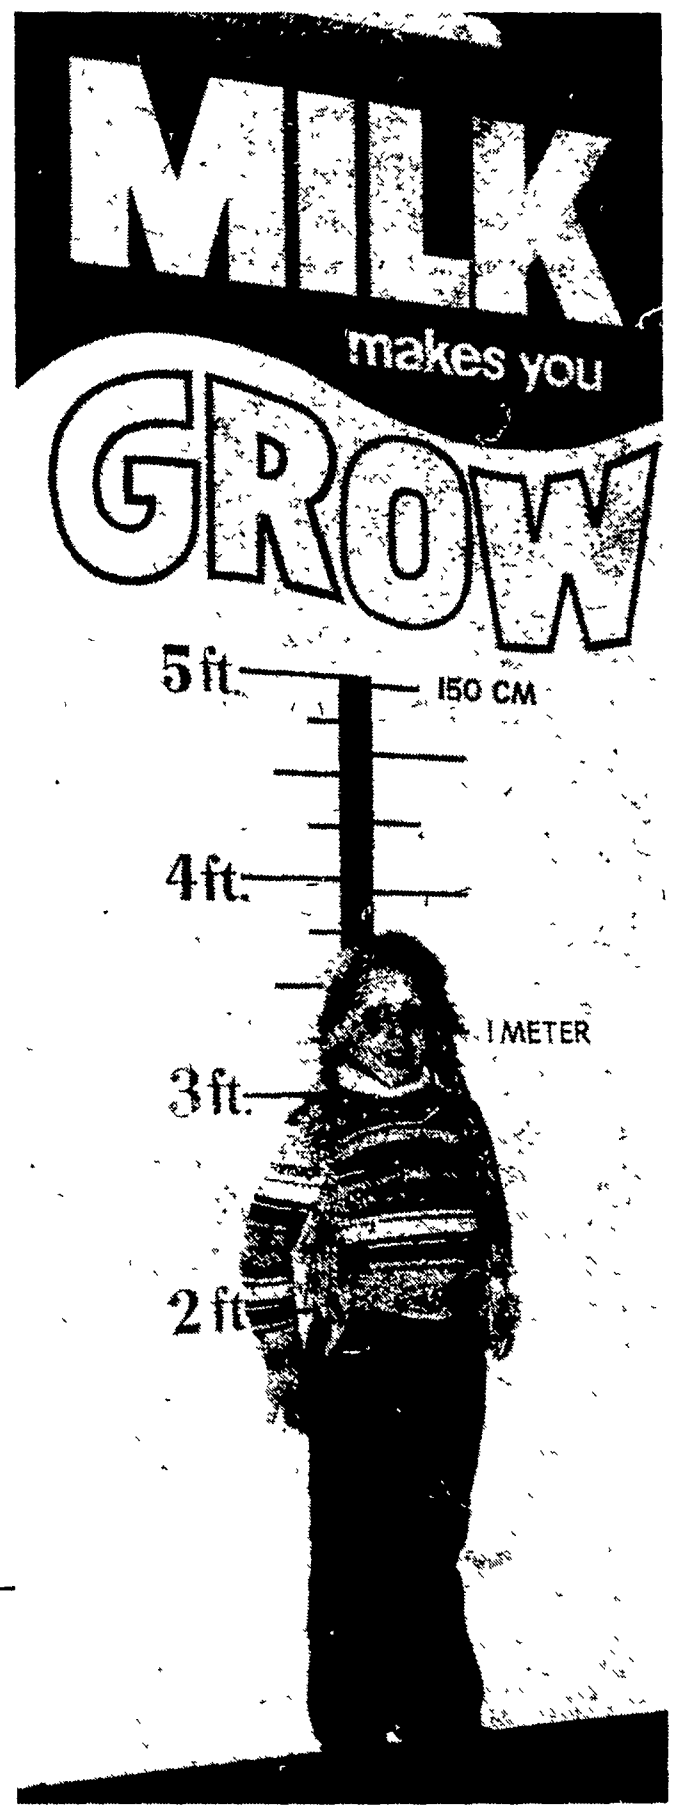
Bobby Montgomery, "The Old Sheriff," was champion. His reward, a miniature milk can, was given to be him by dairyman Jesse Balmer of Lititz, who was chairman of the dairy displays at Park City. All four contestants received special tokens of appreciation from the organizing committee.

That left only the cow empty-handed. Or empty-footed. Or whatever. She was Wyoming Favors Nedra, owned by Peter Witmer of Willow Street. She reportedly milks 50 pounds of milk per day when it's done by professionals.

Good old Nedra could probably tell a good story or two about the strange hands that squeezed and pulled on her "spigots" on Tuesday evening. We'll leave that assignment for someone else.

How about it, Debbie?

Lancaster County DHIA tester Jay Mylin studies the scale closely to determine who is the winner. Looking on are contestant Robert Montgomery, Intelligencer Journal photographer Larry Nixdorf, and contestant Roxanne Stein.



Cynamon Gentzler, 5-year old daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Richard D. Gentzler, Lancaster, stretches to see how milk has made her grow.

Poultrymen

500,000 birds or more. The potential could be there for even more serious outbreaks in the next six months.

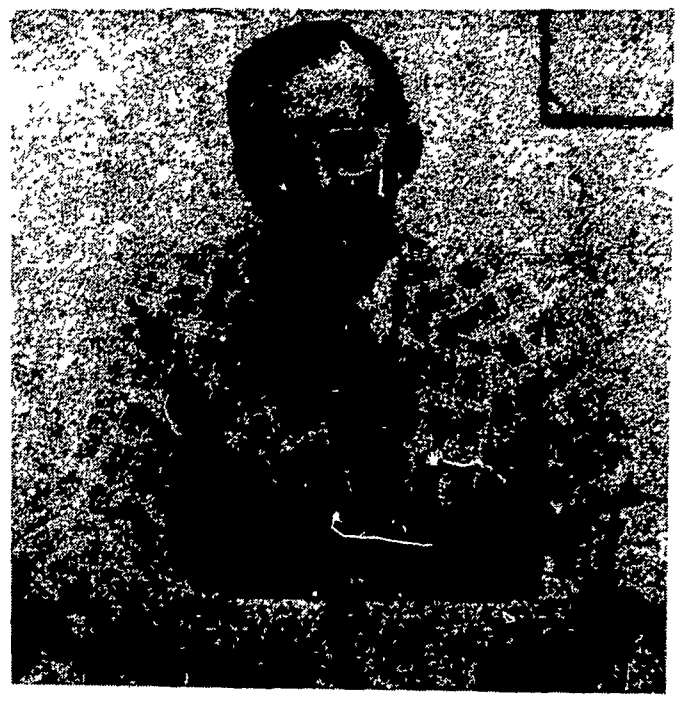
Mallinson said that he is putting the weight of the responsibility on industry people and is persuading them to get around to backyard poultry flocks in order to vaccinate the birds at either little or no cost to the owners.

"This is for the protection of both large and small poultry flocks," Mallinson indicated.

Mallinson also emphasizes that anyone buying and selling poultry be extremely careful with shipping crates. "Be sure they're cleaned and disinfected," he warns. "Ask the hauler to do it, or do it yourself. Crates are a notorious source of infection, he added.

In a special alert sent out to key Lancaster County poultrymen, Mallinson says:

"Only you can set the priorities of money and time, or provide the incentives and push needed to assure laringotracheitis (LT) vaccination of backyard flocks ....



Dr. E.T. Mallinson, chief of avian health at the Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture's Bureau of Animal Industry, urges everyone connected with Lancaster County's poultry industry to work towards vaccination of all flocks - large and small - in order to contain potential outbreaks of laryngotracheitis which affected more than a half million birds in the Garden Spot last Winter and Spring.

The idea is to protect everyone's pocketbook - companies and farmers. Much of last year's problems originatd in backyard flocks. Let's avoid a repeat of last year's costly outbreak.

"Don't let the hot Summer and no confirmed LT outbreaks since May, lull you into thinking this disease has gone away. Summer does not lend itself to LT outbreaks. However, the cool weather of Fall and Winter does favor the return of trouble and unprotected backyard flocks would be one of the major sources."

Mallinson says further that "the expense of vaccine is nil compared to the economic consequence of LT outbreaks in neighboring commercial flocks." He explains that immunization against the disease will significantly blunt the spread of disease from from backyard flocks to all layer, breeder, and broiler flocks.

"LT spreads in so many different ways, such as by rodents, wild birds, etc., that your flock cannot be considered completely isolated from backyard flocks. Immunization of backyard flocks, therefore, is essential," the veterinarian says.

Mallinson notes in his discussion of the disease that attempts to reach backyard flock owners through feed stores, news releases, and other efforts have been "discouraging." He is therefore asking for voluntary help from poultrymen to get the small flocks immunized at either low cost or free of charge.

The avian health chief urges poultrymen to take the following action, and "the sooner, the better," he adds.

Commercial flock owners - Supply and when necessary apply mild LT vaccine to backyard flocks in your neighborhoods. Be sure that chickens owned by your employees are immunized.

Hatcherymen - Arrange for LT vaccination when small lots of chicks are purchased for raising past 16 weeks of age. You could make arrangements for such vaccination when such lots of chicks are pickled up or delivered.

Pullet growers - Administer LT vaccine to all pullets moved into the Lancaster County area, including those shipped into backyard flocks.

Mallinson is persuading poultry servicemen to encourage implementation of the above plan by asking them to help poultrymen locate backyard flock owners, promote LT vaccination, and providing a mild LT vaccine.

The avian health chief also notes that anyone working with the backyard flocks in question must follow personal and clothing security procedures developed by the Lancaster County Poultry Association's LT Task Force before returning to commercial poultry operations.

LT is a respiratory ailment which has a five to 17 per cent mortality rate. Symptoms of the disease include watery eyes, coughing, sneezing, general breathing difficulty accompanied by a wheezing noise, and a shaking of the head. The affected birds may also be detected by their open mouths and gasping. A significant drop in production will also be noticeable.

Mallinson says if a poultryman notices any of these symptoms, he should notify the diagnostic laboratory, adding that detection and quarantining are highly important in controlling the disease.

Because of the seriousness of outbreaks occurring from last October through May of this year, the possibility arises that even worse outbreaks could arise this year if poultrymen don't take words of advice seriously.

Special precautions are mandatory in the use of LT vaccine. They include:

The same bottle of vaccine can be used to immunize more than one backyard flock ONLY if it is continually kept on ice and used within two hours. Any unused vaccine must be destroyed in accord with the manufactuer's instructions. NEVER save unused vaccine.

Chester County IFYE tells of life in Belgium

EDITORS NOTE: Suzanne is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Iseminger, Malvern. She was a member of the Tri-Community 4-H club in northern Chester County, and was chosen to participate in a four-month cultural exchange program as an International 4-H Youth Exchange (IFYE) delegate to Belgium. While in Belgium, Suzanne will have lived as a family member with several different host families. The following is her letter.

Greetings!

It's hard to believe that in one short month I'll be home again. The time has just flown by. I'm living with my 3rd host family now - the Creteurs. They live in Montrevil-au-Bois, which is north of Tournai. They are a family of four with two daughters - Marie-Paule, 17, and Dominque, 16. They have a 35 hectare farm which is about 88 acres. They raise winter barley, wheat, potatoes, and sugar beets. We are going to harvest the potatoes this week, hopefully. I spent a week with friends of theirs, the Deven's, who live in Comine. Monsieur Deven is a Professor of Economics at the University of Louvain. Both parents speak four languages - French, Flemish, German and English. They have three children - Patricio, 17, Michelle, 14, and Yvan, 8.

I had a fantastic week traveling all over Northwestern Flanders. This is the part of Belgium which speaks Flemish. We spent two days visiting the ancient, medieval city of Bruges. This is a city that dates, in written record, back to 892. You experience an overwhelming sense of awe when you walk its streets. Bruges is called the Venice of the North because of the canals which run through it. We took a boat ride through the canals and the view of the houses and shops was magnificent. During the 15th century, Bruges was the center of the famous Flemish School of Painting. Its founder was the great master Jan van Eyck, who is renowned for his realistic portraits. I had a wonderful view of the town from the belfry tower of the town hall. We reached the top after climbing 366 steps but believe me, it was well worth the effort. We stayed overnight with a friend who has an apartment overlooking the North Sea in Ostende. One note: Seas don't smell salty like oceans! We then visited the fishing port of Zeebruges before returning to finish our visit of Bruges. Bruges is also a lace center. It was fascinating to watch the women who still make the lace by hand. Their fingers flew as they twisted and crossed the many linen threads.

I also visited the Beguinage of Bruges. The Beguinages are both beautiful and interesting. Beguinages began the middle of the tenth century. Because of the Crusades and the many feuds and wars, there was a surplus of marriageable girls and widows. It began with these women meeting regularly to pray and do handiwork. This evolved into the establishment of communities which were separated from the town by a wall and gate. The women lived lives of prayer, very similar to nuns, but not bound by the same rules as in a convent. They lived under the direction of a superior, called the Headlady. They wore a black or grey dress and a white veil. They supported themselves by making lace and doing embroidery. They also taught children and helped the sick and the poor. When you enter through their gate you immediately feel the peace and serenity surrounding their little houses. Following the death of the last Beguine in Bruges, the Beguinage was taken over and it now is maintained by the Benedictine Sisters. There are, however, three Beguines still living at the Beguinage in Courtrai. These groups were founded everywhere in Western Europe but especially in Belgium. In the Middle Ages there were 94 Beguinages in Belgium. Germany had 54, the Netherlands 38, France 36, Austria-Hungary three, Switzerland and Italy each two, England and Poland each one.

The city of Ieper was also interesting for me, not only because it is a beautiful city, but also because my grandfather was stationed here during WW I. They have a curious custom in Ieper. Each May it was customary for the jester of Ieper to throw two or three living cats from the Belfry tower. This was begun in 962 by order of Baldwin III, Count of Flanders. The city continues this tradition today by throwing stuffed cats to the waiting crowd below. I also admire the courage of the people of Ieper because during WW I their town was completely destroyed. They have since restored it to its orignial beauty, which like Bruges, dates back to the Middle Ages.

I'd like to end this last newsletter with a little poem.

IFYE TO BELGIUM

The greatness of Europe passes before me,
Abundant castles, caves and
Majestic cathedrals beckon me inside;
Beautiful old villages lure my steps.
Shadowy remains of abbeys,
Ancient masterpieces by Rubens,
Festivals and processions,
All of these I have seen
And the people I have met,
With their cheery smiles and rosy cheeks;
Always kissing you thrice,
Then spreading a gourmet's delight before you.
These are just a few of the things,
I'll remember the rest of my life;
Belguim has changed me in so many ways,
Enriching my mind and coloring my soul.

DENVER, Colo. - The lecturer's department of the National Grange sponsors a program of competition in art and photography for members of the Grange. Thousands of entries go through local, county and state judging each year. The first place entries on the state level are sent to annual National Grange conventions for judging by experts in both fields.

All of the entries this year will be on display at the 112th annual session of the National Grange, Nov. 13 to 20 at the Regency Hotel in Denver, Colorado. National winners will be announced on Nov. 14 by Kermit Richardson, Barre, Vt., Lecturer of the National Grange. The display will be open to the public.

Soil Facts

It takes about 500 years of chemical, physical and biological processes to make one inch of soil. Modern farming practices, though, can destroy this inch in only a few years The healthiest soils are made of 10 per cent humus, 40 per cent minerals, 25 per cent water and 25 per cent air.

Berks County farmers given money

The Berks County Farmers' Association was given a check of $201.00 from American Health Profiles, Incorporated, Nashville, Tenn. to be donated to the 4-H Club Health Association. The check represented a donation of $1.50 for each member of the Association who took the physical examination given by American Health Profiles earlier in the year. A total of 134 members form Berks County were given the examination. Jim Haldeman, Berks Extension Agent accepted the check for the 4-H program and said it would be used toward 4-H Health Club work. Above, Mrs. William Myer, member of the Berks County Farmers Association; Mrs. Rae Hix, chairlady of the Women's Committee; Jim Haldeman, Berks County Extension agent; and William Myer, president Berks County Farmers' Association.

Jr. Grangers to be recognized

DENVER, Colo. -- Thousand of rural youngsters across the country, between the ages of five and 14, are members of local Junior Grange chapters. The Junior Grange is one of very few fraternal organizations for children. They have their own ritual and degree work, community projects and social activities. Each Junior Grange is supervised by an adult member of a sponsoring local Grange chapter.

Many Junior Granges have projects and activities similar to those of a regular local Grange. They also have arts and crafts contests, a merit badge program, state prince and princess competition and educational programs which emphasize leadership training, meeting procedures and community service.

The National Grange sponsors Junior contests in crafts, art, photography, community service, and program achievement. Entries selected as first place winners at the state level are judged for national awards each year at National Grange conventions.

Mrs. Patty Carncross of Lansing, Mich., Director of Junior Grange Activities for the National Grange, will announce 1978 national winners on Nov. 17 in Denver, Colorado. The National Grange will be holding its 112th annual session in Denver, Nov. 13 to 20. She will also present an award to the 1978 Junior Grange of the Nation.

Lebanon FWS meets

ANNVILLE - Lebanon County Farm Women Societies held their annual convention October 11 at the Church of the Brethren, Annville. About 200 people attended throughout the day.

Activities were held throughout the day which included a bazaar, business meeting, memorial service, presentation of attendance award, and program.

The program included musicial selections by Lorraine Royer and Jane Miller. Remarks were given by Alletta Shadler to thank the Societies for their support of the 4-H development fund.

Connie McFeaters, Lebanon County Dairy Princess, presented a short skit.

The speaker for the day was Dr. Dorothy Gish, a graduate of Granthem College, and Penn State. Dr. Gish served eight and one half years in missionary work in Africa. He topic was on "Love Yourself".

The ladies of the Brethren church served lunch and the meeting was adjourned.

Wenger assumes NEMA presidency

WASHINGTON, D.C. – Lancaster County poultryman Al Wenger of Dutchland Farms, Rheems, officially took over the office of president of the Northeast Egg Marketing Association last week during the annual meeting of the organization. The well-known and active NEMA member had been vice president of the group.

Activities during the convention included elections and forecasts.

In his report to the session, held just prior to the opening of the meeting of the Board of Directors of United Egg Producers, manager Bill Rent stressed the fact that 1978 has brought significant increases in NEMA membership largely attributed to two factors: good area meetings in Pennsylvania and Maine in which directors and members have supplemented special efforts by NEMA and UEP staff people to acquaint producers with what the role of these organizations means to the industry.

Rent cited the "UNEPRO" insurance program, launched a few months ago, as one of the best tools for building membership NEMA and UEP have ever had. Total value in flocks and property in NEMA region now covered with this all risk poultry insurance total nearly 65 million dollars.

He laid special emphasis on the climate of good relations that had been built up by NEMA with state associations, Extension people, the FACTS organization and other industry groups. Al Pope, general manager of UEP, briefed the gathering on details of the settlement of the UEP Standard Brands litigation and in turn carried back to UEP a unanimous commendation for him and his organization on the successful conclusion of this bench mark legal action.

Chrisstine Bushway, A.E.B., held producers attention with a report of promotion activities going forward in the region with food service people and plans for an intense campaign of promotion featuring microwave cookery.

Directors elected at the session include: Joseph Coen, Woodridge, N.Y.; James Knisley, Lakewood, N.J.; Mike Hirth, Manchester, Conn.; James Wolfe, Stewartstown, Pa.; John Newman, Turner, Maine; and Albert Bowman, Albion, N.Y.

In later balloting the Board elected the following slate of officers for 1979: President, Al Wenger of Rheems, Pa.; First Vice-President, John Ricca, Billerica, Mass.; Second Vice-President, W. Robert Park, Valencia, Pa.; Treasurer, Vivian Ilomaki, Fitchburg, Mass.; Secretary, Charles A. O'Reilly, Pittstown, N.J.

Prior to relinquishing the gavel to Al Wenger, the retiring President, Hank Simpson, expressed deep appreciation to all who had helped him during his term. He emphasized the insights into the industry that had come to him as a result of serving as a NEMA delegate to UEP. He said, "they have been two exciting years that brought the new American egg board and Checkoff – the export program – victory in the Standard Brands suit and birth of the insurance program."

Incoming president Wenger said that his prime objective is a stimulated member activity in NEMA. As a start, he will restructure the standing committees and name the following key committee chairmen to get the job done: Marketing, Paul Fisher; Long Range Planning, Al Wenger; Member Services, Hank Simpson; Finances, Vivian Ilomaki; Legislative, Tom Trone; Grain, Mike Hirth and American Egg Board liaison, W. Robert Park.

Photography course offered

KENNETT SQUARE - Richard Keen, staff photographer at Longwood Gardens, Kennett Square, and Joan Walter, Longwood's graphic artist, will discuss topics in "One Step Further in Photography," a Short Course to be given at Longwood on two Saturdays, November 4 and 18, from 9 a.m. to 4:30 p.m.

Basic information on camera and film selection and various professional photographic techniques will be covered. Participants will be encouraged to bring their work to the second session for display and discussion. Fee for the course is $30 for the two sessions, and includes two lunches in the Longwood Meetinghouse.

To register, one can send name, address and telephone number, along with a check or money order made payable to Longwood Gardens, Inc., to Short Courses, Longwood Gardens, Kennett Square, Pa. 19348.

Registrations are accepted as space permits until one week before the class begins. For further information telephone 215/388-6741, extension 516.

Butter making demonstrated

Mrs. Harry Breneman (left) and Anna Neal are experienced in the craft of butter making. They have been volunteering with the butter demonstration for the last eleven years at the Landis Valley Museum Harvest Days. They use three quarts of sweet cream to make two pounds of butter..

The length of time it takes to make the butter "depends upon the weather," according to Mrs. Breneman. "It takes us about ½ hour, but we can do it in 10 minutes if the weather's right." After it is removed from the churn, the butter is washed with clear, cold water until the water is no longer cloudy. They then work it with paddles and add salt. When it is the proper consistency, they mold the butter, but the women cautioned that butter molds must be wet, or the mold will not be successful. They usually soak the untensils overnight, and keep them immersed in water between batches of butter. For those who think butter only comes in the familiar quarters, seeing the lovely molded butter is an educational experience.

ABC's Yoder wins PAFC distinguished service award

GETYSBURG — The Pennsylvania Association of Farmer Cooperatives presented its highest award - The Distinguished Service Award - to David Yoder on Wednesday evening during a dinner held at the Sheraton Inn, here. Yoder is general manager of Atlantic Breeders Cooperative, Lancaster. Robert Kutil of Agway's southern division office at Harrisburg presented the award, a set of weather gauges.

David Yoder

Yoder is known nationally for his work in the artificial breeding industry, having served six years as director of the National Association of Animal Breeders, including two years as vice president and two more as president. He has been commended by Penn State University for his early work in establishing and developing the AI program in Pennsylvania.

Yoder's tenure of service with the Pennsylvania Association of Farmer Cooperatives is also long and valuable. He served on the board of directors from 1961 through 1972 and again in '77-78, including four years as vice president and two as president. He has served on several PAFC committees and is the organization's representative to the Farm Show Commission.

Yoder was cited for "being known for both consistency and persistency in his approach to the concerns which face our trade association." He was praised for having earned a high-level of credibility and integrity for leadership as an active participant who thinks, speaks, and acts in behalf of the goals and objectives of PAFC."

Angus heifer show planned for 1978

ST. JOSEPH, Mo. - Plans are underway for the seventh Eastern Regional Junior Angus Heifer Show, nicknamed the "Keystone Klassic", to be held June 30, 1979, at the county fairgrounds in York, Pennsylvania.

It is expected that nearly 300 heifers from over 20 states will be exhibited by junior Angus breeders. The show is an annual event for Angus breeders ages nine through 21 and is sponsored by the American Angus Association. This year it is being hosted by the Penn State and Junior Angus Associations.

An enthusiastic group of Pennsylvania Junior Angus Association members are working now to raise funds and plan activities for the show. They will man a booth at the Keystone International Livestock Exposition on November 4 to 8 to promote the event.

Cooperational and financial assistance from all phases of Pennsylvania agriculture will make Angus visitors welcome in the "Keystone State". Plan now to attend this exciting show and watch tomorrow's leaders of animal agriculture in action.

Couldn't Win

"Why did you leave your last job as a secretary to a leading psychiatrist?" the employment bureau official asked the young lady

"I couldn't win," she replied, "if I was late to work, he said I was hostile If I was early, I had an anxiety complex. If I was on time, I was compulsive "

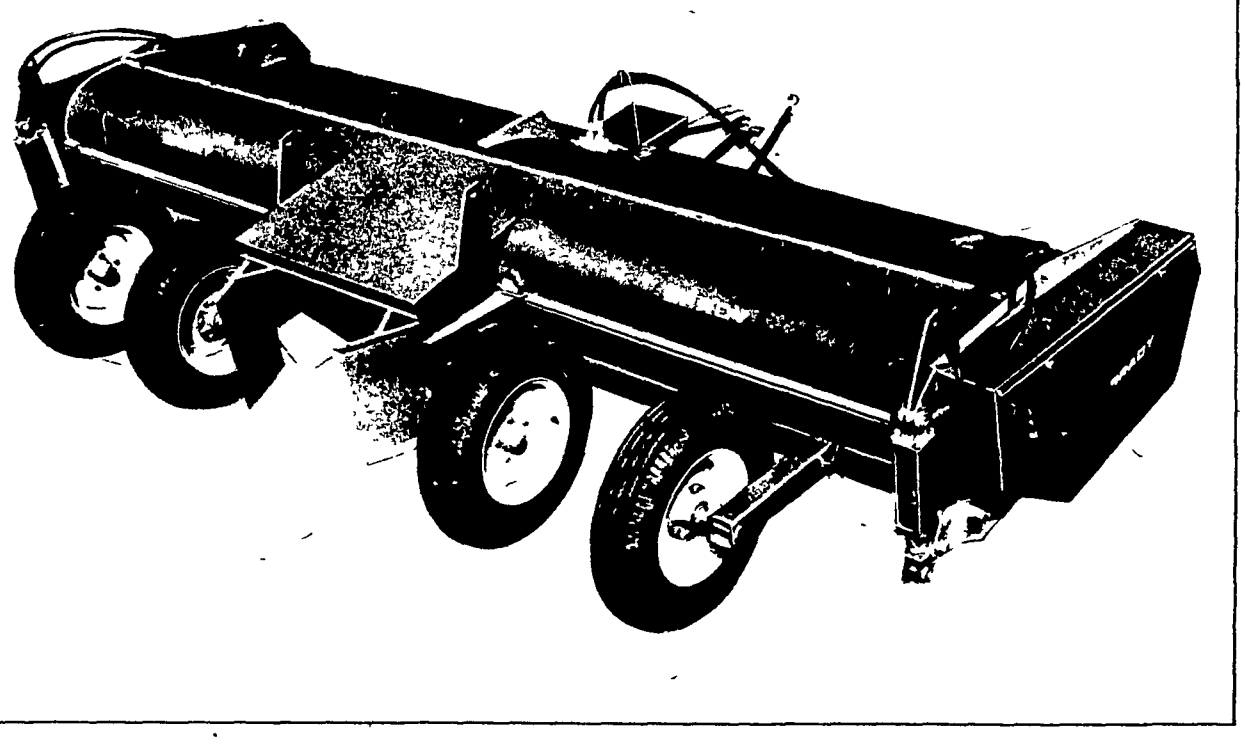
SEE THE NEW BRADY® 630 STOVER SAVER FLAIL WINDPOWER



THE BRADY 630 FLAIL WINDROWER — THE NEW LOW-COST WAY TO HARVEST STOVER, CORN OR MILO STALKS FOR VALUABLE CATTLE FEED OR BEDDING.

The Brady 630 Stover Saver Windrower cuts a 14-foot swath (six 30-inch rows or four 40-inch rows) and lays down a uniform windrow. Use your forage harvester, conventional baler, large round baler or stack wagon to pick up windrow for fast, high-capacity harvesting of corn or milo stalks.

Follow right behind the combine or other grain harvesting operation to put four wide or six narrow rows into a windrow. Pick it up with your forage harvester for a nutritious, ensilable feed for cows or a growing ration for young stock.

For fast harvesting of low-cost cattle feed or bedding, windrow the dry stalks and bale with your conventional baler or big round baler—or, make stacks over twice as fast with your stack wagon.

The P.T.O driven flails cut and lift the crop into the 14-inch diameter cross auger. The new, improved forward pitch flighting on the auger increases capacity, delivering the material to the center for discharge through the adjustable windrow-forming doors. The shape of the windrow can be controlled—a particularly important feature when using a large round baler.

Use the Brady 630 as a stalk shredder by merely opening the two hinged covers over the auger. The cut material is then discharged evenly onto the field from the rear of the machine rather than into a windrow. Shredded material improves crop residue decomposition and subsequent tillage operations.

Four wheels are standard equipment, adjustable for various row spacing, to float the unit over uneven ground. Operating height may be controlled hydraulically.

An End Transport Kit is available as extra equipment for easy transport down narrow roads.

A Grain Systems, Inc. bin is the basic component for on-farm storage under the most demanding conditions. GSI manufactures a complete line of on-farm storage bins and accessories for total grain control.

GSI heavy corrugated steel panels save time and labor in construction through efficient design and manufacturing at our own modern facility. With capacities ranging from 1,000 to 44,000 bushels and 15' to 48' diameters, GSI bins fill all your storage needs. GSI's high quality steel gives GSI bins 40,000 lbs. PSI tensile strength. Complete drying equipment is also available to meet your requirements.

Whether for temporary storage until harvest is completed or in combination with full drying equipment, GSI grain bins form the core of a total long term storage system.

GOOD NEWS!

Absolutely Free Checking Is Here!

Here's something to put a smile on your face . . . free checking! Not the kind where you'd have to leave a large sum of money in a savings account . . . or the kind that requires you even open a savings account. That's not really "free."

Our free checking IS . . . Which means you're "set free" from paying any per check charges, monthly charges or even keeping a minimum balance!

. . . Think about all the money you'll save every time you write a check!

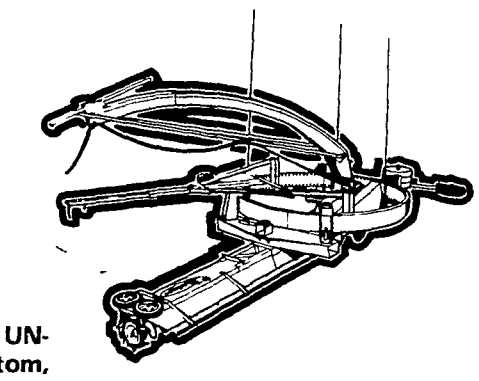
Enormous Appetite for Work.



THE BADGER POW-R-TRAC SILO UNLOADER unloads silage top to bottom, wall to wall! "Fast-feed" features include: rugged cupped paddles for lower horsepower requirements; heavy 3/16" auger flighting; 10" auger with full-length knives to unload all silage; special chipper wheel for removing frozen silage from wall.

The Pow-R-Trac can be pulled higher into the tripod than any other multiple-suspension ring-drive machine, giving you more storage capacity. Leveling the silage before feeding is never necessary.

FARMING IS BETTER WITH BADGER

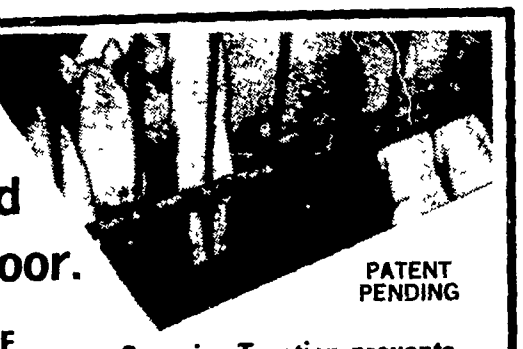
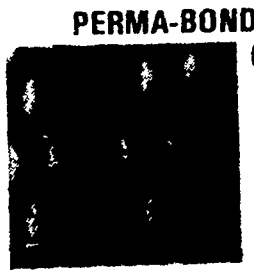
the Tough, Tested and Proven "pig-saver" floor.



PATENT PENDING

PERMA-BOND* KOMFY-KOTE CONSTRUCTION



A tough acid-resistant plastisol compound permanently bonded to a rugged steel mesh

*An exclusive bonding process developed by Tenderfoot

- Superior Traction prevents injuries and abrasions.
- Cushioned comfort reduces stress.
- Self-cleaning. No holes or crevices to harbor bacteria.

HOW LONG WILL THEY LAST?

First produced in 1975, Tenderfoot was tested in farrowing pens for 1½ years before being marketed. These original floors have been in constant use ever since WITH NO APPRECIABLE WEAR! Today's Tenderfoot floors have 6 advantages over the original pieces

1. 3 times more coating.
2. Tougher vinyl coating.
3. Extra-strength steel.
4. Treated to resist bacteria & fungi growth.
5. Improved Perma-Bond processing.
6. Strict quality control.

Constant research, development and quality control continues at the Tenderfoot factory and at the nearby 650-sow operation where the original 1975 Tenderfoot floors are still going strong

How long will a Tenderfoot last? No one knows. The very first ones produced have withstood heavy use since 1975 with no appreciable wear. The floors produced today are 6 ways better than the first ones. On the basis of these facts it seems safe to say that any concern over the durability of Tenderfoot flooring is unnecessary.

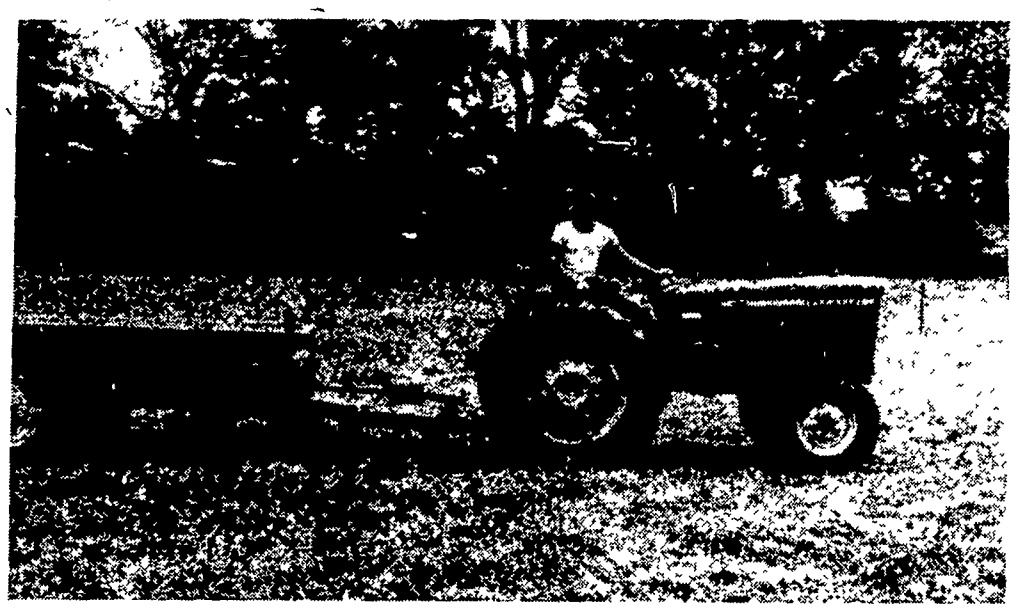
Forney wins tractor driving



Clyde Forney of the Cedar Crest FFA won the area tractor driving contest held October 12 at Blue Mountain High School. Clyde was competing against FFA members from Berks, Lebanon and Schuykill Counties. His first place finish entitles him to represent Cedar Crest in the State Tractor Driving Contest at Penn State next June.

Chester Co. 4-H Fair this weekend

WEST CHESTER – The Chester County 4-H Clubs are holding their 4-H Fall Fair October 21 and 22 at the Downingtown Farmer's Market on Rt. 30.

About twenty clubs have exhibits on display for the general public to view. The main objective of the Fair is to promote the Chester County 4-H program and "to let people know what 4-H is all about" said Jan Renner of the Chester County Extension service.

Exhibits feature dog obedience and grooming, butter making, cow milking, and heifer clipping. Also, sewing, silk screening, craft demonstrations and a rabbit demonstration.

Many different animals are there for children to pet.

There are over 1300 4-Hers in Chester County. A 4-H information booth is also set up at the Fair.

The Farmer's Market is providing the exhibit space along with donating $385 towards prizes for the best exhibits presented by the 4-Hers.

The Fair will be open Saturday, October 21 from 12 p.m. to 10 p.m. and Sunday October 22 from 12 p.m. to 5 p.m.

Ches.-Del. Grange meet

KIMBERTON - Agricultural committee chairman Charles Harris explained two bills to the Chester-Delaware Pomona Grange 3 members at their quarterly meeting, October 14 at the Kimberton Grange hall.

One of the bills was a state sponsored Agricultural Districts Bill which would keep agriculture land in farming and limit the power of eminent domain. The other was for federal legislation that would require a full disclosure of ownership of U.S. farm land. This Farm Investment Disclosure Bill has already been passed by the House.

Elaine Cook reviewed the required food handlers certification program. Chester County requires organizations and food businesses to have at least one member or employee complete a food handling course by December 31. Cook served as the Grange representative on the County Board of Health and is now the representative-at-large. Sally Pyle will serve as the new delegate to the Board.

William Buffington, lecturer, awarded 36 prizes to art and photography winners. Lois Steele, junior committee chairman, presented 21 awards in art, photography, and craft to the Junior Grange members.

Harry Davis, Oxford Grange, was installed as Master of Pomona 3 along with a new slate of officers.

Eight candidates were conferred to the Degree of Pomona.

Excellent field conditions reported

HARRISBURG - Farmers in the Commonwealth had an excellent week for fieldwork during the week ending October 16, according to the Pennsylvania Crop Reporting Service. Five days were suitable to field work with a sixth day suitable in the south. Temperatures were slightly lower than normal during the week.

Field activities included picking, shelling and drying corn, harvesting of apples and grapes, digging potatoes, making hay and combining soybeans along with the field tasks of plowing, filling silos, fertilizing and sowing barley and wheat.

Moisture levels changed very little and are rated at two-thirds adequate and one-third short statewide. Only a few localized areas in the north showed surplus moisture which inhibited some potato digging late in the week.

Corn for grain is now 59 per cent mature and 14 per cent harvested, only two per cent shy of last year's 16 per cent harvested by this date. The north has nine per cent harvested, central counties report 16 per cent with the south at one-fifth done. Lodging from borer damage is more of a problem than usual in the north. At 82 per cent cut, ensilage is two per cent ahead of last year. Northern and central areas are 81 per cent done with the south at 84 per cent.

Potato digging at 85 per cent complete is three per cent ahead of last year. The north is at 84 per cent, central counties report 83 per cent with the south at 89 per cent. Some digging in the north near the end of the week was held off by rain.

Wheat planting at 81 per cent is five per cent ahead of a year ago. Northern counties are 88 per cent sown, the central area reports 83 per cent with the south at 77 per cent. Barley sowing has reached 95 per cent compared to 93 per cent in 1977. All three areas report 95 per cent sown. Both growth and germination have already been slowed by inadequate moisture, but the condition of barley looks good.

Plowing has caught up to last year at 90 per cent complete. The north is 92 per cent done, central counties show 93 per cent with 86 per cent in the south for intended acreage to be plowed this Fall.

Soybean combining has been slow with less than one-fifth completed. Dry down is accelerating with active combining expected soon.

The third cutting of alfalfa hay is 87 per cent complete. A fourth cutting has been made on 54 per cent compared to 58 per cent last year. Quality is mostly fair to good with much now going for silage. Pastures continue to provide an average amount of feed for this time of year. New alfalfa hay stands are quite good.

Some late cabbage is still being cut. Apple harvest is in full swing with size and color reportedly good. Some scab is reported.

Snowmobile show held

The Annville-Cleona FFA sponsored a snowmobile show October 12 thru 14 at the Lebanon Valley Mall. Run by the club's safety committee, the show included a driver safety course in which 30 people enrolled.

All makes manufactured were on display, with six dealers in the area participating. Seen in the picture are Kerry Morton, chairman of the snowmobile show; Mike Fair, chairman of the safety committee, and the Lebanon Co. Dairy princess, Connie McFeaters.

Advisor for the group is Lowell Morton.

NCA urges President to sign import amendments

DENVER, Colo. – The National Cattlemen's Assn. is strongly urging President Carter to sign legislation designed to improve and strengthen the Meat Import Act of 1964.

Most of the provisions – including a counter-cyclical import quota formula and limits on the President's authority to suspend quotas – meat objectives which have long been sought by NCA and the beef cattle industry, according to Richard McDougal, president of NCA. After the House completed action Oct. 13, the NCA executive committee voted to seek final enactment of the amendments. The Senate subsequently (on Oct. 15) voted to accept HR 11545.

Because Congress was near adjournment as the House acted, there was not time for a conference which would have included consideration of Senate-passed amendments. However, McDougal noted, the bill as finally passed by the House (on a vote of 289 to 66) and by the Senate (by voice vote) does include certain provisions of the Senate's previous Bentsen bill.

The Administration previously voiced opposition to parts of HR 11545 and sought in both houses to prevent its passage. However, NCA indicated, the large Congressional majorities in favor of the bill should help convince President Carter of the basic value of the legislation to consumers as well as the cattle industry.

As outlined by McDougal, principal provisions of HR 11545 include:

1. Limits on the President's authority to suspend or increase quotas. This means the president could not act arbitrarily, as was done in June, 1978, to increase imports. He could increase or decrease imports by up to 10% only if there were certain cattle-retail price relationships. Also, suspension of or an increase in quotas would not be permitted except in case of national emergency or natural disaster. If a counter-cyclical formula is to benefit both producers and consumers, it must be applied at both extremes of the cattle cycle. The new formula would do away with any need to suspend quotas, except under extreme circumstances.

2. A counter-cyclical formula for determination of import quotas. Quotas would be in inverse proportion to domestic beef production – increasing in times of decreasing domestic output and decreasing in times of surplus. The formula is tied to domestic cow beef output – the best indicator of the economic condition of the industry and the stage of the cattle cycle.

3. Inclusion of all forms of fresh, chilled or frozen beef under the law. This change would prevent the kind of circumvention which occurred in 1976, when beef was superficially processed in foreign trade zones and brought into the U.S. outside the quotas. The new provision is of great long range significance and importance. This is because U.S. fast food and other trends could lead to more pre-processing of imported beef into patties, for example – thereby circumventing the law were it not for the new amendment.

4. Imported cattle which are slaughtered in the U.S. would not be counted as part of domestic meat production for purposes of calculating import quotas. (Import quotas are related to volume of domestic beef output.) This amendment is in line with the basic purposes of the act.

The original House bill included a provision to terminate the Meat Import Act in 1988, but NCA was successful in getting this "sunset" provision eliminated. An import floor of 1,200 million lbs. (opposed by NCA as not in line with the counter-cyclical approach) remains in the bill, but this floor, it was noted, still is less than recent restraint totals (even prior to the President's 1978 increase).

McDougal said benefits of the new legislation include:

(a) It provides more long-term stability for the beef cattle industry, making supplies and prices more stable and predictable.

(b) Assures consumers a more stable supply of beef at reasonable prices, while still assuring cattlemen a better opportunity for profits.

(c) Eliminates the threat of strictly political changes in imports, thereby avoiding devastating psychological impacts on the market.

(d) Prevents circumvention of the law by U.S. meat importing interests and exporting nations, and assures that the law is administered in line with the intent of Congress.

(e) Ends periodic political pressures applied to Congress and the Administration, by different elements of the economy and society, at different times during the 10-year cattle cycle.

"This means," McDougal said, "that cattlemen can go about the business of producing and marketing beef as efficiently and economically as possible, and they need not be concerned about unpredictable changes in imports. It means getting the beef business out of the political arena to a greater extend and putting it back into a more basic supply-demand, free market environment.

"We are urging President Carter to recognize that this legislation is in the best interests of both our industry and the public, and to sign it into law. He has said he wants the least possible government interference with the U.S. free market system. This legislation can help achieve that goal.

"As it is now, during times of low cattle prices, some cattlemen push for tighter import controls. During times of high prices, some consumers and politicians push for unlimited imports. In the long run, reaction to these kinds of pressures benefits no one; it only compounds cycle-caused problems.

"The public as well as cattlemen would be benefited by the amendments because smaller imports when domestic supplies were excessive would reduce the extent of herd liquidation, would keep beef supplies from decreasing so much in subsequent years, and would keep prices from rising so sharply. Increased imports when domestic supplies were decreasing would moderate the cyclical trends also. For cattlemen, the changes would keep prices from going so low cyclically during liquidation periods, enabling more cattlemen to stay in business and keep up with cost inflation. We all would be better off if the roller coaster swings of the market were a lot less violent."

Clad in overalls which got splattered by water, dust, and mud, Cloister FFA Chapter's newest members are all smiles after having survived their ordeal.

Freshman FFA members initiated at Ephrata

EPHRATA — Thirty-five freshmen at Ephrata Area High School were initiated into the Future Farmers of America organizatin on Monday evening. As with most initiations, the newcomers had to go through a variety of rituals which caused laughter and fun for upperclassmen and parents. The ceremonies took place on stage at the high school.

While the initiation was a major portion of the program, time was also allowed for factual information about vocational agriculture and FFA programs at the Cloister Chapter. The Cloister FFA Chapter rates as one of the best and most accomplished in Pennsylvania. Various national awards and contests have also been won by the Chapter.

Lew Ayres, head of the vocational agriculture department at Ephrata, narrated a slide program in which students were shown at activities ranging from welding and tractor maintenance to gardening and animal care. Boasting one of the most complete instructional programs anywhere, vocational agriculture education at Ephrata stresses both classroom and practical teaching methods. Students spend many hours in shops, gardens, barns, fields, and forests. Record-keeping is also given heavy emphasis.

Aside from Ayres, vocational agriculture teachers at Ephrata are Ernest Orr, Charles Ackley and Carl Graybill.

The 35 students who were inducted into the FFA on Monday were:

Jon Bowman, son of Mr.and Mrs. Melvin Bowman, Ephrata; Tim Duffy, son of Mr, and Mrs. Thomas Duffy, Stevens; Ben Engle, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ben Engle, Stevens; Terry Gockley, son of Mr. and Mrs, Lloyd Gockley, Denver; Kevin Good, son of Mr. and Mrs. David L. Good, Ephrata; Rick Good, son of Mr, and Mrs. Lloyd M. Good, Stevens; Harold Haldeman, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Haldeman, Ephrata; Jim Hook, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Hook, Ephrata.

Joe Howe, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Howe, Denver; Brain King, son of Mr., and Mrs. John Y. King, Lititz; Donald Landis, son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Landis, Stevens; Robert Lithgow, son of Mr. and Mrs. A.H. Lithgow, Ephrata; Daniel Lynch, son of Mr. and Mrs. Claude Lynch, Stevens; Daryl Martin, son of Mr and Mrs. Earl Martin, Ephrata; Jay Martin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Martin, Ephrata; Kevin McElhenney, son of Mr. and Mrs. Colburn McElhenney, Akron.

Steve Moyer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harld Moyer, Reinholds; Charles Mull, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Mull; Mike Pfautz, so of Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Pfautz; Scott Root, Mr. and Mrs. James Root, Ephrata; Sue Royer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Larry Royer, Denver.

Galen Sauder, son of Mr. and Mrs. Christ Sauder, Ephrata; Daniel Schaeffer, son of Mr, and Mrs. Richard Schaeffer, Ephrata; Scott Sensenig, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Sensenig, Ephrata; Everett Shaver, son of Mr. and Mrs. Everett Shaver, Ephrata; Jack Smith, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Smith, Ephrata; Jeff Smith, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Smith, Denver; Steve Smith, son of Mr, and Mrs, Stanley Smith, Denver; Ronald Warner, son of Mr, and Mrs. Robert Warner, Ephrata; Fred Wealand, son f Mr., and Mrs. Richard Wealand, Ephrata.

Bruce Weaver, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Weaver, Ephrata; Clifford Weaver, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Paul Weaver, Ephrata; Roy Weaver, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Weaver, Denver; and Robert Zwally, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Zwally, Akron.

WHAT'S NEW

GRAIN BIN ASSEMBLY

A new method of manufacturing grain bins could revolutionize the industry according to officials at Lipp System USA in Schiller Park, Illinois. Bins are being built in record numbers this year for on-farm and other storage.

Developed in West Germany in 1969, the Lipp concept was brought to the United States in 1974 through DeMuth Steel Products Company as a licensee for agricultural applications.

The concept itself is unique, since the grain bin is custom built quickly at the site. Coils of Armco aluminized steel are placed on the pay-out reel and fed into the machine as a continuous strip. The Lipp machine forms the edge bonds, curves the panels to the diameter of the bin, and joins adjacent panels with a patented double lock seam.

The seam represents a strong external stiffening rib for maximum rigidity so that gauge for gauge, Lipp storage structures are able to withstand horizontal loads greater than that of conventional bolted bins.

Fabricated in metal thicknesses from 7 to 18 gauge, these structures are smooth-walled, no-bolt aluminized steel construction. The aluminized steel is used because of its proven record of atmospheric corrosion resistance. Its coating outlasts that of unpainted galvanized steel more than five to one.

DeMuth executives say they have had inquiries to use the Lipp bin for everything from storing apple juice to contained salmon breeding tanks as well as the more common storage requirements like grain, liquid manure and high moisture grain.

For more information on the system, contact Lipp System Midwest, 1000 Spruce Street, Terre Haute, Indiana 47807. (812) 238-2966.

Berks County Farm Women held 27th annual convention

LEESPORT - More than 185 women gathered at the Berks County Agricultural Center, here, on Saturday to attend the 27th annual convention of the Berks County Society of Farm Women.

Following a brief business meeting and the election of new county officers Teresa Wolfskill, Berks County Dairy Princees addressed the large group. Teresa told the women that she has traveled over 1000 miles already and hopes to visit over 1000 school children during her reign, and Faye Strickler, Extension home economist told the group of upcoming events.

Also addressing the farm women was George Meiser, a ninth grade teacher at the Wyomissing Area Middle School. Meiser showed slides and gave a presentation of the many historical sites of Berks County.

Elected for the new term were: President-Darlene Yost, Bernville; Vice-President-Verna Taylor, Boyertown; and Secretary-Cindy Hetrick, Oley.

Adams County cattlemen choose new officers

FAIRFIELD - Newly elected president of the Adams County Beef Producers Association is Leo Spenla, Fairfield R1, who with his wife, Joyce, has a commercial herd, and has been active in the Association since its inception.

Other Officers are: vice president, Paul Heffner, Biglerville; treasurer, Don Lott, Gettysburg; and secretary, Rebecca Darcey, Fairfield. The new director-at-large is Frank Darcey III, Fairfield, while the new publicity director is Faith Peterson, Abbottstown.

In other business at the recent meeting, final plans were made for the third Freedom of Choice Calf Sale to be held at South Mountain Fairgrounds, Arendtsville. The graded calves will be sold starting at 6 p.m., and the public is invited.

The Association has purchased a trophy for presentation to the owner of the reserve champion steer at the York-Adams 4-H Beef Show and Sale which will be held in Thomasville on October 25th.

A report was given on the plans for the third annual Beef Ball to be held on Saturday, February 17, 1979 at Schottie's Restaurant in Littlestown. The Beef Ball, includes a Parade of Bulls. Persons interested in obtaining ticket information may call Faith Peterson at 259-0250, or Rebecca Darcey at 334-1903.

GET A FREE ESTIMATE ON A SLURRYSTORE.

Make manure pay.

Manure isn't waste. It's a valuable resource for N, P & K. Hauling manure every day is not only an offensive job, but inefficient use of your time and the nutrients in manure.

It's a better idea to store manure in volume and mix it into the soil where nutrients won't be wasted. The Slurrystore system makes it possible for you to make the maximum use of manure, labor and equipment.

At the same time, your Slurrystore system will be working as a hedge against rising fertilizer costs, inadequate supplies or delivery problems.

Big problem solver.

It's a fact of life on the farm. Where there's livestock, there's manure — and problems. Think of the time you spend collecting and removing manure.

Then, think of the money. The labor. The equipment. The fuel. It adds up in a hurry.

Pollution is another hazard. Sometimes bad weather or busy-season jobs interfere with manure handling chores. The risk of runoff, water pollution and other contamination is great.

The Slurrystore system can help you avoid these problems...and more.

Better than pits.

You can get more storage per dollar spent on a Slurrystore system than with a deep pit. Compare construction costs and see for yourself.

An added benefit is a more pleasant atmosphere for confined livestock without the sickening, foul-smelling odor of ammonia sometimes given off by pits. The Slurrystore system periodically removes wastes into a reception pit or directly into storage. Livestock breathe fresher, cleaner air. Fly problems are reduced, too.

And makes pits better, too.
If you already own a confinement building, with a pit under the slats, the Slurrystore system is a good way for you to improve. You can greatly increase your storage capacity and add all the benefits of the Slurrystore system to your current manure handling operation.

Apply in volume.

You know how it is. Bad weather can make manure handling a real pain — and no one likes to be locked into a bad job every day. It's a nice thing about owning a Slurrystore system. You handle manure in volume so you can haul it at your convenience.

Slurrystore system big-volume field application tanks load quickly and allow you to mix large volumes of manure into your soil in the shortest possible number of working hours. Your management time is your farm's most valuable resource. The Slurrystore system is made to take as little of your time as possible. You have better things to do than to worry about manure handling. With the Slurrystore system, you won't.

WITH OUR LEASING PLAN YOU CAN TAKE ADVANTAGE OF TAX BENEFITS THROUGH LOWER INTEREST RATES - AS LOW AS 7%!

Apple butter making is both fun and work

By SALLY BAIR
STAFF WRITER

"It's fun in a group, but to do it yourself is a lot of work." Mrs. Daniel Brubaker, Ephrata R1, was referring to making apple butter, and anyone who has had a hand in making it can surely agree.

Mrs. Brubaker was enjoying herself, and so were members of her Lancaster County Farm Women Society 1, as they prepared apples, cooked the butter and spread it on homemade bread to the delight of the many people who stopped by their area at Landis Valley Farm Museum's Harvest Days held recently.

Farm Women Society 1 has been making apple butter at Harvest days ever since the event started, about 19 years ago, and prior to that they made "lattwaerrig" in the park in Lititz.

The apple butter demonstration has become one of the main attractions of Harvest Days, and it is certainly one of the best tasting enterprises going on. There is no lack of customers for the dark, delicious apple butter served on top of cottage cheese on a thick slice of homemade bread. Some of the uninitiated, from places other than Lancaster County, need to be persuaded, but once they taste it they thoroughly enjoy it.

The Society members cook one batch of apple butter each of the two days of "Harvest Days," and it takes a lot of help to keep the process going. Apple peelers begin about 8:30 a.m. on Saturday and they finish peeling the last of the six bushels of apples required for the two batches around lunchtime. Meanwhile the cider is already cooking in the huge copper kettle over an open fire.

Peeling six bushels of apples is no small job, and many members spend part of the day with their dishpan and favorite paring knife preparing the apples for the butter.

Willis Bucher anchors the stirrer while his youthful helpers get some experience in the art of making apple butter.

It takes several people to keep the customers satisfied as they come to purchase the slices of bread generously spread with apple butter. Seen working, from left to right are Mrs. Roy Brubaker, Nancy Hershey, a museum staff volunteer, and Molly Emenheiser.

Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Brubaker, who once supplied all the apples for the apple butter making from their Sunnyside Orchards, took time from their work to discuss how apple butter is made. According to Daniel, the very first step is to wash the copper kettle with vinegar. When questioned why, he said, "Because the old folks did and we continue it."

Next they put 18 gallons of apple cider (which was made earlier in the week) and boil it down to half the amount. Six 12-quart buckets of apples are added next. They are added slowly, and Daniel remarked, "Sometimes it gets wild when you add the apples, so you have to keep a tablespoon of butter in reserve." The butter keeps it from boiling over.

Once the apples are in, Mrs. Brubaker pointed out that it is necessary to start stirring, and the mixture must be stirred continuously until is finished to prevent sticking.

The stirring is very important. "It never sticks if you keep stirring," Mrs. Brubaker said. It is also a tiring job, but Brubaker pinted out, "We have volunteers for stirring." Indeed, there were several groups of young people present who had tried their hand at stirring. There were at least four adult men who also took regular turns to make sure the process was continuous.

The apples are cooked, Mrs. Brubaker said, "until they are all cooked up," and the 30 pounds of sugar are added. They add no spices to their apple butter.

What kind of apples make the best apple butter? Brubaker says it is "good to blend, and we use what is ripe at the time we have to make it." He said Golden Pipin is a very good cooking apple as is Rhode Island Greening.

Smokehouse and Baldwin are other good varieties for apple butter. This year the Society used MacIntosh, because that's what was available. Brubaker mentioned that seconds are perfectly acceptable, and many of the apples they used were ones which didn't make it through the grader because of color variations.

The amount of time it takes to produce apple butter depends upon the weather conditions, Mrs. Brubaker said. "Sometimes it boils better." She recalled that one year it rained so hard the stirrers had to stand under a tent, with the kettle outside. "It got rained in and we had to boil longer," she says with a laugh.

Usually, if they get the cider cooking by 9 a.m. the product will be finished around 3 or 3:30 p.m. But before it is removed from the fire, Mrs. Brubaker explains that it must be tested. "We put it on a plate and if water is around the dab on the plate it is not done and must be cooked some more."

When it is judged finished, the contents of the copper kettle are emptied into agate containers, roasters and dishpans, and they begin canning the apple butter in the pint jars for sale.

The final job in the apple butter making process, according to Brubaker, is to clean the copper kettle. The job is "not bad," if it is undertaken immediately, but occasionally a metal sponge is needed to clean off the dried film which cooks on just above the line of the apple butter.

It's quite evident that while the work is steady, especially during the apple peeling, the chatting is just as steady. Their Harvest Days project provides Society members with a good opportunity to get caught up on personal news.

Mrs. Noah Kreider has been helping to peel apples at Landis Valley for 10 years. She says, "Oh, sure, I enjoy it. It is a little cool today." Marian Fuhrman, a relative newcomer, with just three years' experience at the Fall event, says, "I enjoy it very much. The Farm Women group is a good wholesome group, and we can sit and chat and learn about our activities and our grandchildren.""I love it, it," is the way Mrs. Roy Brubaker puts it as she continues her work of spreading the cottage cheese and apple butter.

Mrs. Willis Bucher, who with her husband had been helping since the very first time the group made apple butter at Landis Valley, had brought along her antique apple peeler. The little machine fascinated visitors who saw it in operation, with the long peel falling effortlessly from the apple.

There was recollection that in earlier days the apple butter was cooked to a much thicker consistency, then stored in the attic in crocks covered with newspaper. When it was needed on the table, it was thinned.

As the women chatted amiably, their fingers worked fast even though the cool weather made them stiff. As the containers filled someone would remove the full ones and replace them with empty ones, and the women took time to stretch their legs only when it was time to refill their dishpans with apples. Slowly the six bushels of apples swindled, and the buckets of peeled apples grew.

HOMESTEAD NOTES

Mrs. Willis Bucher, Lititz R1, demonstrates how her antique apple peeler works.

Shortly after noon, the "peelers" were finished with their job, and after taking time for some hot soup and pie, offered their help with spreading bread for the customers. Many of the Farm Women members had garbed themselves in colonial costumes which added a bright touch to their enterprise.

Since the women sell apple butter in jars and on bread from the time Harvest Days opens around noon, they must purchase some to get started. After the first batch is done, however, they sell their own product. They also offer refreshing apple cider for sale.

Mrs. Brubaker admits to having feelings of "dread" each year before starting the project, but added, "After it's done I'm glad we did it."

Since the musuem pays for the materials and receives the profits from the stand, the project is simply one of a community service for Farm Women Society 1. It is obviously a day of fellowship for Soceity members and many spouses, and it gives them the enjoyment of teaching the visitors how things once were done.

Ladies Have You Heard?

By Doris Thomas

Lancaster Home Economist

THE KITCHEN ESSENTIAL

As the hot summer days become only a memory, and the crisp, cool autumn weather arrives, menu planning turns to heartier fare. And potatoes fill the bill perfectly.

The potato is one of the unsung heroes of the kitchen. It is nutritious, satisfyingly filling, and flexible enough to be combined with an infinite variety of other foods. There is no better time than the present to try potatoes in old and new ways because, they are now in plentiful supply.

Baked potatoes are the perfect accompaniment to any main dish. And be sure to eat the skin because a good proportion of the nutrients are in or near the skin. Serve with butter or sour cream or, if you are watching your weight, yogurt, or cottage cheese. If you really love French fries but want to save on calories, fool your tastebuds with this simple recipe. Cut a baking potato into strips the size of French fries, place them on a greased cookie sheet in one layer, and bake for 45 minutes in a 350°F. oven. Each piece will develop a brownish crust that is as crunchy as French fries but much lower in calories. Toss with salt, pepper and a little melted butter just before serving.

To store potatoes as long as possible, keep them in a cool, dark place. Do not store them in your refrigerator because the starch will change to sugar, and you will not like the taste.

Potatoes can be the star of any meal, if you use them in interesting ways. Try this main dish along with a salad and dessert for a hearty lunch or light supper.

Potato Cheese Puff

3 egg yolks, beaten
¼ cup milk
3 cups mashed, seasoned potatoes
1 teaspoon grated onion
1 tablespoon chopped parsley
2 cups Cheddar cheese, coarsely shredded
3 egg whites, beaten stiffly

Combine egg yolks and milk. Add remaining ingredients, except for the egg whites; beat well. Fold egg whites into mixture. Bake in a greased 2-quart baking dish, in a 375°F. oven, for 40 to 45 minutes, or until a knife inserted in the center comes out clean and the top is browned. Serve immediately. Yield: 6 servings, about 1 cup each.

ADAM'S DOWNFALL

No wonder Adam was brought to heel by an apple. Clever lady, Eve. She knew he would never be able to resist tasting the crisp, colorful fruit she offered so tantalizingly.

Although the apple brought Adam to grief, it can only bring pleasure to you and your family, as it can be used in a variety to ways to perk up meals. This fall is the perfect time to try new methods of using apples in your meals, as well as familiar favorites, because apples are in heavy seasonal supply.

Apples also have good nutritional value, as they are high in potassium, and have fair amounts of calcium, phosphorous, and Vitamin C, as well.

In addition to eating them out of hand, use them for a simple dessert by serving them with cheese. As an accompaniment to chicken, ham, or pork dishes, make fried apple rings. Peel and core the apples, cut into half-inch slices, and saute into butter. Turn once. Cook them quickly so they won't get soggy or lose their shape.

For desserts, the apple's value is infinite. Now is the time to try apple pies, tarts, charlottes with apricot jam and fruit breads. For breakfast, try them in muffins or pancakes.

During the coming cold evenings, hot apple cider, served in mugs with cinnamon sticks will warm you up quickly. If you are getting bored with your usual morning juices, try apple juice for breakfast. And, don't forget to have plenty of apples on hand when the neighborhood children come trick-or-treating for Halloween.

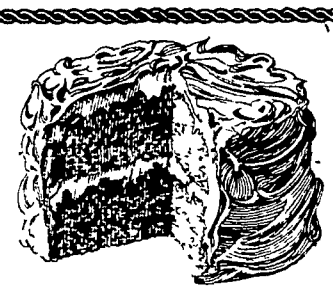
Home on the Range



The pumpkin pleases practically all appetites

It's pumpkin time, and as most cooks know, that means more than a group of Jack-o-Lanterns setting outside front doors. This week's Home on the Range features pumpkin recipes that vary from pumpkin bread to cookies.

Don't forget to check over the recipe themes seen in the Home on the Range column, and send your contribution in. Send your recipes to Home on the Range, Lancaster Farming, Box 366, Lititz, Pa. 17543.

PUMPKIN PIE CAKE

1 box yellow cake mix (remove one cup for top)
1 stick margarine, melted

Filling

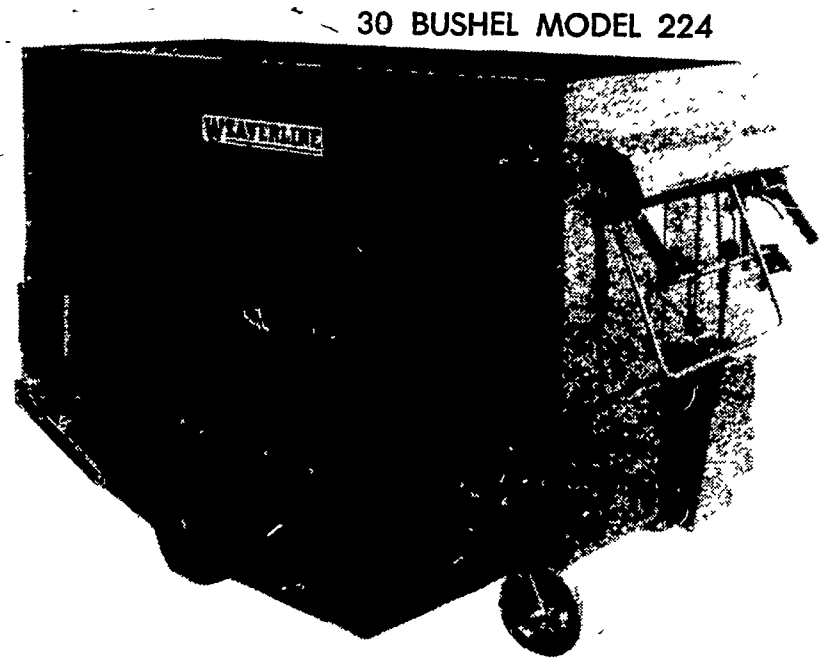
WEAVERLINE BATTERY POWERED CARTS

TWO SIZES: 24 BUSHEL MODEL 223
30 BUSHEL MODEL 224



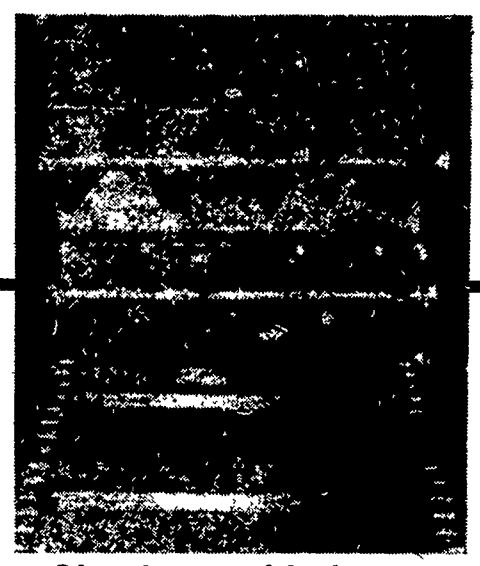
FEED SILAGE EASIER . . . FASTER

Weaverline's self-propelled self-unloading feed carts save half the time of manual feeding. Choose the big Model 224, 30 bushel cart for big barns. Tight corners? Choose the compact Model 223, 24 bushel cart. Both Models are only 33" wide to fit thru most any doorway. Because Weaverline takes the electric route, you get the job done quietly, without noxious fumes.

Go Weaverline for safety reasons too! Cart stops instantly if operator lets go of traction clutch . . . or if cart bumps against him in reverse travel. Sturdy bumper protects cart from damaging impacts.

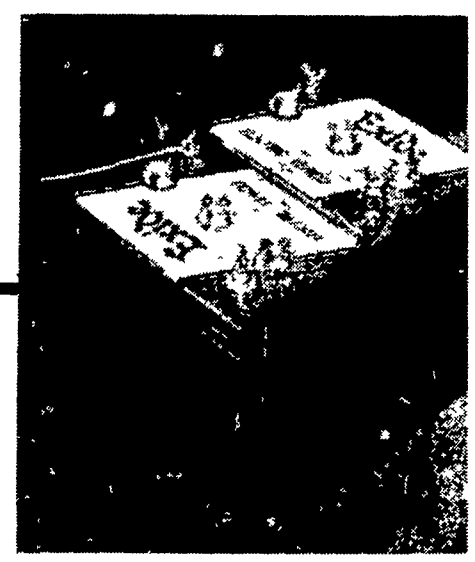
6-speed control for the flow you want

Fingertip control rod at right handle has 8 positions—for starting augers and beaters and for 6 different control speeds. The Cart features high-low shift for both forward and reverse travel. U-Bar is the traction clutch; pull and cart goes, release and it stops. Knob at center activates augers.



Simple, trouble-free feeding action

Three upper augers serve as beaters to keep silage from bridging and assure steady downward movement. Bottom auger is the feeder, forcing silage out to the left and into the manger. Delivery chain and crossbars push the silage forward into the augers.



Easy servicing with roll-out power pack

View shows two of four 6-volt batteries mounted in an easy-access drawer. Slides to the right for servicing batteries shown . . . . then out the opposite side for servicing the other two. A special plug receptacle is located at the base of the control box in rear of cart—right where you want it for convenient recharging of the power pack between feedings.

Long Creek Farm
Sistersville, W. Va.

CHOCO—DOT PUMPKIN CAKE

4 eggs
2 cups pumpkin
1 cup vegetable oil
1½ cup bran flakes
2 cups flour
2 teaspoons baking powder
1 teaspoon baking soda
½ teaspoon salt
1½ teaspoon cinnamon
½ teaspoon ground cloves
¼ teaspoon allspice
¼ ginger
2 cups granulated sugar
6 ounces chocolate chips
1 cup course nuts

In large mixing bowl, beat eggs until foamy, add pumpkin, oil, and bran flakes; mix well, then add dry ingredients, mixing only until combined. Last, add chocolate chips and nuts. Spread evenly in ungreased tube pan, bake at 350 Degrees F. about one hour and 10 minutes. Cool completely before removing from pan.

Mrs. Glenn Fetrow
Dover, Pa.

PUMPKIN NUT BREAD

1 cup all purpose flour
2 cups whole wheat flour
1 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon baking soda
1 teaspoon baking powder
½ teaspoon cinnamon
½ teaspoon ginger
½ teaspoon nutmeg
4 eggs
2 cups granulated sugar
2 cups steamed strained pumpkin
1¼ cups melted butter
1 cup chopped nuts

Preheat oven to 350 Degrees F. Sift flour, salt, baking soda, baking powder, and spices together three times. Beat the eggs until thick, adding the sugar gradually as you beat. Whip in the pumpkin, then the melted butter. Beat in the dry ingredients and mix well. Fold in the nuts. Pour into two buttered and floured bread pans. Bake for one hour or until a toothpick comes out clean. Makes two loaves.

Mrs. Carl S. Bacon
Felton, Pa.

PUMPKIN SQUARES

1 cup flour
½ cup brown sugar
½ cup rolled oats
½ cup butter
2 cups pumpkin
1½ cups top milk
2 eggs
1 cup granulated sugar
1 teaspoon cinnamon
½ teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon ginger
½ teaspoon cloves

Topping

½ cup chopped pecans
½ cup brown sugar
2 tablespoons butter

Mix flour, rolled oats, sugar, and butter together until crumbly and press into an ungreased 9 x 13 inch pan. Bake for 15 minutes at 350 Degrees F.

Meanwhile combine pumpkin, top milk, eggs, sugaar, cinnamon, salt, ginger, and cloves. Mix and pour into crust. Bake for 20 minutes at 350 Degress F. Combine chopped pecans, brown sugar, and butter. Sprinkle over filling and return to oven for 15 to 20 minutes, until the dessert is set. Cool in pan and cut into squares.

Mrs. Harold Moore
Franklin, Pa.

PUMPKIN NUT WAFFLES

2½ cups cake flour (sifted)
4 teaspoons baking powder
¾ teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon ground cinnamon
3 eggs, separated
1¾ cup milk
½ cup shortening, melted
½ cup canned pumpkin
1 cup chopped nuts

Sift together the dry ingredients. Beat egg yolks and combine with milk, shortening, and pumpkin. Add to dry ingredients. Next beat egg whites until stiff. Fold into batter. Pour onto hot waffle iron. Sprinkle with a little chipped nuts and bake until done. Makes eight waffles. Top with fruit preserves or syrup and butter if desired.

Mrs. Eva S. Rubinosky
Upper Gwynedd, Pa.

PUMPKIN BREAD

2 cups pumpkin
4 eggs
3 cups sugar, may be part brown and part granulated
1 cup salad oil
3½ cups flour
2 teaspoons baking soda
1½ teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon cinnamon
1 teaspoon nutmeg
⅔ cup water

Mix together pumpkin, egg, sugar, and salad oil. Sift together flour, baking soda, salt, cinnamon, and nutmeg. Add dry ingredients to pumpkin mixture alternately with ⅔ cup of water. Bake at 350 Degrees F. for about 45 minutes for four small loves or approximately 70 minutes for one large loaf. Nuts andor raisins may be added when the dry ingredients are added to the pumpkin mixture. This changes the taste and texture for a little variety. The bread freezes well.

Doris Moore
Fawn Grove, Pa.

PUMPKIN COCONUT CUSTARD

2 cups well drained pumpkin
2 or 3 well beaten egg whites
2 tablespoons flour
1 cup milk
½ teaspoon milk
1 cup coconut
½ cup granulated sugar
additional ½ cup coconut for on top of custard

Heat milk to lukewarm. Beat egg whites until stiff and set aside. Combine sugar, salt, flour, pumpkin, and coconut. Add to the warmed milk. Gradually fold in beaten egg whites. Pour into glass dish, put ½ cup coconut on top. Bake at 325 Degrees F. for one hour or until knife inserted in center comes out clean.

On being a farm wife

—And other hazards

By JOYCE BUPP

If I read one more headline, or hear one more radio or television report, on the "high" cost of food, I'm going to scream!

When did you last hear a gripe about the cost of cigarettes? Of booze? Of soft drinks? Of eating out?

Never mind that Americans still use less of their spendable income for the table than any other nation in the world. Never mind that we eat well while maintaining the highest standard of luxury living in the world. Never mind that recently in Japan, cantaloupes were selling for $50 each, beef for $35 per pound, coffee for $2 per cup and watermelons at $5 each. Never mind that other costs of living, electricity, gas, medical care, insurance, clothing, cars, have climbed even more rapidly.

But, here's a suggestion for those who continue beating the drum about the cost of food.

Every homeowner, every condominium dweller, every apartment renter can now raise, under his own roof, an inexpensive, 72% protein food source.

Worms.

Stop laughing. Worm farming has become one of the fastest growing hobbies around, and is becoming recognized as a developing industry. Mid-Atlantic worm growers are even considering forming a marketing cooperative.

And the high-protein, low-cholesterol crawlies feed and grow on such relatively useless materials as paper mill waste, garbage and sewage sludge. In the process, they create tons of castings, which are just about the best soil improver imaginable.

Two years ago, I first read of the worm-cooking contest. The winner perfected a cake recipe, using worms as an ingredient, and decorating the top icing with a nut-like sprinkling of dried worms. Sounds tasty, huh?

Just think of the potential foods: worm pizza, wormburgers, wormloaf, worm chops, spaghetti with wormballs, even worm crispin's for accenting tossed salads.

Someone might even open a fast food franchise chain. They could call it.....let's see.....McWorms?

I was setting the table for lunch today, when the farmer showed up, announcing that he had brought me a surprise. Reaching into his sweatshirt pocket, he produced the biggest, fattest, juiciest-looking wiggling earthworm I've ever laid eyes on.

"I brought you lunch," he grinned, with a nasty sparkle in his blue eyes.

Anyone want to join me on my crash diet?

Play space vital for children

NEWARK, Del. – Space is important when children entertain their friends, build a roadway for car races, set up a train or build with blocks. A child also needs space to keep his playthings. A child who has an organized indoor play area, with furnishings and materials stored near free floor space, tends to be attracted to it for play says Maryetta Duffner, Delaware County Extension Home Economist.

Play space in an attic, basement or a corner of a den, dining room or living room can usually be found. Young children prefer to play near their mothers or where family activities are centered. Even though it may be limited, provide some space for toy storage. Open shelf units to store toys seem to be more appealing to a child than a large wooden chest. The number of shelves can increase as the age and interests of the child change. Before you buy Christmas toys or add to toys at other times of the year, give some thought to where you'll store these new possessions. Riding toys or wagons might be better to buy when children can use them outdoors. Nothing is more frustrating to a child than to receive a toy and be told he can't play with it.

Dixon's Angus wins

YORK – Ralph V. Dixon, Jr., 16, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Dixon, York R11, showed the grand champion Angus heifer in the 4-H and FFA Show at the Eastern National Livestock Exposition in Timonium, Md.

His March heifer went on to capture the reserve grand champion of the open show, and was also junior champion in the open show.

There were 73 head of Angus heifers entered in the 4-H and FFA Show and 98 head in the open breeding show.

Ralph has been a member of the York County 4-H Beef Club for eight years showing Angus heifers and steers. He has entered his heifer in the Keystone International Livestock Show and the Farm Show, both held at the Farm Show Building, Harrisburg. Ralph is a student at York Vo-Tech. He will be showing his 4-H Club steer at county round-up October 25th. to be held at the Thomasville Livestock Market. About 50 4-H Beef members will be selling their 4-H steers after the show at the auction.

Sulfa residue problem studied

DES MOINES, Iowa - NPPC representatives met recently in Washington with FDA Administrator Don Kennedy, Assistant Secretary of Agriculture Carol Foreman, Congressman Berkley Bedell, expert research people, and other government staff people to present the latest information and request for adjustment of the tolerance level in the sulfa residue problem that is affecting the pork industry.

The NPPC has shared in the funding of research that they initiated on this problem when it was found that violations were occurring on farms where sulfa products had not ever been knowingly used. "It is imperative to the affected individual pork producer that we push for a total evaluation of the sampling, testing, and contaminating source of this problem in pork production," commented J. Marvin Garner, executive vice president of the NPPC who accompanied President John Soorholtz and Steve Beckley, NPPC staff member, to this meeting.

Research experts in this field, Dr. Gene Lloyd of Iowa State University and Dr. Larry Stowe of University of Minnesota presented information and data to Kennedy and Foreman supporting their concerns with the practicality of the present tolerance levels being maintained by government monitoring programs. Congressman Bedell stressed the need for reasonable adjustments being made to assure fine quality, healthful meat products, but also taking into consideration the minute measurement and testing system that perhaps exceeded the original intent of the action.

Kennedy and Foreman with their staffs accepted the information and materials for further study by them and their research review teams for possible later action and consideration.

Ida's Notebook

Ida Risser

I've now written over 400 articles. This month it is eight years since I started writing for Lancaster Farming. In rereading the first article, I see that it rambles on about many little things and that is how I feel this morning.

So here is a bit of this and a bit of that and not so much of anything. Comparing my life in 1970 to today caused me to get out an old dairy. It seems as though my time is filled with many things today but apparently it has slowed down without my noticing it. There were four children in public school then instead of one and I was an active Deacon in our church, vice president of the Home & School Ass'n., a 4-H leader and a regular member of a prayer group. Now one or two of these jobs keep me busy. And with boys at home, my husband wasn't as tied down as he is now. It seems all the work falls on his shoulders.

Then, we had a daughter working in New York and only one son in college and there was a lot of "going and coming." This activity is still the same only there is more of it as now there are more children coming home to visit. Some things are the same, though, as there are still many things to can and freeze and lots of cooking and baking only on a smaller scale. And I am still needed as a chauffeur.

It is difficult to realize that the years are passing so quickly. Things change gradually-but they do change! While looking over snapshots and mailing lists, one realizes the number of people and pets that are no longer with us. Life has a certain order, like the changing seasons, but every now and then the unexpected does happen-like my getting a job writing this article.

Maryland 4-H horse judging team chosen

COLLEGE PARK, Md. - Eight Upper Bay area teenagers are preparing to represent Maryland next month in the first officially recognized national 4-H horse judging and horse bowl knowledge contests.

Both events are scheduled Nov. 4 in the Harrisburg area. The horse judging contest is being held at the Farm Show building in connection with the twenty second annual Keystone International Livestock Exposition. The horse bowl event will be held at the Crossgates Inn near Mechanics burg, beginning at 9 a.m.

For the past 10 years, Maryland teams have participated in an Eastern regional 4-H horse judging contest during the big Harrisburg livestock show. The horse bowl contest is of more recent vintage.

Both contests have gradually evolved into national events because of increasing interest and participation from western states, commented Dr. Edwin E. Goodwin, Extension horse specialist at the University of Maryland in College Park.

A Carroll County team will represent Maryland in the national 4-H horse bowl contest. It qualified for this honor by placing first in the state senior 4-H horse bowl contest, held Aug. 31 during the Maryland State Fair in Timonium.

Maryland entrants in the national 4-H horse judging contest will be selected from among the top eight individuals in the state judging contest, also held at Timonium.

A Cecil county team won first place this year in the statewide senior 4-H horse judging contest, while a team from neighboring Harford county captured top honors in the junior contest.

Two Cecil county sisters placed at or near the top in both contests. Francine Moore, 14, of Conowingo, Md., won top honors in the junior event, while Melissa Moore, 15, was runner-up in senior 4-H horse judging competition.

Baltimore and Carroll County teams got to the final round in both the junior and senior divisions of the statewide 4-H horse bowl knowledge competition. Baltimore County won the junior event, and Carroll County prevailed in the senior contest. Mr. and Mrs. Robert M. Shirley and son, Dan, of Taylorsville, Md., coached both teams.

Bob Shirley is an Extension 4-H and youth agent in Baltimore county. Dan was a member of the Maryland 4-H horse bowl team which competed at Harrisburg, in 1976. His sister, Sally, was a member of this year's first-place Carroll County team in the statewide senior 4-H bowl. So she will be competing this year at Harrisburg.

High-ranking teams and individuals at this year's Maryland State Fair were as follows:

4-H HORSE JUDGING

Senior teams - 1. Cecil County; 2. Baltimore County; 3. Harford County; 4. Frederick County; 5. Carroll County.

Senior individuals - 1. Mike Whitmore, 16, of Finksburg; 2. Melissa Moor, 15, of Conowingo; 3. Susan Ogonowski, 17, of North East; 4. Annette Heiser, 14, of Fallston; 5. Karen Stroup, 14, of Phoenix.

Junior teams - 1. Harford County; 2. Carroll County; 3. Frederick County; 4. Garrett County.

Junior individuals - 1. Francine Moore, 14, of Conowingo; 2. Miss Whitney L. Mudge, 13, of Hagerstown; 3. Michelle T. Deise, 14, of Jarrettsville; 4. Sandra Russell, 14, of La Plata; 5. Sharon Fisher, 14, of Cockeysville.

4-H HORSE BOWL

Senior teams - 1. Carroll County; 2. Baltimore County. Other teams advancing to the semi-final round were those from Howard and Charles Counties.

Junior teams - 1. Baltimore County; 2. Carroll County. Other teams advancing to the semi-final round were those from Harford and Howard Counties.

Junior Cooking Edition

If you have been wondering what to serve your Halloween party guests and trick-or-treaters, here are some delicious candy, cooky, bread, dip, and drink recipes that you can serve to your guests.

A cheese dip starts the party. Pumpkin is a natural, featured in cookies, bread and pie. Peanut butter and drop cookies are featured along with butterscotch brownies.

To satisfy the sweet tooth, creamy cocoa taffy and health candy recipes have been sent in by our junior readers. A recipe for quick root beer will help wash down all these goodies, while caramel apples can be made for door distribution of or served on a platter at home.

Send your favorite receipes to Lancaster Farming, Junior Cooking Edition, Box 366, Lititz, Pa. 17543. Please include a complete recipe with all instructions, your name, age and address.

Happy cooking, happy trick-or-treating!

Battery Performance

The approach of winter suggests that it's time to take a good look at the performance of your battery If it has required water frequently during the summer and fall, chances are that it has become weak — and could 'die' first time the temperature drops below freezing Below freezing temperature, batteries operate at 65% efficiency; at zero degrees, at 40% efficiency

CREAMY COCOA TAFFY

1¼ cups granulated sugar
¾ cup light corn syrup
1/8 teaspoon salt
¼ cup evaporated milk
⅓ cup cocoa
2 teaspoons cider
1 tablespoon butter

Combine the sugar and cocoa throughly in a heavy sauce pan. Add the corn syrup, vinegar and salt. Blend well. Bring the mixture to a boil over medium heat. Stir constantly. Add butter and stir in the evaporated milk slowly so the boiling does not stop. Cook mixture over medium heat, stirring constantly, until the temperature reaches 248°F. Immediately pour into a buttered pan. Cool until it can be handled. Pull a portion at a time until the candy is lighter in color. Cut with scissors into one inch pieces. Wrap in waxed paper. Yields six dozen pieces.

There's more to an omelet than just some eggs

By KENDACE BORRY

LANCASTER — "You have to start with three fresh good Lancaster County eggs, that's very important," Paul Fisher, Elizabethtown, stated. "That's the beginning of every good omelet.".

Fisher, demonstrating the art of making omelets at Park City Mall as part of the Lancaster County Farmers Association weeklong activities, spoke to his group of interested watchers. Explaining how to make the perfect omelet, his fingers never stopped working while he spoke.

"You should start with a fairly hot pan," he continued. "And the butter should foam when you put it in. When the foaming subsides, then you put your egg mixture in."

He told that he uses about one tablespoon of milk for each egg, mixing the two ingredients together before he puts them in the pan. He simply pours the egg into the center of the pan and lets it spread out over the hot surface.

Another trick, he continued, is to pull the cooked egg towards the center of the pan, letting the uncooked part run towards the edges. This helps the omelet cook evenly.

If one is a right handed person, he then places the filling on the left side of the omelet.

"The trickiest part of making anomelet if flipping the one half on top of the other half" Fisher explained. "I've learned that the best way to do it is to use a plastic spatula. slide it under the omelet until it reaches the center and then just crank that half over on top of the half that has the filling. Then just let it finish cooking".

The entire operation takes anywhere from 30 seconds to one minute.

Ah, but what about fillings?

"Anything will make a good filling for an omelet," Fisher said. "Well, just about anything. Tonight I've made ham and cheese, International vegetables, peanut butter and jelly, the list could go on forever."

Some other suggestions for omelets are included in the recipes below.

PLAIN OMELET

3 eggs
3 tablespoons milk
dash of salt and pepper

Mix eggs and milk together, adding salt and pepper to taste. Heat butter in 10 inch skillet, having pan fairly hot so that the butter foams when it hits the pan. When the foaming subsides, put in the omelet mixture. Draw cooked portions of omelet towards center of pan with spatula or pancake turner. Place filling on one side of omelet. Flip other side of omelet on top of filling half, while top of omelet is still moist and creamy-looking. Serve.

SAUSAGE APPLE OMELET

½ pound bulk pork sausage
½ cup applesauce
1 plain omelet
1 tablespoon sausage drippings

Cook sausage in 10 inch omelet pan or skillet until thoroughly cooked and browned. Drain, reserving one tablespoon drippings. Crumble sausage with applesause, set aside. Prepare omelet, mixing eggs, milk, dash of salt and pepper, use sausage drippings in place of butter. While top is still moist and creamy looking, spread sausage-applesauce mixture over half of omelet. With pancake turner, fold omelet in half. Sprinkle remaining sausage over top. Serve.

Paul Fisher, Elizabethtown, shows that an omelet not only is delicious but quick and easy to make. Here he adds cheese and ham, before flipping the top of the omelet over. The entire operation took less than a minute, from cracking the eggs to serving.

REUBEN OMELET

sliced corn beef, bite-size
⅓ cup well drained sauerkraut
¼ teaspoon caraway seeds
2 slices Swiss cheese, cut in strips
1 plain omelet

Prepare corned beef, sauerkraut, caraway seeds, and cheese before making omelet, set aside. Prepare omelet. While top is still moist and creamy-looking, top with corned beef, sauerkraut, caraway seeds and cheese. With pancake turner, fold omelet in half. Serve.

GOURMET CHICKEN OMELET

½ cup condensed cream of celery soup, undiluted
½ cup chopped, cooked chicken
½ cup halved, seedless fresh grapes
1 plain omelet

Combine soup, chicken and grapes, heat to serving temperature while preparing omelet. While top of omelet is still moist and creamy-looking, spread ½ cup filling on half of omelet. With pancake turner, fold in half of omelet. Top with remaining filling. Serve.

MUSHROOM OMELET

1 cup sliced fresh mushrooms or 2 oz. drained sliced mushrooms
1 tablespoon butter
½ cup dairy sour cream
½ teaspoon dill
1 plain omelet

Saute mushrooms in one tablesoon butter in 10 inch skillet until tender and lightly browned. Remove mushrooms with slotted spoon and combine with sour cream and dill, set aside. Prepare omelet. While top is still moist and creamy-looking, spread ¼ cup mushroom mixture on half. Fold other half on top. Spoon remaining mixture on top. Serve.

Beekeepers to meet

SCHUYKILLHAVEN — All beekeepers and any interested people are welcome to come to a beekeeping program sponsored by the Schuylkill County Cooperative Extension Service. Paul Ziegler, an apiarist and bee supplier from Bethel, will present a program on inspections, diseases, and queen raising.

Following the program, the Schuylkill County Beekeepers Association will be formed. The association's purpose is to promote and encourage beekeeping and improve beekeeping management practices.

The program will be held October 23, 7:30 p.m. in Room C-119 at the Penn State Schuylkill Campus, Route 61, Schuylkill Haven.

Come and enjoy the program!

Angus Queen contestants called for

YORK — The deadline for entering the 1979 Pennsylvania Angus Queen competition is Nov. 15. Any qualifying girl between 15 and 19 years old is asked to send an entry form to Mrs. Helen Dixon, Druck Valley Farm, Box 358, York R11, Pa. 17406. Telephone: 717-755-4434.

To qualify for ther contest, the girl must currently be involved in raising Angus cattle - either breeding stock or steers - or be the daughter of an Angus breeder, farm manager, or herdsman.

Interested girls are asked to send a short autobiography to Mrs. Dixon, listing name, address, age, telephone number and county in which she resides. Also, the contest judges would like a synopsis of the contestant's work with Angus cattle.

Other requirements are as follows:

A black and white photograph, suitable for use in news releases.

The name and address of your local newspaper.

Each entrant must be sponsored by a member in good standing of the Pennsylvania Angus Association. The Association will help an entrant locate a sponsor should she be unable to acquire one from her area.

The selected queen must agree to be present at the Pennsylvania Angus Spring Sale, Angus Field Day, Pennsylvania State Farm Show, and wherever she is needed to promote Angus cattle in Pennsylvania.

Up to two entrants are permitted from each county, according to Mrs. Dixon, who is serving as chairwoman for the 1979 Pennsylvania Angus Queen Contest. In fairness to all entrants, no entries postmarked after Nov. 15 will be accepted.

The selected queen will receive a complete western outfit along with a sash denoting her status. They'll be provided by the Ladies Auxiliary of the Pennsylvania Angus Association.

At the conclusion of her reign, a trophy is presented to the retiting queen by Valleys Edge Farm.

Hunting dogs should be licensed

HARRISBURG - Small game hunting in Pennsylvania opens on October 29 when thousands of Pennsylvania sportsmen will take to the fields. State Agriculture Secretary Kent Shelhamer reminded hunters that the "best insurance for a valuable dog is a Pennsylvania dog license."

The Agriculture Secretary noted that "a hunter, who wouldn't think of taking to the fields without a hunting license, should be just as conscientious about licensing his dog."

The Department's Bureau of Dog Law Enforcement receives hundreds of calls each year from hunters who have lost their dogs. In many cases, the pets are not returned because the finder has no idea of the owner's identity.

A current dog license provides a means for immediate identification of the owner. Licenses are inexpensive and can be purchased at the county treasurer's office. Costs for a Pennsylvania dog license are $1.20 for males and spayed females and $2.20 for unspayed female dogs.

Further information concerning the Pennsylvania Dog Law can be obtained by writing the Bureau of Dog Law Enforcement at 2301 North Cameron Street, Harrisburg, PA 17120, or by calling the regional Agriculture Department office.

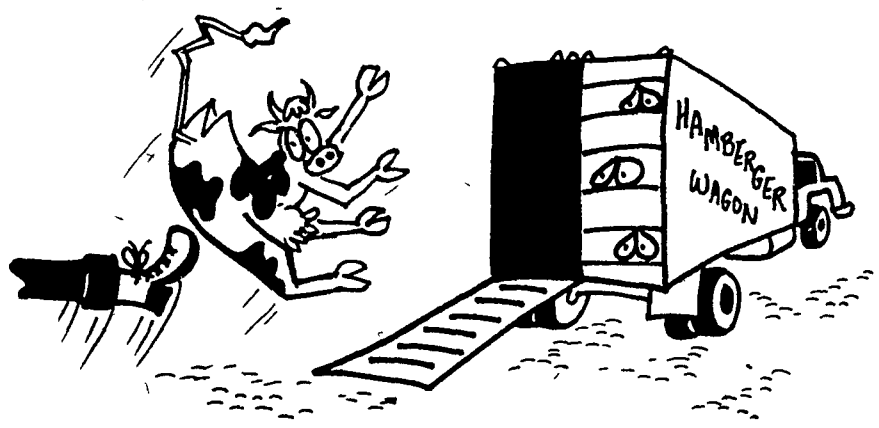
AGRI-KING
KEY TO PROFIT

AGRI—KING'S OBJECTIVE — SHOULD IT BE YOURS?

The fourth in a series of six articles. The first three available on request. Phone 717-394-3047 or 717-626-1164.

One of AGRI-KING'S main objectives is to get the inherited production of your livestock relatively trouble free. Why do we say relatively trouble free? Because this is the only way we can get the production out of the animals that the purebred people have bred into them. There is no way we can get this inherited production if our animals are sick. Recent research has shown that all animal sickness if not caused by poor nutrition was at least agrivated by poor nutrition. Most ketosis, mastitis and udder edema are caused by a protein - energy imbalance. Most breeding problems, milk fever, cleaning problems and sore feet are caused by an improper balance of calcium, phosphorus, vitamins and trace minerals.

The first law of nature is survival, and the second law of nature is reproduction, and reproduction is the number one problem in the dairy industry today. There are more good cows sold because you can't get them bred than any other single reason. Sometimes it can be a mechanical problem but this is rare. It's mostly caused by an imbalanced nutritional program.



These are some of the reasons why only 2.5 lactations per cow is our national average. Consequently our better cows never reach their prime production. This is also why the average herd has 25 to 50 percent first calf heifers and turns over 85 to 90 percent of its cows every three years. These are some averages AGRI-KING would like to help the farmer change for the better.

It doesn't take any more feed to feed a cow through her 4th and 5th lactations than it does through her 1st and 2nd lactations, but there's a lot more net profit feeding good cows through their 4th, 5th and 6th lactation.

There is only one way these problems can be held to a minimum and your cows brought to their peak production. That is to test your roughage and balance your ration according to your tests, the body weight of your cows ana their breed. Any other way you cannot get the inherited production relatively trouble free for any length of time.

Somehow I ended up taking three youngsters, between three and five years of age, into the Park City Mall Monday night to see the sheep shearing and all the baby animals on display In the pouring rain, we arrived, and the four of us, along with assorted rain gear, camera bag, jackets, caps, and 'little treasures to special to be left at home', (such as a rubber band) tramped into the mall.

The picture we made as the four of us determinedly made our way to the exhibit area was extraordinary. Scared to death I would arrive home with fewer bodies than I started out with, I tried to hold everybody's hand, which was impossible And nobody wanted to be on the side of me that ran interference with my shoulder camera case, and I couldn't really blame them The result was that there was a definite scrambling on my left side for the number one position next to me, with the other two little ones hanging on for dear life.

Finally we got past all the preliminary stops at the food stands and hurried down to where the sheep waited patiently. Sheep shearing being a new experience for all of them, I doggedly sat them all in the front row and went to take my pictures They never missed me

In fact, they sat through the entire operation and I ended up waiting for them. Seeing that sheep lose its coat was fascinating to them and about 100 others who stopped by

Finally, the job was finished and we went on to see the baby 'peeps' which were crawling out of their shells Have you ever tried to hold up three children at once to see? That it couldn't be done was just another lesson that was brought home during the evening.

By now it was getting late, but we had to see the cow and walk on the 'Milky Way', that colorful walkway designed just for children

But one of the urchins wanted to walk on it, and two just weren't quite sure that that was something safe to do. So we had the pleading, and the reasoning. Lesson Number 3 of the night-one never can figure out the reasonings and fears in the mind of a three year old

Finally in desperation, I lifted up the three year old, Nikki, and swung her out over the walkway, thinking she would settle to earth on her feet She didn't--she hung there poised in mid-air, hanging onto me at all possible points, making sure her feet did not touch the ground

A three year old child dangling at arm's length gets heavy after awhile She won, I lost. She landed back on solid ground by my side. Then she decided that, thank you, yes, she would walk on that walkway. And so did her brother What changed their minds I'll never know

One last stop to view the piggies, and it was back in the car and home,with no more problems

And just as I was congratulating myself on what a good babysitter I was, I realized that no longer was Nikki wearing her little red cap.

I guess I just need more on-the-job training in babysitting

"Street Trees" manual available from PSU

UNIVERSITY PARK–The College of Agriculture at The Pennsylvania State University has published a manual entitled "Street Trees," designed to assist people taking part in planning and carrying out tree beautification programs in urban areas.

"This manual has been prepared for use by shade tree commissions and professional horticultural firms planning and carrying out tree planting and maintenance," stated Dr. Roland R. Daniels, assistant professor of environmental horticulture and author of the publication.

"The manual is useful for planners getting ready for next year's tree planting and maintenance schedules," Dr. Daniels suggested.

Topics include site and variety selection, site preparation, planting, and care and maintenance following planting. Included in an appendix are a checklist of current street plantings and analysis of potential planting sites; proposed specifications for selecting, planting, and maintenance of street trees within developments; general specifications for diciduous shade and flowering trees; standards of workmanship for tree care and maintenance; and suggested contract specifications for establishing and maintaining street plantings.

Two other features are a tree hardiness zone map of Pennsylvania and an outline of characteristics for trees suitable for planting in the Commonwealth.

The manual may be purchased for $2.12, tax included, from STREET TREES, Box 6000, University Park, Pa., 16802. Make checks or money orders payable to The Pennsylvania State University Allow at least two weeks for delivery.

Typical of comments regarding the manual is this statement from a teacher in Canada: "Your publication is a significant contribution to the popular literature describing aesthetic horticulture and urban forestry tree selection and maintenance. It should have wide application throughout northeastern North America."

Bergland to speak at annual Agway meeting

SYRACUSE, N.Y. -- Pennsylvania farmers will be among the 5000 persons expected to attend the 14th annual meeting of Agway Inc. October 26-27 in Syracuse, N.Y., where one of the highlights will be an address by U.S. Secretary of Agriculture Bob Bergland.

The 2-day session will take place in the Onondaga County War Memorial.

Agway Inc., a farm supply and food marketing cooperative owned by 122,000 member-stockholders that serves agriculture in 12 northeastern states, is headquartered in Syracuse.

Secretary Bergland accepted an invitation to address the gathering Friday (October 27) at the morning business session.

On Thursday, members and guests will hear reports on the past year's membership activity and operations from Chairman of the Board George Steele of Pocopson, Pa., and General Manager Ronald N. Goddard. Another feature of the Friday business session is the "open forum", during which members may make comments and suggestions, and ask questions from the floor. Members will also elect six directors to Agway Inc.'s 18-member board. Nominees for the three-year posts were selected at district nominating meetings earlier in the year.

Another highlight will be a display of the latest developments in Agway products and services. The 1978 Agway Farm Show, one of the largest indoor farm shows in the Northeast, will occupy the entire lower level of the War Memorial auditorium. In addition to exhibition booths and demonstrations, several prize-winning farm animals and farm equipment will be on display.

LINCOMIX® (lincomycin)
THE HEAVYWEIGHT

The feed additive for the treatment and control of bloody scours (swine dysentery) from birth to market.

A number of feed additives for bloody scours are on the market: But until today, few could offer such high performance and so few feeding restrictions as Lincomix.

On-farm trials have demonstrated the efficacy of Lincomix. By controlling bloody scours, Lincomix has proven its superior performance in maintaining rate of gain and feed efficiency while reducing death losses.

And Lincomix can be fed in any ration, from starter to finishing — just withdraw six days prior to slaughter. It's available in both complete feeds and supplements for on-farm mixing.

Lincomix—THE HEAVYWEIGHT feed additive for the treatment and control of bloody scours.

Talk to us today about getting Lincomix in your hog rations!

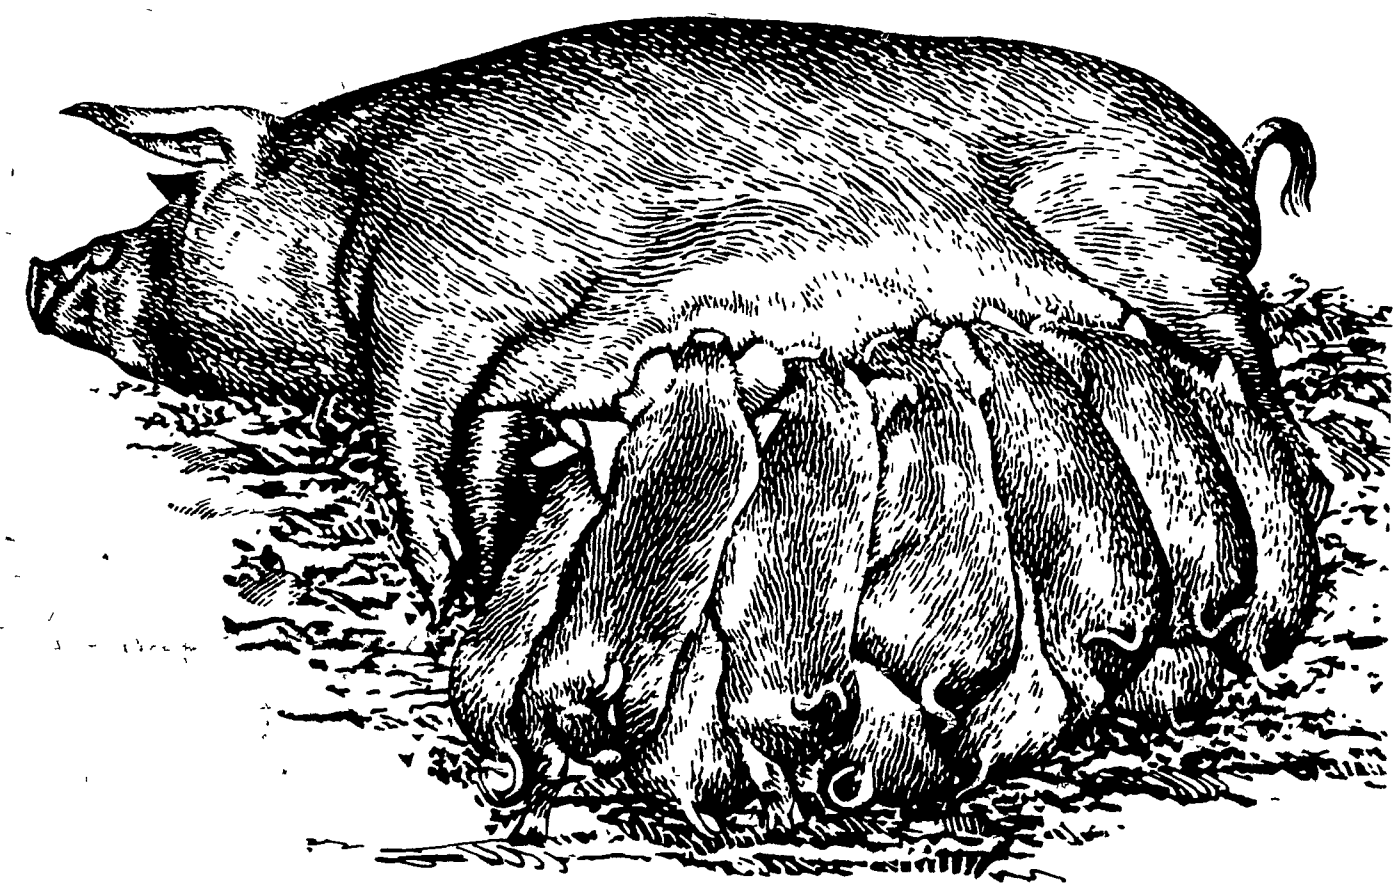
PRIMER 1 AND PRIMER 2

They should be running toward market right now



And they can be on the Primer Feeds from Master Mix. When they were introduced the Primers were heralded as "the greatest breakthrough in baby pig feeding in 25 years." Do you know what? They've been improved since then.

The simplicity of the Primer Program has appealed to many. You feed Primer 1 while the pig is nursing . . . Primer 2 from weaning to 40 lbs. And here's what you get:

Fast, profitable daily gains. Uniformity. Sturdy, good-doin' pigs. Improved feed conversions. And pork producers tell us they have less trouble with looseness.

See us soon. We've got a great pork program, built with you, your hogs, and your profit in mind. And it starts with the Primers!

Sussex Energy Expo planned

NEWARK, Del.--November 3 is Energy Day in Delaware. Sussex county is marking the occasion with a two-day Energy Expo, to be held at Delaware Technical and Community College, Georgetown, on November 3 and 4. The program will run from 10 a.m. to 7 p.m. on Friday, and from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. on Saturday. There is no charge.

Sussex Energy Expo, sponsored by the Delaware cooperative Extension service and Sussex Community Action, will include exhibits on the subjects of insulation, home weatherization, solar energy, and wood burners.

Displays will pinpoint methods of conserving energy in agriculture and around the home.

Information will be available on storm windows and doors, caulking, weatherstripping, water heaters, and home lighting.

Project Conserve and the Town of Blades Energy Exhibit will be featured at the Expo.

The Energy Day message will be brought out in the form of demonstrations, displays, exhibits, slides, films, and seminars. A special feature will be the exhibition of energy posters by Sussex school children.

Gourds make ideal Fall arrangements

NEWARK, Del.--Small decorative gourds are ideal as table arrangements for the fall and early winter holiday season, says Delaware extension home economist Jean Cranston.

Gourds have been used as ornaments and receptacles since prehistoric times. At one time they were even used as the basis for the national currency of the island of Haiti.

Small and medium-sized gourd varieties are available in various shapes and in contrasting yellow, green and white colors.

They should be picked when fully mature, before frost, to reduce the possibility of spoilage during or after curing. When gourds are ripe their stems turn brown and start to shrivel. Be sure to leave an inch or more of stem when you cut the gourd from the vine.

Wash the gourds carefully in sudsy water, rinse, and dry thoroughly.

The gourds should be cured or dried in a dry, well-ventilated area. Inspect the fruit every few days. Remove any which shrivel or show evidence of decay.

The gourds are completely dry when the seeds rattle as the gourd is shaken.

To preserve gourds, dust well and coat them with a thin white shellac or floor wax. Repeat with a second coat.

Display your gourds with other natural or artificial fruits. Fresh flowers or leaves with interesting color or texture may be used to add interest to the arrangement. Perishable materials should have the stems inserted in small water tubes that can be concealed among the gourds.

Bittersweet, dried flowers, or seed pods may also be used to provide contrast in color or form.

To give stability to a display, attach the gourds to the container, or to each other, with floral clay.

Sept. milk price $11.12

NEW YORK, N.Y. – Dairy farmers supplying milk plants regulated under the New York-New Jersey marketing orders during September will be paid on the basis of a uniform price of $11.12 per hundred pounds or 23.9 cents per quart. Market Administrator Thomas A. Wilson, who announced September's price, also stated that the uniform farm price was $10.84 per hundredweight in August 1978 and $10.34 per hundredweight in September 1977. The uniform price is a marketwide weighted average of the value of farm milk used for fluid and manufactured dairy products.

The seasonal incentive fund (Louisville Plan) returned a total of $3,502,374.62 or $452 per hundredweight to the dairy farmer's uniform price for September. This fund was generated by reducing the uniform price paid producers during the high production spring months.

The total amount of milk received from the 17,937 dairy farmers supplying the New York-New Jersey Marketing Area was 775,421,653 pounds during September 1978. This was almost 5.2 million pounds above last year. The gross value to dairy farmers for milk deliveries was $87,042,238.49. Wilson explained that this included differentials required to be paid to dairy farmers but not voluntary premiums or deductions authorized by the farmer.

Regulated milk dealers (handlers) utilized 406,026,214 pounds or 52.4 per cent of the total amount of milk for Class I. The Class I milk is used for fluid products such as homogenized, flavored, low-test and skim milks. For September 1978, handlers paid $11.58 per hundredweight, or 24.9 cents per quart, for the milk used in Class I products compared with $11.05 a year ago.

The balance of the milk, 47.6 per cent, was used to manufacture Class II products including butter, cheese, ice cream and yogurt. For this milk the handlers paid $9.96 per hundredweight.

The uniform price is based on milk containing 3.5 per cent butterfat. For September 1978, a differential of 13.3 cents was applied to the price for each one-tenth of one per cent that the milk tested above or below the 3.5 per cent standard.

All prices quoted are for bulk tank milk received within the 201-210 mile zone from New York City.

Former Grange prince sings with his hands

HARRISBURG - In 1974, when Wade Cadle came to the National Grange Convention in Sacramento, Calif. as the Tennessee State Grange Prince, he had no idea how it would affect his life.

During the convention, Wade attended a workshop sponsored by the then new Grange Deaf Awareness Program. After the workshop was over he was very impressed.

The following January, Wade toured the Gallaudet College. Gallaudet is a liberal arts college for the deaf in Washington, D.C. "That really did it for me," he said.

For the next four months, Wade was busy teaching himself "sign-singing". This is the sign language used by the deaf to communicate.

In May 1976, Wade made his first public appearance with his new talent. He performed a song, "I Still Love You" by Andre Crouch at the Tennessee State Grange Sewing contest in Knoxville.

Because of the favorable reaction that he received, Wade decided to give a deaf awareness program at the Grange Summer camp in Tennessee.

Wade changed his major from advertising to special education, with an emphasis in deaf education, when he returned to the University of Tennessee in the Fall.

Last Summer, Wade began working for the National Grange office in Washington, D.C. as a Summer intern. He is presently researching into legislative and educational programs for the National Grange's Deaf Awareness Program. One of his stops on his stops during his Summer travels was the Pennsylvania State Grange's workshop, held last July at Elizabethtown College.

The National Grange became interested in the deaf and hard of hearing in 1971. The Department of Women's Activities adopted it as a Grange Health Program.

Wade Cadle of the National Grange sings to audiences in sign language.

The first programs consisted of raising money for the Council of Organizations Serving the Deaf.

In 1974, the National Grange produced the first sign-singing film, "I Hear Your Hand". The film was distributed for air time to the Public Broadcasting Service and the major networks.

The following year, the National Grange Youth Department became interested in sign-singing. At the National Grange Convention in Columbus, Ohio, the Youth Department premiered a 100-"voice" sign-singing choir.

"It became evident that we needed some way to send the kids home with the proper signs, so that they might perform them at their home Granges" said William Steel, national director for Grange Youth.

"Hence, the first sign-song book combining words, music, and signs was published in 1976." The book, entitled Lift Up Your Hands, is in its second printing with 15,000 copies sold to date.

The Grange is presently looking into a hearing conservation program in agriculture. There are very high on-the-job noise levels in agriculture. Prolonged exposure to these noisé levels can cause hearing damage.
looking for new programs in deaf awareness. It was for this reason that they hired Wade Cadle.

Wade is presently looking into a hearing conservation program in agriculture. These are very high on-the-job noise levels in agriculture. Prolonged exposure to these noise levels can cause hearing damage.

Wade is optimistic. He believes in what he is doing and is a patient individual. Between the Grange and Wade Cadle, the deaf are not without a champion.

Adams Co. agent wins Master Educator Award

UNIVERSITY PARK – Thomas E. Piper, Adams County Extension director on The Pennsylvania State University's Cooperative Extension Service staff, has been named recipient of the 1978 Master Educator Award presented by the Pennsylvania Association of Farmer Cooperatives (PAFC).

The award is presented annually to a member of the Pennsylvania Extension Service staff "for outstanding teaching and leadership in the areas of general agriculture and cooperative business programs."

Piper was honored at PAFC's annual meeting October 18 in Gettysburg. He also received an expense-paid trip to the annual meeting of the American Institute of Cooperation held in Montana July.

The Adams County agent was cited for his educational programs with area cooperatives and county agricultural organizations.

Piper conducted training sessions for directors and managers of farmer cooperatives and warehouse supervisors on principles of work simplification as applied to materials handling. He also conducts milk marketing workshops, commodity outlook meetings, and training on all aspects of direct marketing.

Thomas E. Piper

The Adams County agent assists with educational meetings held by Atlantic Breeders Cooperative, Inter-State Milk Producers Cooperative, Knouse Foods Cooperative, Mountain Orchards Cooperative, Adams Electric Cooperative, Musselmen's, and Mott, Inc.

He worked closely with officials of the Maryland Cooperative Milk Producers in establishing a district within Adams County in 1977.

Piper aided 12 farmers in gaining recognition as Pennsylvania Master Farmers. He also assisted in the interpretation of research and the adoption of new agricultural technology.

In 1975, the value of Adams County farm products sold amounted to $56 million.

The award recipient is responsible for the supervision of the county Dairy Herd Improvement Association testing program, serves as an ex-officio member of the Adams County Holstein Association and Adams County Fruitgrowers Association, and is chairman of the Resource Development Committee comprised of U.S. Department of Agriculture's related agencies.

He conducted workshops on land use planning which have led to the formation of 32 municipal planning commissions and greater interest in the preservation of agricultural land.

Piper also is responsible for the Adams County 4-H Dairy Club, two 4-H community clubs, and the 4-H horticultural judging team.

This past August he was recipient of a Distinguished Service Award from the National Association of County Agricultural Agents for his service to the state's agricultural industry.

Piper is on the board of directors of the Adams County Torch Club and Adams County United Way and a member of the Dairy Shrine Club and Epsilon Sigma Phi and Delta Theta Sigma fraternities.

The Friendly family goat, more than just amusement

By LYNN HERSHEY
University of Delaware

A person who can look at a goat without smiling has no sense of humor as far as I'm concerned.

Goats are the one farm animal God surely created as much for amusement as for utility. Cows are ungainly, horses are handsome, mules are powerful, sheep are simple-minded, and chickens are ridiculous, but for me and a lot of other people, goats are just plain funny.

I have been fond of goats ever since one insisted on joining our family years ago when we lived in Mexico. Chivo was an amiable fellow with bright friendly eyes, a cheerful expression, and large ears that flopped at right angles to his head like drooping awnings. He was devoted to us and wanted very much to be a house goat. The closest he could come to achieving this was the back porch, where he spent as much time as possible peering in through the screened door, rubbing against anyone who happened by, and freely dispensing little round goat-droppings everywhere. Our porch always looked as if someone had just spilled a sack of coffee beans.

This last distressing habit caused my mother no end of frustration. Her efforts at keeping Chivo off the porch were heroic but unsuccessful. Somehow he always managed to outfox (or outgoat) her and sneak back onto the porch when she wasn't looking. To her he was a useless pest. But to my brother and me he was an attentive and affectionate friend. Who cared if he was useless? Cocker spaniels were also useless.

I have since learned that not all goats are freeloaders like Chivo. They are a source not only of amusement but also of meat and leather. Furthermore, Kashmir and angora goats provide some of the finest, most luxurious wool in the world.

But most of all, goats provide milk--sweet, creamy, delicious enough to give some cows an inferiority complex. And the talented goats homogenize it themselves! The butterfat will not rise to the top, but will remain evenly dispersed throughout the milk.

Many non-farm families keep a friendly nanny goat (called a doe) to provide them with milk. It's simpler than keeping a cow. Dr., George Haenlein, Delaware extension dairy specialist, says he gets several calls a week from people who want to buy a goat--and for good reason. An ordinary doe can provide a gallon of milk a day, and will likely cost no more than $80. (If she has registration papers she could cost $200.)

Goatsd are easy to keep, says Haenlein. They eat much less than cows, and don't require specialized feed. They thrive on just about anything--grass, weeds, bark, branches, leaves, table scraps, kitchen leavings.

Their bedding requirements are minimal. A small three-sided shelter is all they need, even in the winter. They like people, and can be handled by children.

Also, those neat little pellets that so annoyed my mother are a big improvement over cow manure. They cause less mess, attract fewer flies, and are excellent fertilizer for plants.

According to Haenlein, a single acre of grass can support up to five goats, which means many city lots could support one. That brings us to zoning laws. Communities which permit homeowners to keep a dog or cat may not look with favor on a goat. However, you might be surprised. For example, California allows city residents to keep up to six goats. Only if you keep seven or more are you classed as a farmer.

If you're interested in a dairy goat, Haenlein suggests local auctions and goat breeders as good sources. Regional farm publications contain advertisements for dairy goats. You might even find a listing in the classified section of the daily newspaper. And, of course, the Delaware Cooperative Extension Service is always a source of helpful information.

If your family should decide to get a dairy goat, you can expect her to live perhaps 10 years. That's a lot of milk--and a lot of friendship.

It's time for apple pies and cobblers again

COLLEGE PARK, Md. - For pie and cobbler lovers, the best part of the western Maryland apple-picking season is now at hand, notes Dr. Richard C. Funt, associate professor of horticulture and Extension fruits specialist at the University of Maryland in College Park.

The harvest season started about October 5 for York Imperial, Stayman, Rome Beauty and Winesap apples, and it will wind up about October 25, Dr. Funt reported. These four cultivars are all regarded as good or excellent for baking, pies, sauce and canning and freezing.

They should be readily available at Maryland roadside stands west of the Chesapeake Bay and in local supermarkets throughout the Mid-Atlantic area.

The state's harvest season has just ended for Red Delicious, Golden Delicious and Smokehouse apples.

Both kinds of Delicious apples should still be available to consumers in bountiful supply. They are regarded as a two-way apple--excellent for eating fresh and good to fair for pies and sauce.

Smokehouse apples are hard to find, but the search is worthwhile for pie-lovers, Dr. Funt commented. In his opinion, Smokehouse is the most aromatic of all apples when being baked in a pie.

Roadside stands in the Thurmont area (Frederick County) would be the most likely place in the Old Line State to find Smokehouse apples, the Maryland Extension specialist reported.

Smokehouse is an old apple cultivar that is currently enjoying renewed popularity, and new commercial plantings have been made in the last year or two at various locations around Maryland.

It is a medium-size, round apple, basically greenish in color, with a 10 to 15 percent light red cheek. The apple is slightly acid in flavor, but it is not as tart as Jonathan or Stayman. Taste and aroma are its big assets.

Here's a recipe one can try from a U.S. Department of Agriculture booklet, titled Apples in Appealing Ways (Home & Garden Bulletin No. 161--rev. Nov. 1977).

APPLE PIE, with variations
Basic Recipe

Pastry for 9-inch, 2-crust pie
6 cups of tart apples, pared and sliced (about six medium-size apples)
¾ cup sugar
1 tablespoon cornstarch
½ teaspoon cinnamon (some people like 1 teaspoon)

Place mixture in a pastry-lined 9-inch piepan.

Before placing top pastry layer on pie, cut a few slits for steam to escape. Fold edges of pastry under and press together firmly to seal. Bake 45 to 60 minutes, or until filling is bubbly and crust is slightly browned. Calories per serving: about 375. Serves 8.

If not worried about adding more calories, one can try these variations:

Dot pie filling with 2 tablespoons of butter or margarine to make it more flavorful. (This variation appeared in the original version of the USDA publication in 1969; it is not included in the 1977 edition.)

Other variations include the following:

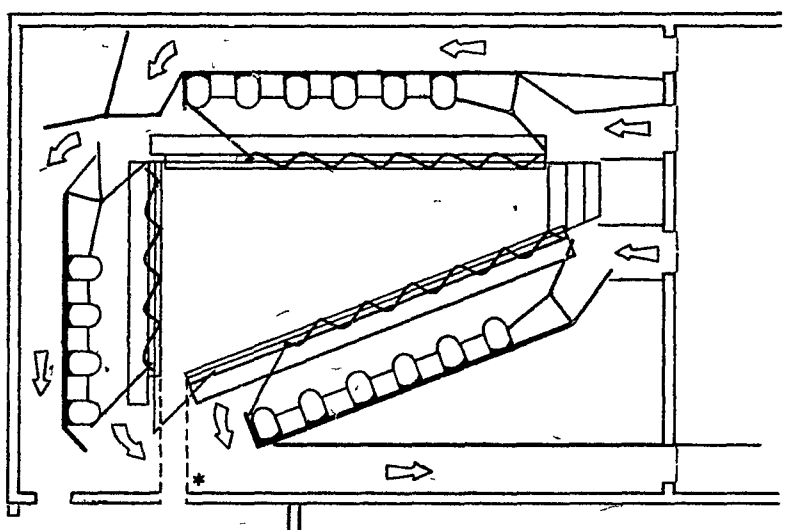
French applie pie - Combine ½ cup raisins and 1 tablespoon lemon juice with apples and sugar mixture. Cool baked pie. Frost with a mixture of ½ cup confectioner's sugar and 2 teaspoons water. Calories per serving: about 430.

Cranberry-apple pie - Use one cup of fresh cranberries and only five cups of apple slices. Increase sugar to 1¼ cup. Calories per serving: about 420.

Apple crumb pie - Omit top pastry. Mix ½ cup brown sugar, 1 cup flour, and one-eighth teaspoon each of nutmeg, cinnamon and salt. Cut in ½ cup butter or margarine and mix until crumbly. Sprinkle over top of pie. Bake as directed until topping is lightly browned-about 45 minutes. Calories per serving: about 460.

16-Stall Clay Trigon Milking Parlor

A 16-Stall Trigon is basically a Double-6 Herringbone plus 4 Herringbone stalls across one end, arranged as a Trigon!



This is another design possibility, utilizing 16 Herringbone units. As with the 12-Stall Trigon, operator works in a circular pattern around the pit area. A 16-Stall Trigon Parlor requires 1,216 square feet.

Clay Trigons have the rugged design features of all Clay parlors. They are a combination of stainless steel, factory-galvanized steel, and electro-galvanized steel tubing that gives extra strength and long life. Clay's regular stall features 14-gauge factory-galvanized rear splash panel, 22-gauge stainless steel feed bowl and hopper; and 20-gauge stainless steel stationary panel between hoppers

Clay's Heavy-Duty stall is designed to meet the extra requirements needed to milk large numbers of cows daily It has a 12-gauge stainless steel rear splash panel; 22-gauge stainless steel feed bowl, 16-gauge stainless steel feed hopper, and 16-gauge steel stationary panels.

Special Clay design has 38" stall spacing with cows set at 30° angles from pit wall. Clay studies indicate this gives ideal hip-to-shoulder cow-fit This means more cow comfort, less cow movement and a minimum of walking required by the operator Fully automated 16-stall Trigons make it possible for 1 man to milk up to 95 cows per hour. Without automation 2 men can still milk up to 95 cows per hour in a Clay Trigon.

* OPTION — Any Trigon Milking parlor can be built so operator can walk directly from milk room to pit area through recessed walk way This method requires metal bridge for cow traffic

Designed To Increase Herd Size!

When dairymen compare their new Trigon milking parlor with their previous milking system, most have found it possible to increase herd size without an increase in milking time Some have even eliminated an extra man by completely automating the Trigon parlor

For you the Clay Trigon could be the answer to that age-old problem of finding good help Or a new Clay Trigon parlor could mean that youngsters will show a renewed interest in the dairying operation It could mean the expansion to help support additional families on the farm, or to meet the extra expenses of operating the modern dairy farm

In short, the Clay Trigon Milking Parlor combines all the advantages of expanded, more efficient milking, without the need of more labor or more time.

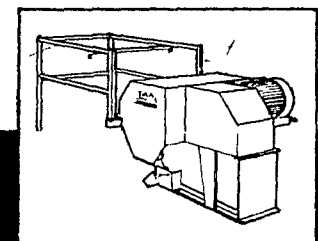
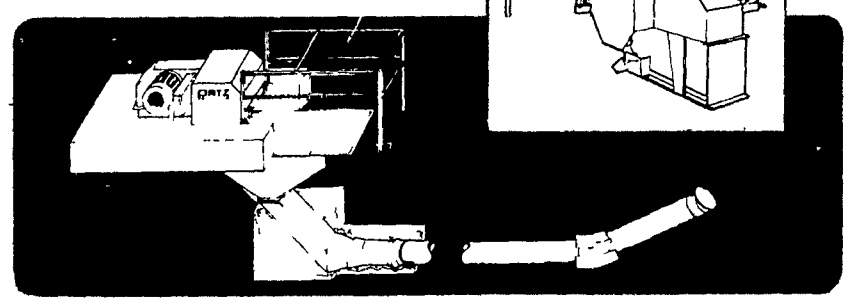
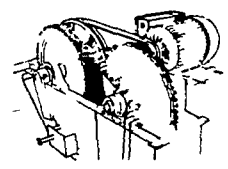
introducing the all new PATZ slurry manure pump

The Patz Mechanical Manure Pump is designed to handle manure ranging from semi-solid to free-flowing slurry.

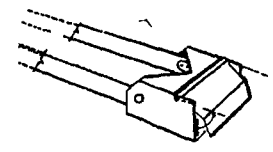




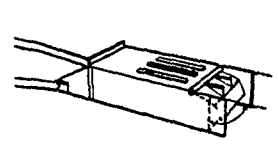
The Patz Slurry Manure Pump provides the ultimate solution to the moving of slurry liquid manure from dairy, beef, hogs or poultry installations to manure storage facilities.
The new Patz Slurry Pump can move slurry and liquids up to 150 feet The manure is supplied to an underground hopper with a gutter cleaner or scraper and is forced into a 12 inch P.V C pipe by means of an 8 inch by 15 inch plunger



A 10 h p electric motor running a roller chain reduction unit drives the plunger at a rate of 21 strokes per minute The Patz exclusive roller chain drive unit is the most efficient way to transmit a smooth flow of power (Shown with guard removed)



The 8 inch by 15 inch plunger has a one way valve in the sleeve which closes on the forward stroke forcing the manure into the storage facility and opens on the backward stroke for the next load



Plunger sleeve can be removed from sleeve chamber for servicing without breaking out concrete Valve in the sleeve and flapper valve at the end of the pipe prevent manure from returning

DES MOINES, Iowa - In a recent meeting with Secretary of Agriculture Bob Bergland in his Washington offices, Directors of the National Pork Producers Council took advantage of the opportunity t post some questions and co nments to the Secretary pertaining to their concerns in the pork industry.

Recent announcements pertaining to the proposed banning of nitrite in cured meats was a primary subject in the meeting. Secretary Bergland assured the NPPC group that he was sure the Justice Department would not render a decision that would require the immediate ban on use of nitrite in meat processing. In answering a question on why Assistant Secretary of Agriculture Carol Foreman had recently been quoted to have said that the USDA would not purchase nitrite-containing meats for school lunch programs, Secretary Bergland stated that Ms. Foreman had been misquoted and that her statement pertained to the fact that USDA does not make purchase of any of these meats because they are purchased by each local school-lunch center.

Secretary Bergland covered the potential corn crop and feed grain situation extensively, but stated that he did not expect the 1978 corn crop to be as large as earlier forecasted.

In response to the Secretary's invitation to the NPPC group for this informal meeting, NPPC President John Soorholtz expressed the appreciation of the pork producer leadership for this opportunity to meet with the Secretary and that all were encouraged by the very positive manner in which they were received and their comments and questions accepted.

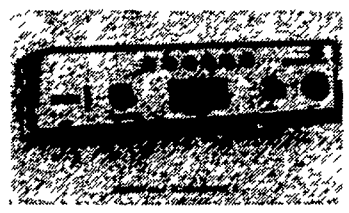
WHAT'S NEW



PLANTER MONITOR

Dickey-john is introducing a new top-of-the line planter monitor, the Dickey-john Scanamatic R.

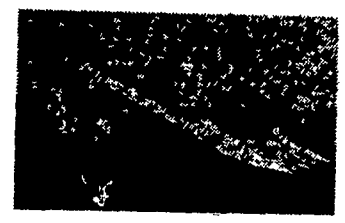
The new model retains the most popular Dickey-john planter monitoring features. Flashing row lights let the farmer "see" each seed as it is planted. Photoelectric sensors positively detect seeds being planted. An audible alarm warns of planter malfunctions. And operation is simple and reliable.

The Scanamatic R also has some innovative new features. A digital acre counter on the console gives the farmer a quick check of how much land he has planted. And a population selector knob allows the Scanamatic R to be claibrated for seeds other than corn.

Also, the Scanamatic R computes and reads out population on a per-acre basis. The system can read out population for a single row. Or all of the rows can be automatically scanned in sequence. Either way, the digital readout is always a per-acre computation.

The Scanamatic R planter monitoring system comes standard with a planter lift switch that disconnects the monitor at the ends of rows or anytime the planter is raised. For precise population counts the system is adjustable for most standard row spacings. And the Scanamatic R is available in models to fit most planters.

For more information, contact Wayne Drury, Box 10, Auburn, Ill. 62615.



CORN PICKER

The all new Vermeer 4-row corn picker mounts easily and quickly on a tractor in the 100 horsepower class, says the manufacturer.

A special frame mounts the corn head onto the front of the tractor, while the three-point hitch carries either the sheller unit or the husking bed. To go from shelled to husked corn takes just a few minutes. Interchanging units is a simple matter since both units contain stands that are lowered when dismounting. The PTO shaft and the three-point hitch are disconnected and the operator drives away. He then merely backs the tractor to the other unit and attaches the three-point hitch and PTO shaft. It couldn't be easier. And, in these days of energy shortage, it's a real advantage to be able to go to husked corn for crib drying without sacrificing the ability to pick and shell by merely changing attachments.

The new Vermeer 4-Row, tractor-mounted corn picker was designed for those farmers who already own a large tractor but do not wish to make the large investment in a combine.

STEEL SIDING

Lumaside, Inc., Milwaukee, Wis, has developed, and is now marketing, an innovative unique steel siding called the "Energy Saver," which does exactly what the name implies. The "Energy Saver" is made from coil coated steel from Inland Steel Company, Chicago.

The new siding, named Styrosteel or Solarsteel (depending on the embossed pattern), is conventional steel siding with a 3/8-in. polystyrene foam panel laminated to the back. The foam backing makes the siding four times superior in R value to plain steel siding. The R value of Styrosteel with reflective paper added, is 2.40, as compared to plain steel siding, which has an R value of .60.

The insulating factor translates into specific dollar savings for the homeowner, as well as saving in the consumption of energy. Insulating tests for the new siding were done by an independent testing laboratory in Minneapolis with favorable results.

Lumaside markets steel siding nationwide, though Styrosteel and Solarsteel are still too new to be in general distribution.

For further information, write Inland Steel Company, 30 West Monroe Street, Chicago, Illinois 60603.

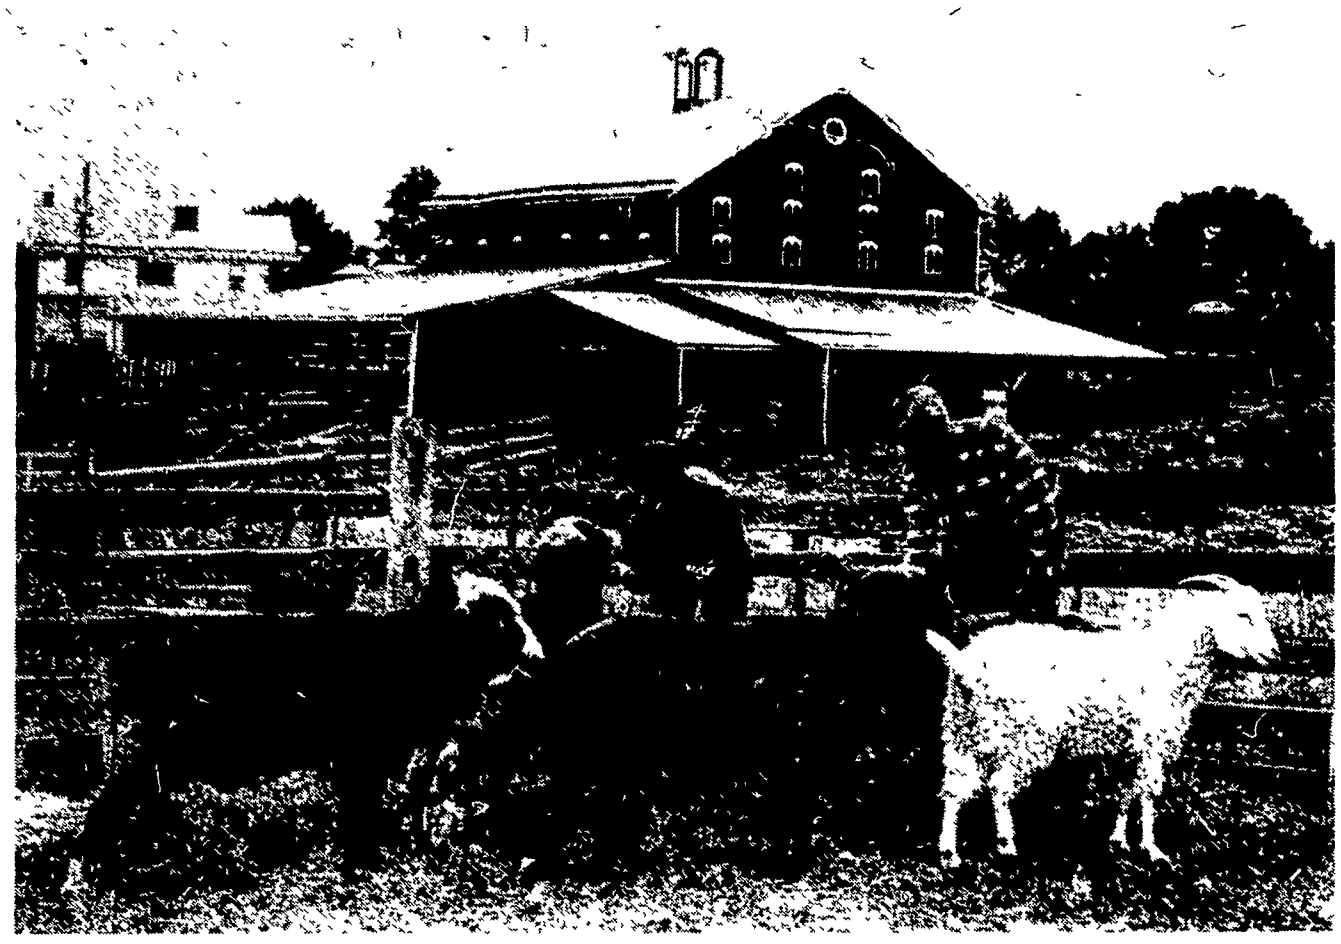
Ernest and Florence Hall - wool is their business



Ernest and Florence Hall, Red Rock Farm, Keymar, Md. stand with some of their black Finn-Rambouillet cross rams, and Angora goat.

By JOAN LIESAU

KEYMAR, Md. – It was a typical Fall afternoon. The sky was blue, air crisp, and the leaves were starting to show their personalities Autumn colors. The enormous red barn and lake came into view as I pulled in the drive of Red Rock Farm, owned by Ernest and Florence Hall, Keymar, Md.

Ernest describes himself as a retired full fledge bureaucrat, originally from Ohio. Florence is a western Iowa farm girl, turned journalist. Later, using her cooking talents, she became an expert caterer.

The Halls have resided in many places. At there Germantown home of one acre, 6 rented, they built up a flock of 80 sheep. Their first pure-bred Cheviots came from Erdenheim Farm, Lafayette Hill. "We were very fortunate to start out with good sheep" Florence said.

In 197[illegible]ne Halls bought a 131 acre farm on the outskirts of Keymar. They were overjoyed to discover that underneath the shack they were about to burn down, was a log house. The house was part of the original Hinea farm which stood there long ago. Over a five year period the Halls rebuilt Red Rock Farm. All the while, building up their Cheviot flock.

In 1973 the Halls won every Cheviot class at Keystone International Livestock Exposition. They also had the undefeated pen of ram lambs after showing in Chicago and Ohio. At one point Florence, Kevin, and

Ernest Hall

Kendra all had a show string out on the road. They would converge at the end of the season at Montgomery County Fair. Florence recalls her kids were pretty "hot" when she won every class at Montgomery, on their last year of showing there.

In 1971, Florence was named the Maryland Shepherd of the Year, by the Maryland Sheep Breeders Association. She was the first women in the state to be so named. (Florence said the award was really "Sheepman of the Year", but subsequently changed to "Shepherd".) Ernest received the same distinguished title in 1977.

Whether it was mutual agreement, or the fact that the Halls have been married for 30 years, they both said "Don't get into something unless your willing to be a success."

business (their friends knew better) a pure-bred breeder approached them with a black fleeced lamb. "We bought it just for fun" Florence said. This became the beginning of their interest for colored wool breeds.

At the same time, Virginia Polytecnic Institute was conducting experiments for multiple lambing. They were using Finnish Landrace (Finn) rams on Rambouillet ewes. A black ewe was produced from that cross. The Halls found out, and brought her home. She was affectionately named "Socks" and has produced 14 lambs for them in four years.

The Halls rapidly got caught up in the colored wool business. They took a trip to Michigan expecting to bring back truck load of Romney ewes. They returned with two. In West Virginia they found their truckoad of Romneys. "The man wouldn't sell us his fleeces though because he was using them as insulation for his house. Can you imagine?" Florence said.

Florence said they were "principally raising black sheep for a variety of hand spun wool. Spinners want the wool colors varied for different things." The Halls sell their breeding stock throughout the United Sttes and Canada. There wool is sold across the country. "We don't advertise anymore, Ernest said "because we can't meet the demand."

The Halls keep accurate records on all their sheep. "We can tell you everything about every sheep thats been on this property" said Florence. (She pulls out a large notebook and gives her husband the background on a ewe he had asked about

Lebanon 4-H Club leaders honored

Volunteer leaders from 35 Lebanon County 4-H Clubs gathered at the Friendship Fire Hall for the Annual Leader Recognition Dinner Wednesday night.

Over 100 leaders and guests heard Grover C. Gouker, Jr. emphasize the importance of a positive attitude for successful communications with young people.

Mrs. Janis Horst, president of the 4-H Leaders Organization, welcomed guests and presented special recognition plaques to the following sustaining supporters of the 4-H program in Lebanon County: The People's National Bank of Lebanon for their annual presentation of 4-H scholarships; National Central Bank for continued support of calendar programs and for addtional funds to subsidize awards and trophies for 4-H achievement; Agway, Inc. and Tom Morrissey for continued support of awards for Cookie Sale projects; Lebanon Valley Exposition Corporation for use of the Fairgrounds and for the Lebanon Area Fair.

Those receiving Friends of 4-H appreciation certificates included Lebanon County Bankers Association; Lebanon County Flower Club; Lebanon County Society of Farm Women; Pinky's of Myerstown; Layser's Jewelers; Leiby's Service Center, and Umberger's Mill.

Highlighting the program was the announcement of the 1978 scholarship awards. Edgar Miller, Executive Vice President of People's National Bank, presented scholarships to M. Jane Bomgardner, a student at Delaware Valley College; Arthur Sweinhart, sophomore at Penn State; Brian Wenger, a freshman at Indiana University of Pa. and Sue Bomberger, a freshman at George Washington University.

Alletta Schadler, County Extension Director, presented service certificates to 4-H Leaders assisted by Patricia Krall, youth agent. Special recognition for five years service went to Mrs. June Brummer and Glenn Woods of the Annville Little Dutchmen Club; Ruth Arnold, Avon-East Lebanon Club; Gail Shiner, Myerstown Raiders; Ethel Bollinger, Fort Zellers Club; Larry Moyer, Norsolebco; Mrs. Homer Kreider, South Mountain; Sara Miller, Elco Dairy; Linda Boyer, North Cornwall Trail Blazers; Larry Arnold, County Livestock Club.

Receiving a 10 year pin was Dorothy Moyer, leader in the Norsolebco Club. Her husband, Albert received a 15 year award with Cedar Crest Dairy Club. Also receiving a 15 year award was Harold Sellers of the South Mountain Club. Mrs. Lester Long of Campbelltown has served 20 years.

A refrigerator will keep foods just as fresh and tasty, but will save you money and electricity it it's an energy-efficient appliance. Your electric utility can provide information about this and other appliances.

Following the program the 4-H Leaders elected new officers for the coming year as follows: President, Mrs. Judy LeRoy, Hoof and Horns Club; Vice President, Daniel Shiner, Myerstown Raider Club; Secretary, Mrs. Linda Eckenrode, Livestock Club; and Treasurer, Mrs. Marilyn Balmer, South Mountain 4-H Club.

Mrs. Horst presented Patricia Krall with a pewter coffee service on behalf of leaders and 4-H clubs. Miss Krall who is presently participating in a study internship at the National 4-H Center in Washington, D.C. will resign in November. She will be moving to York County following her marriage.

Janis Horst, retiring president of the Lebanon County 4-H Leaders Organization, presents Merritt Marks, National Central Bank, Richland Branch, with a plaque in recognition for sponsorship of the 4-H calendar program and other 4-H activities in Lebanon County.

Marginal land studied for livestock grazing

UNIVERSITY PARK—An intensive research project is underway in Pennsylvania to determine, and increase if possible, the productivity of millions of acres of land presently not used for grazing livestock. Several different categories of abandoned fields and partially forested hills are being studied.

Directing the work are scientists with the Agricultural Experiment Station at The Pennsylvania State University. During the first year, experiments are being carried out on sites with unknown productivity in Elk, Huntingdon, and Centre counties.

Project leaders within the College of Agriculture are Dr. T. W. Bowersox, Dr. L. L. Wilson, and Dr. W. C. Stringer, representing the School of Forest Resources, Department of Dairy and Animal Science, and Department of Agronomy, respectively. Dan A. Devlin is research assistant.

"Results from the project will be used to develop economic, energy, and crop and livestock production guidelines that should increase the effectiveness of hill lands for raising livestock," Dr. Wilson affirmed.

The main objective the first year, Dr. Wilson said, is to establish an initial data base of plant classification, plant production, and potential livestock feed quality for different land categories. To accomplish this, a systematic procedure has been established for recording vegetation available for grazing. Vegetational measures will include density, frequency of growth, amount of ground cover, amount of dry matter produced, various plant types available, and potential nutritive value for livestock.

Although the project emphasizes the use of hill lands for beef cattle, dairy and sheep, farmers should also benefit from the results, Dr. Wilson observed.

Using data from the first year, subsequent years will be used to determine the productivity and responses of hill lands after mechanical harvesting and applications of soil additives, animal grazing, and site improvement. Cattle will be used on the land to evaluate their effect on vegetation and soil characteristics.

Fences will be used to differentiate between use by cattle and wildlife. Low-cost fencing, as well as supplemental feeding and watering locations, will be studied. Chemical and mechanical methods of improving forage-producing potential will be compared.

The project is supported in part by the Pennsylvania Fair Fund administered by the Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture.

WHAT'S NEW

PRO SIL APPLICATION

Terra Chemicals International, Inc. has developed a new method of applying Pro Sil, a liquid ammonia mineral suspension, to corn silage. The new method is a quick easy alternative to conventional procedures, says the manufacturer.

An overhead applicator sprays the supplement directly on chopped silage in the truck or wagon while it's being delivered to bunker. The handling necessary to distribute and pack the silage in the bunker provides for adequate mixing of the Pro Sil and silage.

Careful conducted research on farms and ranches has proven that the overhead method is an effective means of applying Pro Sil, claims the manufacturer.

Rollin Olson, manager, Pro Sil division, says the new method of application is not only fast and accurate but also requires less equipment and labor than adding Pro Sil to silage as it is chopped in the field.

"Setting up an overhead application system is uncomplicated and inexpensive. Terra representatives can explain all the details of the new concept," he added.

Pro Sil is a special combination of ammonia, molasses and minerals that increases the protein content of corn silage at feeding time. Adding Pro Sil also promotes the products lactic acid and enhances the fermentation of corn silage.

Pro Sil is patented. It is manufactured by Terra Chemicals International, Inc., a leading nitrogen products manufacturer and marketer of fertilizers, crop chemicals and feed ingredients. Terra is headquartered in Sioux City, Iowa.

Crowned Miss Apple Queen USA was Rebecca Pitsch, the Michigan State Apple Queen, from Rockford, Michigan. Twenty years old, she lives with her parents. Mr. and Mrs. Albert Pitsch, on a 300 acre orchard, where apples are the principal crop. She was chosen over 14 other contestants at the Apple Harvest Ball, Gettysburg, for her poise and ability to promote apples. She will "promote the natural temptation" across the nation for the next year, representing the apple industry.

Sculptured apple dolls, exhibited and made by Gladys Sweigard, Halifax, were a hit at the Apple Harvest Festival. Her display of the dolls aptly enough had the whole crew out working in the orchard gathering in the crop.

Apple cider will bring a smile to your face, as these gentlemen show, who had their picture taken while sampling the cider waiting for the thirsty.

'Royalty' crowned in York County 4-H program

By JOYCE BUPP
Staff Correspondent

YORK – York County has a new 4-H king and queen, crowned in ceremonies that climaxed the annual Achievement Day, held last Sunday afternoon at the 4-H Center near Bair.

Jonathan Miller, 15-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Miller, Seven Valleys R1, was selected as the king; and Lisa Dobrosky, 15-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Dobrosky, Glen Rock R2 will reign as queen.

The attractive and knowledgeable pair will serve as spokesmen for the county's 4-H program, doing public relations work through radio, television and personal appearances.

A 4-H member for eight years, Jon represented the Jefferson Community Club, where he serves as the vice-president. His busy schedule includes carrying projects in dairy, sheep, vet science, tractor, and he won the York Fair's grand champion tractor driver award. A junior at the York Area Vo-Tech School, Jon is majoring in machine shop and is a varsity member of the wrestling team.

Lisa, also 15, is a seven-year member of 4-H and especially active in the lamb club, which she serves as president. She's treasurer of county council and has carried ceramics, leathercraft, quilling and health projects through the Glen Rock club. A demonstration on smoking, given in 1977 competition, won Lisa the state gold medal award.

At Susquehannock High School, where Lisa is a sophomore studying college preparatory courses, she has served on the student council for five years and is assistant editor of the yearbook. In November, she'll travel to Kansas City to take part in the national 4-H meats judging contest, and was named high individual at the state level.

First runner-up for the title of king was Steve Trostle, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Trostle, Red Lion R2.

Named the second runner-up was Joey Welsh, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Welsh, East Berlin R1.

Susan Detter, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lorne Detter Dover, took the first runner-up spot in the queen competition; and Ann Miller, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Miller, Seven Valleys R1, was selected the second runner-up.

Entertainment for the afternoon program was provided by the talent

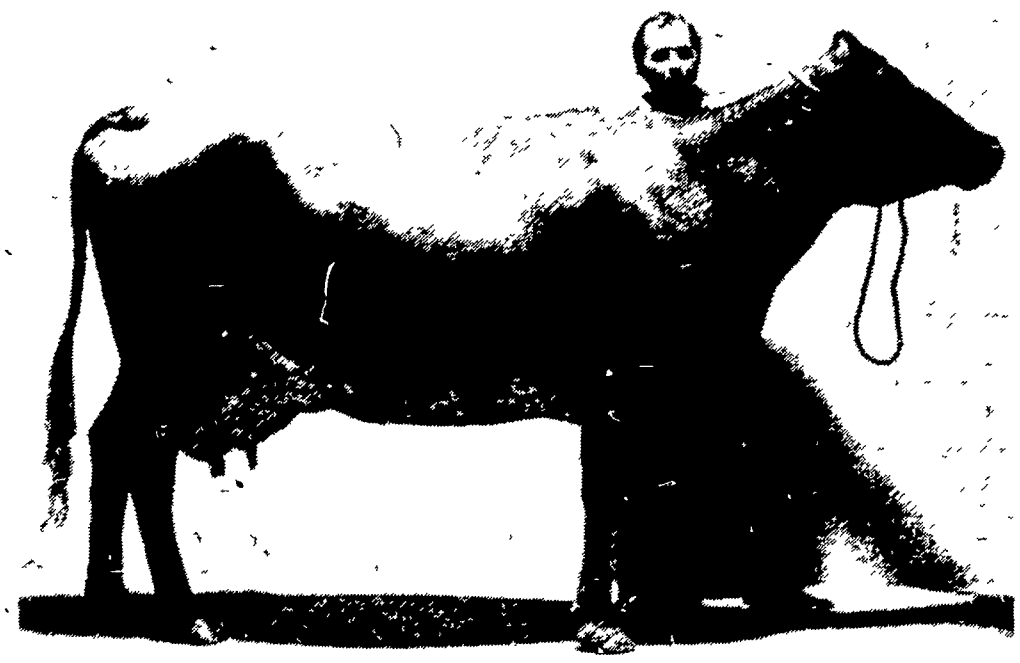
Australian semen credited for herd improvement

By DIETER KRIEG

NEWVILLE — James Young, a Cumberland County dairyman, started with Milking Shorthorn cattle. They didn't milk, so he replaced them with Holsteins.

Eight years ago his interest for Milking Shorthorns was rekindled when semen was imported from Australian cousins of the breed. Young acquired some of the genetic juice and once again made a switch in breeds. Two years ago he held a dispersal sale and ever since then his herd has been composed of the roan cattle rather than black-and-whites.



James Young, Cumberland County dairyman, credits Australian semen for improvement of his herd type and production.

The specific name of the kind of cattle which has Young excited is Illawarra.

Illawarra cattle, according to Young, possess more dairy character than their American cousins and are much more productive. While his original herd of Milking Shorthorns wasn't good enough to keep, his new herd, says Young, has the productivity of Holsteins without the feed expenses. His most recent production average is 16,120 pounds of milk and 612 pounds of butterfat, which gives him first place in the state for the breed.

"Illawarra blood is what moved'em up," the Cumberland Countian remarked. "I had a 9000 pound herd average before."

Since he began using the imported Australian semen, Young's herd has become increasingly concentrated with Illawarra blood. He presently has just five cows in his herd which are of staight domestic breeding lines. Illawarra are the Australian strain of Milking Shorthorn cattle.

Young's reasoning behind the switch from Holsteins to Milking Shorthorns stems largely from the difference in feed expenditures. He claims a Holstein has to produce 18,000 pounds of milk to make him as much money as he gets from a Milking Shorthorn producing 15,000 pounds. Other reasons he prefers the smaller, rusty-colored cattle include the fact that they're "different," and they have a "nice disposition."

Illawarra semen, imported from Australia, can be purchased for prices ranging from $12 to more than $200, says Young, who does his own inseminating. He was among the first in the United States to try the semen in his herd and has used only Australian sires in his breeding programs for several years.

"Illawaras are a little taller and have more dairy character than domestic Milking Shorthorn cattle," Young continued to explain. "They're more upstanding, but then their feed intake is up some too," he went on.

He has noticed little difference in disposition and breeding efficiencies between the Illawarras and domestic Milking Shorthorns.

President of the Pennsylvania Milking Shorthorn Society, and a director of the Illawarra board, Young says he originally became interested in Milking Shorthorns because his father had them. He had purchased his first ones in 1940.

Registered Illawarras and Milking Shorthorns are the stock which Young advertises proudly on the sign which accompanies him to cattle shows. He is also active in promotional sales and related activities. "A Milking Shorthorn or Illawarra that produces 15,000 to 18,000 pounds of milk can command a price of several thousand dollars," the dairyman commented, adding that he usually purchases two or three head at the national sale every year. The highest price ever paid for a cow of the breed is $10,000, he recollected.

Members of Maryland's national champion 4-H dairy cattle judging team pose with coaches and trophy hardware on Oct. 4 during the World Dairy Expo at Madison, Wis. To identify individuals, think of an alert dairy cow with her ears forward. Representing the cow's muzzle are (left to right): Patty Kahler, 16, of Keymar (Frederick County) and Mrs. Cindy Stonesifer, 18, of Bloom (Carroll County). Standing in for the cow's ears are Kevin Stiles, 17 (far left), of Boonsboro (Washington County) and Dennis Patrick, 18 (far right), of Daisy (howard County). Symbolizing a healthy cow's bright eyes are the team coaches, Tony R. Rickard (left) and Janet L. Shank (right), both with the University of Maryland's Cooperative Extension Service. The poll (top of the head) is represented by Armin W. Fruechte (center), director of public relations at Westby, Wis., for Tri-State Breeders Cooperative. Fruechte is holding Mylo S. Downey memorial award plaque, which has now been won by Maryland 4-H teams two years out of three since its inception in 1976.

Maryland 4-H dairy cattle judging team wins national championship trophy for 23rd time

COLLEGE PARK,Md.—True to form, the Maryland 4-H dairy judging team has bounced back in an even numbered year to win the national championship. This year's feat was accomplished on Oct. 4 during the World Dairy Expo at Madison, Wis.

Teams from the Old Line State have now won the national 4-H dairy cattle judging contest in seven of the ten even-numbered years counting back to 1960. Last year, in an odd-numbered year, the Maryland delegation finished eleventh.

This year's Maryland team competed in a record large field of 38 state teams. In addition to winning the over-all championship, it scored first in total reasons and first in Brown Swiss breed judging

The team also placed fourth in Holstein and seventh in Guernsey judging and twelfth in Jerseys.

Pennsylvania was runner-up state in the over-all team competition; Michigan, third; Kentucky, fourth, and Ohio, fifth. Kentucky had beat out a different Maryland team in 4-H dairy cattle judging on Sept. 25 during the Pennsylvania All-American Dairy Show at Harrisburg, Pa.

The Maryland sweep in Brown Swiss judging at the national contest was aided by two team members finishing first and second among all individuals participating.

Patty Kahler, 16, of Keymar (Frederick County) was the top individual in Brown Swiss judging, and Kevin Stiles, 17, of Boonsboro (Washington County) was runner-up. The two had placed second and third, respectively, in over-all 2) at the Maryland State Fair.

In over-all individual standings at the national contest, Dennis Patrick, 18, of Daisy (Howard County) placed third; Kevin Stiles finished fourth, and Patty Kahler, ninth. The fourth team member was Mrs. Cindy Stonesifer, 18, of Bloom (Carroll County). She was twenty-third in the national standings.

Team coaches were Tony R. Rickard, Extension dairy science specialist at the University of Maryland in College Park, and Janet L. Shank of Elkton, Extension agricultural and 4-H agent in Cecil County. Miss Shank won state and national honors in both dairy cattle and livestock judging during her 4-H career in Washington County. She was also a member of the University of Maryland

All told, Maryland teams have now won the national 4-H dairy cattle judging championship 23 times—far more than any other state. Ironically, their record of winning in even-numbered years is a fairly recent phenomenon. The Maryland total of national championships going back to 1921 show 11 wins in odd-numbered years and 12 wins in even-numbered years.

PERFORMANCE

That's What Really Counts

It's a good reason to buy O's Gold hybrid seed corn. You can count on total performance from the best yielding hybrids for your fields.

In the spring, O's Gold hybrids have high germination and seedling vigor. During the summer and fall, they show excellent standability with high resistance to stalk rot. And, good ear retention throughout the growing season makes sure your profits don't end up on the ground. At harvest time, fast drydown lowers your fuel bills for the grain dryer.

Look to your O's Gold dealer when planning this year's corn crop. He's a farmer just like you and he knows his seed corn. Plus, he'll tell you all about the many valuable premiums and exciting 1979 winter cruise that O's Gold has for you.

Davis, Romesberg win Quarter Horses

Robert L. Stein, 14, Washington R5, and Joan Romesberg, 13, of Rockwood R2, were each awarded a yearling Quarter Horse from Bob Evans Farms, of Ohio, during the State 4-H Horse Show, in Harrisburg.

The two Pennsylvania winners were selected in recognition of outstanding work and leadership displayed within 4-H, at school, and other activities. They are two of 9,500 youths who take part in 4-H Horse Club activities.

According to farmer and sausagemaker Bob Evans, "providing good quality colts to 4-H members who show outstanding leadership qualities is our way of expressing appreciation of the fine work of the 4-H program."

Evans, raised on a farm, has supported the efforts of young people interested in agriculture and currently serves as a trustee of the Ohio 4-H Foundation.

"Nominations for the award were screened by each 4-H Horse District Committee," said James P. Gallagher, Extension animal scientist at The Pennsylvania State University. Winners were determined by a committee consisting of Penn State College of Agriculture faculty and staff members.

Robert, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Stein, has been a 4-H member for five years. He currently serves as president and news reporter of his 4-H horse club.

His 4-H horse project the past four years has been a 54½-inch mare pony. In each of these years, Robert qualified for the District 4-H Horse Show.

"My main reason for wanting this Quarter Horse yearling is the desire to own and train a young horse. I am also outgrowing my pony," he points out.

He is a member of the Upper Buffalo Presbyterian Church where he sang in the choir.

In school, Robert participated in basketball and junior olympic competition. He currently is an elected member of the Trinity High School Student Council.

Joan is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Romesberg, and has been a 4-H member for four years. She currently serves as president of her club.

For her first project, she owned a Shetland Pony which she soon outgrew. Later she used her brother's western pony, then purchased a registered Quarter Horse gelding. Last Christmas she received a 10-year-old registered Quarter Horse.

"This opportunity to win a young Quarter Horse is very important to me because I've always had the desire to raise a foal and work with it," she points out. "Since my mare is 10 years old, I will need a better horse in the near future."

In 4-H work, Joan is a member of the horse judging team and participated in the 4-H poster contest and demonstration day. In addition to horse project work, she took indoor gardening and clothing.

She encouraged numerous boys and girls to join 4-H Clubs, and this past winter, helped to organize a program to involve club members in sewing riding outfits and other horse articles.

Joan is a member of the United Church of Christ where she served as an acolyte for three years.

In 1976, she received the Science Fair grand prize at the Rockwood Elementary School.

She is a junior high school majorette and is a member of both the junior band chorus. She has been a recipient of several scholastic awards.

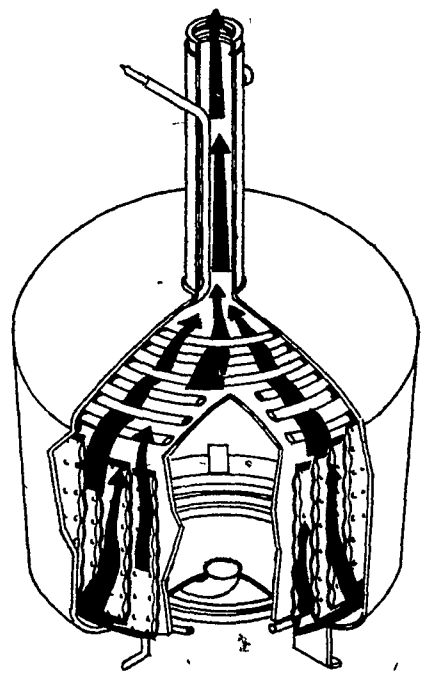
MUELLER FRE-HEATER™

The HEART of the Fre Heater* the unique all stainless steel heat exchanger!



*PATENTED U.S. PATENT NO 4041726 AND OTHER PATENTS PENDING

ALL STAINLESS STEEL CONSTRUCTION!
Mueller Fre-Heater heat exchangers are constructed entirely of type 304 stainless steel The heat exchanger in both models utilize Mueller Temp-Plate, a patented heat transfer surface that's in use in more than 60,000 Mueller Milk Coolers around the world

CHOOSE FROM SEVERAL SIZES AND MODELS!
Mueller Fre-Heaters are available in 2, 3 and 4 H P sizes for either HiPerForm or conventional refrigeration systems.

A 2 or 3 H P installation normally requires one 120 U S. gallon water storage tank. 4 H P installations may require two 120 gallon water storage tanks Mueller Fre-Heaters, Model 'B and Model C" can be used with either Mueller Milk Coolers or with milk coolers made by other manufacturers.

FREE HOT WATER!
There are many variables that determine how much hot water can be generated however a rule of thumb is that a Fre-heater operating on 60 degrees F well water will produce a volume of 140 degree F water similar to the amount of milk produced during a milking In other words, if 100 gallons of milk per milking is produced approximately 100 gallons of hot water (140 degrees F) will be generated during each milking Experience has shown that on most dairy farms enough hot water is produced to satisfy all hot water requirements

The Mueller Fre-Heater comes to you from the maker of world famous Mueller Milk Coolers!

Manheim Fair closes with sale of livestock

Hatfield Packing Company, Hatfield, represented by Jerry Clemens, livestock buyer and Ezra H. Good, buyer for Hatfield, are seen with Beth Chapman, and the champion hog she exhibited. The animal brought $2.10 per pound at the auction.

By KENDACE BORRY

MANHEIM — The parade of animals through the sales ring at the last night of the Manheim Community Farm Show included the champion hog, sheep, and steer shown at the fair held previously last week. Due to the inclement weather, the sale was moved inside the livestock tent.

the champion hog which had been shown by Beth Chapman, 15, of Dutch Valley Farms, was sold for $2.10 per pound and bought by the Hatfield Packing Company, Hatfield. The total price of the 220 pound animal was $462. Hatfield Packing Company bought a total of 31 lots of the 61 lots of hogs sold at the sale.

The reserve champion hog, was exhibited by Rick Strauss, Ephrata R1, and his brothers, Robert, and Steve. The animal was bought by Walter Dunlap, Jr., of the Lancaster Stockyards. The hog brought $1.47 per pound, for a total price of $233.69.

A total of 150 head of hogs were sold for a total sale of $20,050.75. The average price per hog was 62.45 cents per pound.

Sarah Lynn Brubaker, Lancaster, sold her champion lamb for $1.30 per pound to Willie the Butcher, who is William Krieder of Stauffers of Kissel Hill. Total price of the animal was $133.90. Sarah, who will soon be moving with her parents outside of Lancaster County, announced that any money over $100 paid for the price of her lamb would be donated to the Manheim Farm Show Committee.

READING — "Berks County farmers are optimistic that they can meet the challenges of the future," stated Jack Kooker, vice-president of the Berks County Farmers' Association, as he addressed the well attended annual meeting. "Because," he continued, "they belong to a strong farm organization."

Kooker urged the farmers to participate in their organization to help keep agriculture an important segment of Pennsylvania's economy. The farm family's participation at the grass roots level will have the greatest chances for establishing growth and agricultural policies which are needed, he commented. Kooker also noted the size of the county association which now numbers close to 1,100.

Also addressing the meeting, which was held at the Reading Motor Inn, here on October 6 was Harold Burgert, policy development chairman, Burgert reviewed the policy proposals which were to be presented at the annual state meeting in November, for approval by the members. Proposals which were adopted included recommendations concerning agricultural products pricing, promotion of quality farm products, preservation of agricultural land, a complete overhaul of Workmen's Compensation Laws, expansion of agricultural exports and foreign market development, and an update on the noxious weed bill.

County President, William Myer, reported on the achievements made by the association and many of it's committees. Noted was that Berks County was placed second for the associations' overall programs in the over 400 member category, was first place in political education programs and first place with their farm management business analysis service.

Also noted was the county women's committee took top honors for their many activities which included a "Health Profile" project, legislative contacts and mall displays.

Berks was also among the top three counties in the state for its programs in local affairs, policy development, and legislation, with three members of the legislature on the House Agricultural Committee and one legislator on the Senate Committee. The County Information Director was also cited for providing a better understanding through the press and media of farm programs and problems.

Teresa Wolfskill, Berks County Dairy Princess, also made a brief address to the group in attendance. Teresa competition, won by Jennifer DePalmer.

Jennifer topped the other entries with a cello solo and she has been studying the difficult string intstrument for three years. She is 13 years old and the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Michael De DePalmer, Jefferson.

Second place in the talent presentations was won by Masayo Detter, a Japanese foreign exchange student who is spending a year with Lorne Detter family of Dover. She danced a Japanese warrior dance, complete with colorful oriental costume and fan.

The Jefferson Community Club was selected this year's outstanding club. In second place was the Thomasville Club, with Loganville named to the third spot.

Carole- Mundis, of the Thomasville Club, received the plaque for outstanding club news reporter, and Derrick Lasher, representing Glen Rock, was named the outstanding club secretary.

The York Area Chamber of Commerce sponsored trophies for winners in a variety of categories in the "outstanding" divisions. Helping to present those trophies was Stewart E. Hartman, Jr., chairman of the Chamber's agriculture committee.

Susan Eisenhart, not much bigger than the trophy she carried home, captured the coveted Rookie award. Her sister, Nancy, was named the outstanding junior girl. They are the daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Rodney Eisenhart, Thomasville R1.

Brian and Brooke Palmer, children of Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Palmer, Shrewsbury, made that family another double-trophy winner. Brian was selected the outstanding junior boy and Brooke, who relinquished her crown as the 1977 4-H queen, was named the outstanding senior girl overall.

Lisa Dobrosky captured another top honor when she was chosen the outstanding girl for 1978 and Joey Welsh earned the trophy for outstanding boy.

Also winning outstanding awards from the Chamber of Commerce were several other senior competitors. Steve Trostle, Red Lion, and Kay Swartz, Hanover, won recognition in the achievement category. Linda Brown, Loganville, was chosen the citizenship winner. Leadership presentations went to Derrick Lasher, Glen Rock, and Charla Janney, Brodbecks.

Junior trophy winners were recognized in a variety of project categories: beef, Christine Shive; ceramics, Katrina Lighty; clothing, Carol Itle; crocheting, Dawn Raubenstein; dairy, Mike Welsh; foods, Gwen Jones; handyman, David Detter; home arts, Laura Perta; horse, Michele Lehigh; horticulture, Brian Palmer; leathercraft, Robert Livingston; pets, Marcia Lecrone; sheep, Nancy Eisenhart; stamp collecting, Susan Eisenhart; vet science, Karrie Brenneman.

Senior trophy project winners were: clothing, Joanne Haskins; foods, Linda Brown; handyman, Connie Basta; health, Lisa Dobrosky; home environment, Joyce Hemminger; home management, Kay Swartz; horticulture, Rebecca Brenneman; livestock, Charla Janney; poultry, Emily Livingston; sheep, Laurie Dobrosky; and swine, Steve Trostle.

Recognition was extended to those county members who had been named state, keystone, national, and dress revue winners, as well as county winners in the national awards program.

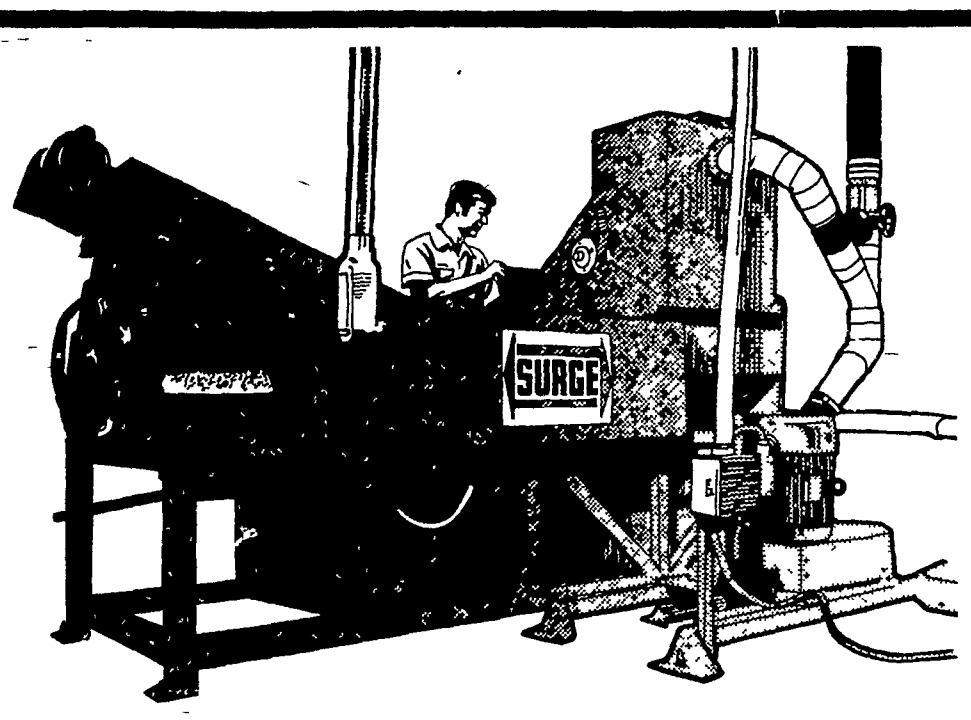
Judges for the king and queen selection were Ethel Gross, state coordinator of Penn's Agri-Women, Diane Moyer, Central High School teacher and 4-H alumnus, and Ed Rohrbaugh, beef and crops farmer and 4-H alumnus.

Talent contest judging was done by Joanne Hake, a former 4-H'er, Betsy Abrams, an administrative staffer at York College, and Bert Smith, director of the York Little Theatre.



Efficient manure handling that can generate extra income.

It's TRU from Surge.

If you're a dairyman, check out the rugged, new TRU manure handling system from Surge

The TRU converts raw dairy manure into two valuable, easy-to-handle by-products A high nutrient liquid fertilizer, and a low-moisture, near-odorless solid that can be used as a source of quality bedding or sold as garden mulch

Incoming manure is agitated in a process pit beneath the TRU The agitated slurry is then pumped through 4 sets of pressurized rubber rollers and perforated steel drums to separate solids from the liquids The solid has the consistency of commercial peat moss The liquid contains approximately 85% of the fertilizer value, and because of its water-like consistency can be easily transferred to a lagoon or field with no further agitation

With a 100 cow herd, the TRU could easily convert a messy, smelly problem into $5000-$8000* worth of high nutrient fertilizer, plus 36,000-54,000 cu ft of quality bedding or saleable soil conditioner per year

The old roost gets a boost at the U. of Del.

NEWARK, Del.--The department of animal science and agricultural biochemistry at the University Delaware is in the process of improving its poultry programs so that they can be of greater service to Delaware agriculture.

This effort will be greatly aided by a recent Animal Health Education Grant for $6000 from the Merck Company Foundation "to help provide practical training facilities in the poultry sciences at the University of Delaware."

Specifically, the grant will be used to build a teaching broiler house. According to department chairperson Dr. John K. Rosenberger, the new facility will be a small (2000 bird capacity) commercial-type broiler house located on the University farm in Newark. Its purpose is to give students an opportunity to grow birds under simulated field conditions. This type of experience will be invaluable to undergraduate animal and poultry science majors, most of whom have had no previous experience with poultry production.

Rosenberger says the gift coincides with his department's decision to revise its teaching programs in order to make them as responsive as possible to the needs of agriculture in Delaware and on the Delmarva peninsula.

To facilitate this decision, the department is in the process of strengthening its present course offerings in poultry science, particularly in the areas of modern poultry management practices including nutrition and disease control. "We have recently filled two faculty teaching and research positions one in poultry nutrition and the other in environmental physiology," says Rosenberger. "In addition, we anticipate hiring two new faculty members to work on poultry diseases. With these additions and other modifications in our current program, I believe we will be able to provide students academic training in poultry and the allied sciences that will compare favorably with most programs currently available in the U.S."

In developing a program of this type, it becomes necessary that at some point in a student's training he or she have the opportunity for practical "hands on" field experience. This is particularly important since the majority of today's agriculture students come from urban backgrounds.

The Animal Health Education Grants were initiated by the Merck Company Foundation to assist in education in veterinary medicine and animal science at selected institutions. The grants are awarded on recommendation of scientific advisors from the Animal Health Division and the Animal Science Research Area of the Merck, Sharp & Dohme Research Laboratory Division of Merck & Company, Inc.

In addition to the above generous grant, the department also recently received a gift of 18 colony-type experimental poultry houses from Abbott Laboratories, a vaccine and drug company with a large research farm in the midwest. Ten of these houses are being installed at the University's Georgetown Substation where they will be used in disease-related research in conjunction with the Poultry Diagnostic Laboratory there. The other eight are to put to similar use on the University's experimental farm in Newark.

Water problems can be solved

UNIVERSITY PARK – If one discovers a high E. Coli count in water he feeds to poultry and if the birds are loose and producing poorly, he may find adding chlorine or iodine to drinking water may make birds improve their performance temporarily. One should not make this a permanent practice. Each week one must improve management practices so therefore, if a person has polluted water, he should make the water clean and pure again - not add a permanent chemical poison at low doses to fix it.

If one discovers E. Coli or some other pollutant in water, he should remove it from the water. In case of E. Coli, one can consider the following:

Stop spreading manure near a well or on a watershed near a spring; Stop applying manure to frozen hillsides in winter; Turn manure into soil after it is applied to the soil; Remove septic tank effluent away from wells or springs; Recase your well down further if necessary; Re-drill the well if necessary; Get water from a better source; Add a fine filtering system to your water supply; Seek specialist advice as to tillage of soil around or near or above water supplies; and Stop surface water from entering your water supply.

Cleaning up a water supply will eventually lower the cost of production.

In summary, one must never add a pollutant to a pollutant permanently – if possible remove the polluting physical, chemical or microbial pollutant.

Ag zone workshop set

LANCASTER - The Lancaster County Extension Service has announced that an Agricultural Zoning Workshop will be held on Wednesday, October 25 at 7:30 p.m. in the Farm and Home Center, here. It should be of special interest to municipal officials, but all interested citizens are encouraged to attend.

Featured speakers will be Lancaster Countains, John Keretzman of Salisbury Township; John Heisey of Mount Joy Township; Issac Eby of Clay Township; and also, David Schreffler from Millcreek Township, Lebanon County. Each speaker will discuss the farmland preservation strategy of their municipality's zoning ordinance. Lancaster County Planning Commission personnel will also be available as a resource.

The workshop will provide an opportunity for local officials and concerned citizens to hear the experiences and ask questions of the representatives from municipalities that have been through the agricultural zoning process. For further information on this workshop, contact Robin Ream at the Lebanon or Lancaster County Extension Office (Lancaster phone 394-6851; Lebanon phone 273-3748.)

Pa. nursery, dealer gross receipts up

HARRISBURG - Gross receipts of the Commonwealth's 3,591 certified nurseries and dealers in 1977 totaled $206.1 million, according to a report released by the Pennsylvania Crop Reporting Service.

The 1977 gross receipts were 43 per cent higher than those in 1975. The survey is done every other year.

Retail sales accounted for about 65 per cent of the total receipts. Certified nurseries accounted for 55 per cent of that total while the remaining 45 per cent was received by certified dealers in nursery products.

Overall, 37 per cent of the products sold were selfgrown, 33 per cent were purchased within Pennsylvania, and 30 per cent were purchased from other states.

During 1977 the nursery industry employed 12,771 workers, up seven per cent from 1975. An additional 3,133 unpaid family members worked for the industry.

Salaries and wages paid totaled $47.9 million, up 13 per cent from 1975, while expenditures for fee or contract services such as fertilizing, spraying, etc., totaled $2.8 million, up 27 per cent from the previous survey.

The 1977 market value of land, structures and equipment used in Pennsylvania's nursery industry totaled $209.8 million, an increase of 25 per cent from 1975. Land used by nursery operations during 1977 totaled 33,695 acres, down 24 per cent from 1975. This total includes land planted for certified nursery stock plus work areas and other land related to the operation. Land used by operators of nursery enterprises for all agricultural operations including nursery totaled 107,720 acres, down 13 per cent.

Greenhouse area totaled 6.6 million square feet, cold frames covered 4.7 million square feet, shaded areas covered 5.8 million square feet and sales and storage sheds covered 3.0 million square feet.

At the request of the Nursery Marketing Advisory Council, the Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture agreed to fund a Nursery Industry Survey. Since a complete enumeration was financially infeasible, a probability sample survey was conducted for the Department by the Pennsylvania Crop Reporting Service. A sample of 200 nurseries and 108 dealers was selected from a list of nursery operations maintained by the Department's Bureau of Plant Industry.

Further sampling information is available upon request from the Pennsylvania Crop Reporting Service, 2301 North Cameron Street, Harrisburg, Pa. 17120, or by telephoning 717-787-3904.

Hunting permission urged

HARRISBURG--Hunters this year are again being urged by the Pennsylvania Game Commission to ask for permission before hunting on private land.

In recent years a growing number of landowners have complained to the Game Commission that too many hunters went onto private property without first receiving permission to do so. As part of its SPORT program (Sportsmen Policing Our Ranks Together), the Game Commission is asking that hunting without permission be discontinued.

Many of the complaining landowners, who are now participating in the SPORT program, indicate that they have no objection to hunting or hunters, but they would like to be shown just a little courtesy and consideration. In most cases, permission to hunt will be readily granted if it is sought by responsible persons wearing SPORT buttons.

Farmers, particularly, are harvesting crops, and would like to know where hunters are on their property. And hunters should stay out of unharvested fields.

The alternative to asking for permission before hunting is often posted land, on which no one is permitted to hunt.

WHAT'S NEW

MASSEY-FERGUSON MEDIUM-SIZED 4-WD TRACTOR

DES MOINES, Iowa—To meet the increasing demand for a medium-sized, four-wheel-drive tractor for heavy, wet-soil use, Massey-Ferguson is introducing the MF 184-4 farm tractor rated at 62 PTO horsepower.

Its major advantage over two-wheel-drive tractors is greater drawbar pull for wide implements at lower speeds on rough ground and heavy, tough soils. Other advantages include reduced wheel slippage, greater ground grip, higher stability, improved flotation, reduced rolling resistance, and positive steering. Power, weight and tractive effort are spread more evenly over the four wheels.

Designed for farming areas where traction is the limiting factor in tractor capability, the MF 184-4 will be used mainly for plowing, discing, planting, and for operating spreaders, balers, mowers, and farm loaders.

The MF 184-4 is powered by a Perkins 4-cylinder, 236 cubic inch direct-injection diesel engine. Power is transmitted through an 11-inch dual clutch to a syncromesh transmission which provides 12 speeds forward and four in reverse.

The tractor's hydraulic system is equipped with a conventional Category II three-point linkage. The system provides draft and position control and external services with adjustable sensitivity control and automatic lowering rate adjustment. Hydraulic power is supplied by a gear pump mounted on the engine.

Dry multidisc brakes are mounted at the inner ends of the rear axle, and final reduction gears are mounted at the outer ends.

The front axle has a malleable cast iron casing with centrally mounted differential and planetary reduction gears in the front hubs. The drive to the front wheels can be engaged by means of a handlever-operated sliding gear.

A mechanically operated independent 540-rpm power take-off is standard. Both engine speed and ground speed PTO are available. A second PTO shaft above the normal shaft provides direct drive from the engine for operating belt pulleys, hydraulic pumps, etc.

Hydrostatic power steering with independent pump and circuit is also standard. Other features include an oil bath air cleaner with pre-cleaner, forward-hinged hood for easy maintenance access to the air cleaner, battery and fan belt, headlights built into the front grill, spring suspension seat, and a fully instrumented dashboard.

A modified version of the MF 236 Quick Attach loader with 2500-lb lift capacity is available for the MF 184-4. It can be mounted or dismounted using the tractor's hydraulic power only.

MANURE SPREADER

An agricultural implement manufacturer with over 30 years of experience, the Knight Manufacturing Corporation, has introduced the 'Soup er Solid manure spreader featuring a tilting design that lets farmers haul and spread soupy manure and solid manure with the same unit.

The Soup er Solid is equipped with a belted hydraulic endgate providing the seal required for transporting soupy manure plus a tilting feature that causes manure to flow to the beaters for fast unloading. Beaters on the Soup er Solid spreader can be operated with the hydraulic endgate in any position whether it is up three inches or wide open. This allows control of the flow of the soup by how high you raise the gate. A lower spinner beater evenly spreads the soup and a top beater evenly spreads solid manure.

Heavy steel rails on top of the sides are flared inward to keep the soup in the machine until ready for spreading. For additional features and specifications on the spreader write: Knight Manufacturing Corp., 1401 W. 8th Avenue, Brodhead, Wis. 53520.

AUTOMATIC KNIFE GRINDER

A new automatic knife grinder attachment that lets farmers sharpen forage harvester knives at the push of a button has been developed by Fox engineers.

With this new automatic knife sharpener, named the "Auto-Bev", it will be easier for farmers to maintain knife sharpness. This should result in greater output per engine horsepower, lower fuel consumption, and a more uniform cut according to the manufacturer. The automatic knife grinder is designed to be used with all model 162 Fox knife grinders manufactured since 1970.

The automatic knife grinder features push-button, individual knife sharpening. After pressing the index button, the grinder operates automatically, making one pass on each knife. This allows uniform knife grinding and reduces heat build up on individual knives. Sharpening time is controlled by a standard 60 minute timer.

When all knives have received one pass, the cycle is repeated until the pre-set sharpening time has expired. An average sharpening cycle is 20 to 30 minutes.

The electric powered grinder comes equipped with a 25-foot power cord and uses any 110 volt AC power source. Preparation for grinding requires about a minute.

The Koehring Farm Equipment Division, headquartered in Appleton, Wis. manufactures Fox forage harvesting and handling equipment and Brady tillage tools.

HARRISBURG—The Game Commission reminds all Pennsylvanians that the practice of spotlighting after midnight is unlawful.

Although the law has been in effect for more than ten years, some persons apparently are still not aware of the restriction, or perhaps they simply forget to check their watches.

Spotlighting of deer at night is an activity in which many persons, sportsmen and sportswomen as well as non-hunters, engage, especially during the fall months. It is an especially pleasurable pastime for parents who want their youngsters to see and enjoy wildlife, and for hunters trying to locate a big buck before the opening of the season.

But all are reminded that while the practice is permissible up until midnight, it is illegal to do so between midnight and sunrise.

It is also illegal to spotlight big game with a firearm or bow and arrow in the vehicle at any time.

In recent years there has been increasing criticism from rural residents about spotlights being used by unthinking persons around buildings. Casting the rays of a strong light onto and into buildings stirs up livestock, dogs, etc. It also disturbs the sleep or rest of rural residents, who are demanding that spotlighters "mind their manners" or face further curbs on their activities.

Some spotlights hit light-sensitive tripping devices on rural lights that shine at night, turning them off.

Unpleasant situations can be avoided simply by not spotlighting near buildings.

Penn State dairy team is 4th

The dairy cattle judging team at The Pennsylvania State University earned forth place in the 1978 National Intercollegiate Contest held October 4 in Madison, Wis.

The field of 38 college teams represented the largest number of teams ever to compete at the national level in the history of the intercollegiate event.

Team members representing Penn State were Dale Olver, of Honesdale; Vernon Seipt, of Lansdale; Richard Hess, of Strasburg; and alternate Leslie A. Goeringer, of Tunkhannock. Coaching duties were handled by Warren R. Poage with assistance from A. E. Branding, University faculty members.

In earning fourth place team honors, the Penn State team was fourth in Ayrshire, fourth in Brown Swiss, second in Guernsey, eleventh in Holsteins and twentieth in Jersey breed placings. The Penn State team also earned tenth place in oral reason scores.

Individual honors earned by Richard Hess was ninth high individual overall, ninth in judging Brown Swiss cattle, and twelth in Holstein breed placings. Vernon Seipt was first high individual in judging Guernsey cattle and placed 11th in oral reason scores for the contest.

The Penn State team placed fourth overall with 2016 total points. The point spread for the top ten teams was only 63 points.

Henry Giacomini of California Poly State University was high individual overall. Mr. Giacomini was awarded the $1000 Dean Kildee Scholarship for graduate studies sponsored by the National Dairy Shrine Club.

Proper pesticide storage suggestions given

NEWARK, Del.—"Like a ticking time bomb" is the way John McDaniel, University of Delaware extension pesticide specialist, refers to poorly stored pesticides. So many accidental things can happen to pesticides left in busy areas. They may be knocked over, the can may be punctured, or the paper container may be torn. Labels may be lost through just falling off, becoming stained and unreadable, or torn.

Safety is the main reason for proper storage of pesticides but, at today's prices, financial savings are also a factor.

Farmers, commercial pest control operators and others who deal with large quantities of these materials should store them under lock and key in a separate building dedicated only to this use whenever possible, says McDaniel. If it's impossible to do this, use a locked room in an existing building for this purpose. The storage area should have at least one window and should be marked in case of fire. Homeowners may safely store unused pesticides in locked cabinets used for nothing else. In no case should feed, food, or seeds be stored with pesticides. Locking prevents harm to the unwary.

Pesticides should be arranged in the storage area so that weed killers are not near insecticides or fungicides. Since some liquid pesticides are rendered useless by exposure to temperatures of 40 degrees or lower, some arrangement should be made to keep the storage area warm. Labels usually warn of this sensitivity to low temperatures. Dry products are not affected by low temperatures.

Each container should have a complete label attached to it. If the label seems loose, glue or tape it to the container. By doing this there will be no question of what's inside or how it should be used.

Pesticides properly stored in tight containers can be expected to hold their activity for more than a year. Again, check the label for any special storage instructions.

Major issues confront members at the State Grange convention

HARRISBURG – Water quality management and the property tax will be among the major issues that delegates will discuss at the 106th annual convention of the Pennsylvania State Grange in Butler October 23-26.

Other important issues confronting the delegates will be:
state-mandated tuberculosis testing of dairy cattle;
confirmation of gubernatorial appointees to State boards and commissions by the Senate; continuing efforts of various government and private associations to develop land use plans and the impact of such plans on agriculture; the need to enforce the laws concerning fertilizer and feed analysis.

More than 100 resolutions dealing with these and other vital subjects will be considered by the delegates at the policy-making sessions of the convention, according to State Grange Master J. Luther Snyder.

These resolutions originate at the local or Subordinate Grange level, Snyder pointed out. Those that are adopted by the Subordinate and Pomona Granges are sent to the State Grange for consideration at the annual convention.

In addition, Snyder explained, approved resolutions relating to Federal activities will be sent to the National Grange for consideration at that organization's convention in Denver, Co., November 13-20.

The convention will open officially at 1:30 p.m. Monday, October 23, in the Butler Area High School auditorium. Business sessions will be held there in the morning and afternoon through Thursday, October 26.

Pioneer expands corn research

DES MOINES, Iowa–New corn research stations opened near Bowling Green, Ohio and Garden City, Kans, will expand Pioneer Hi-Bred International, Inc. research in two major regions, Robert Seifert, director of corn breeding, announced here.

Designed to intensify Pioneer research in the Eastern Corn Belt and Southwestern Plains, these stations will develop improved hybrids for their respective areas and test them at widely separated sites in order to expose hybrids to varying weather and soil conditions.

In addition to yield test acreage located at the research station, Bowling Green personnel test hybrids at 12 outlying locations ranging from southern Ontario to New York, Michigan and Ohio. Garden City utilizes 10 outlying test sites in Kansas, Oklahoma and Texas.

The addition of the two stations should further the Company's goal of developing hybrids with maximum yield consistent with high reliability, according to Seifert.

The Garden City station contains 8400 nursery rows for inbred development and 7200 yield test plots. Bowling Green has 5350 nursery rows and 5650 yield test plots.

earlier.) Florence continued "If you want to tell sheep people anything, tell them to keep records." You can not go by your memory. Record keeping is essential" she added with great conviction. "Each fleece is tagged with the animals number" Ernest said. They aslo tag their lambs as they are born to prevent any confusion.

Ernest said their Finn-Rambouillet fleeces have been averaging six to seven pounds, Romney fleeces average 14 pounds, and their Lincoln produces about 21 pounds.

The Halls are using three plans in their breeding: Finn-Rambouillet rams on Finn-Rambouillet ewes, Dorset rams on black ewes (to establish a Dorset sired line), and the introduction of black rams on various white wool breeds "to see the results" they said.

Two years ago, during spring shearing, the Halls opened up the top half of their spacious barn inviting spinners and anyone interested to their "Open Barn" weekend. Spinners now come in advance to reserve fleeces, so they can spin them as they are sheared that weekend. Many spinners reserve fleeces from the same animal each year. Over the two day period, the Halls had about 250 visitors at their shearing and spinning weekend.

Florence is presently a regional director for the newly formed Natural Colored Wool Growers Association. She said flocks will be inspected and registered for the next 3-5 years. Individual animals will be registered if they have at least five generations of pure black.

The standards of the association are designed to educate anyone interested in the attributues of colored and white wool, along with the different uses. They plan to establish a wide gene pool from different breed lines to accomomdate the needs of spinners and weavers, nation-wide.

The Halls tell me that Maryland State Fair has proposed a Natural Colored Wool show for 1979.

My next question shot off sparks from Florence. I asked if colored wool and spinning was just a fad. "Definitely not!" she said, "it is a rebirth of an old art. The younger people are very much into it. They are so sick of polyester, they are now buying more cotton and wool."

Ernest added "Things we think are going to be fads continue and continue. I think the same analogy can be applied to arts and crafts"

Another writer has coined the phrase, but I can not think of a better description as I leave Red Rock Farm, Ernest and Florence Hall-shepherds extraordinaire.

"Let us never forget that the cultivation of the earth is the most important labor of man.

September milk price is $11.25

ALEXANDRIA, Va. - Market Administrator Joseph D. Shine last week announced a September 1978 base milk price of $11.25 per hundredweight for the Middle Atlantic Marketing Order and an excess milk price of $9.91. The weighted average September price is $11.15 and the butterfat differential for the month is 13.3 cents. The September base milk price is up 25 cents from August and is 69 cents above the September 1977 base price. This is the second consecutive monthly increase of 25 cents in the base price. The gross value of all producer milk was $47.9 million. Deductions for the Advertising and Promotion Fund totaled $299,800 in September. Order No. 4 prices are announced for 3.5 per cent milk f.o.b. plant location within 55 miles of Philadelphia and also within 75 miles from the nearer of Washington, D.C. or Baltimore. There is a 6-cent direct-delivery differential applicable to producer milk received at plants located within 55 miles of Philadelphia.

Shine reported that September producer milk receipts totaled 428.3 million pounds, a drop of 0.5 per cent from the previous month, on a daily average basis. The total number of producers reported was 7,424, an increase of 105 from August. The average daily delivery per producer was 1,923 pounds, down from 1,960 in August and below the 1,925 average of a year ago. Class I producer milk accounted for 56.59 per cent of total September producer deliveries compared to 51.37 per cent in August and 61.10 per cent last September. Base milk accounted for 93.09 per cent of total September production compared to 93.06 per cent the previous month and 90.83 per cent a year earlier.

Middle Atlantic Order pool handlers reported Class I in-area milk disposition of 7.1 million pounds per day during September, a seasonal increase of 11.2 per cent from August, after adjustment for variation in calendar composition.

Free building plans available for farmers, gardeners, pets

NEWARK, Del.–Planning to build a garden storage shed? A barn for your horse? Or how about a rabbit hutch or doghouse?

Free building plans for farm and garden structure are available from the Delaware Cooperative Extension Service, according to Delaware Extension agricultural engineer Ernest W. Walpole. These are working designs, he says, complete enough to turn over to a contractor or to use yourself if you are handy at construction projects.

Two different plans are offered for horse barns: Plan 6275, with gable roof; or plan 6285, with gambrel roof.

Plan 6255 explains how to build a milkhouse and milking barn for ten goats.

Two other plans may be of interest to farmers: Plan 6272 shows how to build a movable headgate; plan 6282 gives directions for building a manure storage and settling basin.

If you need extra space to accommodate your gardening paraphernalia, ask for plan 6283 a lawn tool storage shed; or 6284 a larger outdoor garden storage shed.

To build a new home for your pets, ask for plan 6277, a rabbit hutch; or plan 6278; a doghouse.

The plans were developed by the USDA's plan service. To obtain copies, contact Walpole at the University of Delaware (302-738-2468) or call your county agent. Please request plans by number.

Land resource map available

UNIVERSITY PARK – Locations and descriptions of 153 soil groups of Pennsylvania are available at an educational, non-profit cost of $3.00 in the Land Resources Map of the Commonwealth, published by the Agricultural Experiment Station at The Pennsylvania State University.

Presenting land resources in graphic form, the map is unlike anything published previously for Pennsylvania. It brings together factors of soil depth, drainage, available moisture, and productive capacities of soils.

The map has already been used widely by industrial and community planners, Penn State officials report. High school and college teachers find it helpful in studying earth sciences. It was developed by Howard W. Higbee, professor emeritus of soil science, who considers it vital for soil and water resource managers.

Multiple patterns and colors are used to portray the 153 soil groups–coded and symbolized for identification. Each soil unit or group is evaluated by 16 characteristics. The more important characteristics are depth soil drainage environment, geological source of soil material, available moisture, plant rooting zones, and dominant crop production.

Copies are available for the $3.00, plus 18 cents state sales tax, from Land Resources Map, Box 6000, University Park, Pa. 16802. Make check or money order payable to The Pennsylvania State University. Allow at least two weeks for delivery. The map may also be purchased directly in room 232 of the Agricultural Administration Building at University Park. The office is open from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m., Monday through Friday, except holidays.

Rabies cases reported

HARRISBURG - Nine rabies cases, all bats, were reported in the Commonwealth during September, according to the Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture's Bureau of Animal Industry.

One of the cases involved human exposure when a young girl was bitten by a bat in Emmaus, Lehigh County. She has been undergoing rabies treatment.

One rabies case was reported in each of eight other counties: Allegheny, Blair, Butler, Bucks, Delaware, Luzerne, Northumberland and Westmoreland.

So far this year 17 rabies cases have been diagnosed positive in Pennsylvania, all involving bats.

WHAT'S NEW

HEATING ELEMENT

New TroJan "Pipe-N-Hot (TM)" heating element is designed to replace old-fashioned heat tapes to keep plastic or metal livestock water supply lines ice-free.

The new unit includes durable stainless steel springs for easy installation on ½-inch to 1-inch piping or rubber hose. Installed on any new or existing watering equipment supply line, the TroJan heating element provides longer life and lower energy consumption than heat tapes. For greatest energy efficiency, the unit should be wired through existing thermostats.

For more information, write: TroJan Specialized Livestock Equipment, 120 South Main, Conrad, Iowa U.S.A. 50621.

THE NEW HIGH OCTANE PERFORMANCE TEAM

Approximately three years ago Ralston Purina released revolutionary new growing and finishing rations called High Octane Hog Chows. They were based on several major nutrition discoveries by Purina Swine Research.

Today, you can take advantage of the High Octane breakthrough from the very moment pigs are farrowed . . . a lactation ration . . . a pre-starter ration . . . a starter ration, and the already well-established growing and finishing Hog Chows.

So now you can go all the way with Purina High Octane Chows. Four feed products known as . . . The High Octane Performance Team.

	WHAT THEY NEED	WHAT WE PROVIDE
FARROWING CHOW® easier, safer farrowing	FARROWING ■ Laxative feed for easy, safe farrowing. ■ Appetite satisfaction. ■ Medication to reduce scours-causing organisms. ■ Low-energy, bulky ration to reduce incidence of MMA.	FARROWING ■ Special laxative ingredients to prevent constipation ■ Palatable formula to satisfy appetite. ■ Medication with high activity against scours-causing salmonella types of organisms. ■ Low-energy, bulky, pelleted formula.
HIGH OCTANE® LACTATION CHOW® more milk, stronger sows	LACTATION ■ Help in producing lots of better-quality milk, even in hot weather. ■ Sufficient nourishment to wean heavier litters without excessive sow weight losses. ■ High nutrient levels which prevent sows from robbing their muscle tissues and bones to make milk.	LACTATION ■ High nutrient density to support production of superior quality and quantity of milk. ■ Correct balance of energy, amino acids, vitamins and minerals needed to wean heavier litters. ■ Necessary nourishment needed to prevent body-robbing and excessive weight losses.
HIGH OCTANE® BABY PIG CHOW® starts 'em right	NEWBORN PIGS ■ High palatability. ■ Excellent digestibility. ■ Correct ingredients needed to supplement sow's milk and promote fast, early growth. ■ High nutrient concentration to accommodate the pig's small stomach.	NEWBORN PIGS ■ Attractive aroma and great taste appeal, specially packaged to seal in freshness. ■ Ingredients specifically chosen for easy digestibility...combined into a small particle size. ■ Proper balance of nutrients needed to promote fast, early growth while nursing. ■ High nutrient density formula designed to ensure every ounce gives pigs a real boost.
HIGH OCTANE® PIG STARTENA® you can see the difference	15 to 50 LBS. ■ Good palatability. ■ High digestibility. ■ Plenty of nutritional power. ■ Help in fighting disease and stress.	15 to 50 LBS. ■ Special ingredients selected for tastiness and good aroma combined with "ett" form for easy eating. ■ High biological availability of nutrients for easy digestibility. ■ High nutrient density balance of energy, amino acids, vitamins and minerals needed for improved growth and reduced conversion. ■ High level antibacterial drug to reduce effects of stress and help prevent disease.
